African Situation Is Calming

Troops Are Sent, Nyerere Is Safe

LONDON (AP) — Britain rushed nearly 2,000 troops and an aircraft carrier to Tanganyika's borders today but the situation in the new African nation appeared to be calming following an army mutiny.

Will Speak Later

A brief Associated Press dispatch from Dar es Salaam, the Tanganyikan capital, said a government information officer had announced that President Julius Nyerere was safe and would broadcast to the nation today.

Nyerere was reported at his official residence in Dar es Salaam.

Diplomatic reports trickling into London said the Tanganyikan capital was calm but under military curfew and the rebellious 1st Battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, apparently had taken over from the police.

14 Killed, 120 Injured

The reports said at least 14 persons were killed and 120 injured in Monday's mutiny, triggered by resentment over low pay and delay in replacing British officers commanding military forces of the two-year-old commonwealth nation.

No white casualties were mentioned, and the victims were all believed to be African or Asian. Many were believed to be Indian owners of shops and bazaars that were looted during the disorders.

The British Broadcasting Corporation said in its 7 a.m. broadcast that all was reported quiet during the night in Dar es Salaam.

All Yanks Safe

The U.S. State Department said all Americans in Tanganyika—estimated at about 1,300—were reported safe. They include 165 U.S. government employes working in the embassy, the U.S. Information Service and the Peace Corps.

The mutiny, coming only a week after the leftist coup on the nearby island of Zanzibar, brought quick British action to protect the 5,000 British citizens in Tanganyika.

The mutiny apparently succeeded in placing an African in over-all command of the Tanganyika army.

Dar es Salaam Radio said Lt. Elisha Kavana took command, presumably replacing Brig. Patrick Sholto-Douglas, senior British officer of the contingent which has been training and commanding the native force.

Whipping Order Holds

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A Delaware judge has refused to set aside the whipping he ordered for Talmadge R. Balser, 41, and said he has been criticized for reducing the number of lashes.

Balser was sentenced to 25 years and 20 lashes, but Superior Judge Stewart R. Lynch reduced the penalty two weeks ago to 15 years and 10 lashes.

Judge Lynch denied defense attorney Edward W. Schall's motion to set aside or reduce the sentence Monday.

Balser was convicted on robbery charges.

Schall said he would appeal and ask a stay of the lashing, scheduled for Jan. 28.

Seek Flood Plan Funds

List Rondout for Additional $100,000

Another $100,000 appropriation for preconstruction planning on the Rosendale Flood Control Project was on the list of proposals totaling $17,784,000 announced today by President Johnson for the year starting next July 1.

The proposals reported by the Associated Press today include proposed appropriations for navigation, flood control, power reclamation, water storage and beach erosion projects of the Army engineers and the Reclamation Bureau in New York State.

$200,000 Needed

A total of $200,000, it was estimated would be required for preconstruction planning for the project. The first $100,000 was approved in December when President Johnson signed the Senate Bill. At that time it was reported that funds would be available 30 days after President Johnson signs the bill. The House bill was approved November 19.

In earlier discussions on the project, it had been estimated that the work at Rosendale would cost approximately $2,409,000.

The project involves Rondout Creek between LeFever Falls and Route 32 bridge. It would eliminate the north channel around Ackerman Island and would widen and deepen the south channel, eliminate the canal at the site of the gorge, lower the lips of LeFever Falls and straighten out the creek between the Route 32 bridge and the Thruway bridge.

In the village the plans call for raising a section of Main Street to the level of Route 32.

Ellenville Project Missing

No mention was made in this recent proposal of plans for the construction of local protection works on the Beer Kill, Fantine Kill and North Gully projects, all at Ellenville.

In testimony before the House on the Rosendale project, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, (R) representing the 28th Congressional District said the frequent flooding of the area has brought about average annual damages on Rondout Creek of $247,000. He said that at Rosendale, improvement would be made on Rondout Creek by channel excavation, floodwall and levee construction, ponding areas, a pump station, utility and road changes and drainage structures.

Included in the $17,784,000 proposal for New York are the following:

Construction; Buffalo harbor-outer harbor $1,406,000; Buttermilk channel $1,700,000; Great Lakes-Hudson River waterway $400,000; Hudson River, N.Y. City to Albany, 32-foot channel $3,200,000; Ithaca $800,000;

High Winds Cause Damage, Mishaps On Slippery Roads

High winds with gusts in excess of 50 miles an hour, which came on the heels of a downpour that left almost an inch rainfall in the area, felled trees and knocked down power wires Monday night and early today.

At least two accidents were partially attributed to the unusual wet and foggy conditions, while the night-long gusts knocked out power lines in three northern Ulster areas. One resident reported the high winds caved in her two-car garage.

John C. Ohman, 67, of Woodstock RD 1, was injured about 10:45 p. m. when his car left John Joy Road about two miles north of Route 28. He was taken to Kingston Hospital where he was treated for cuts to the face and nose.

Trooper Charles Bundschuh, Lake Katrine substation, said Ohman was driving north on John Joy Road when his car skidded on the wet pavement, ran off the road and struck a bridge railing.

Car, Train Mishap

Two teenagers escaped injury when they jumped from a car they were in just before it was struck by a freight train at a New York Central Railroad crossing four-tenths of a mile north of Cedar Cliff Road in the Town of Marlboro.

Investigator James Kaljan, BCI, and Trooper Jerry Zappolo said Frederick Farrell, 18, of 612 South Street, Newburgh, was driving a 1962 convertible owned by Angelo Madonia, of 27 Fifth Avenue, Newburgh, with

Horticultural Show to Open Here Jan. 28

The annual three-day meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society will be held in the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue, January 28, 29 and 30, according to Thomas E. LaMont, secretary. This will include a trade show with 70 exhibitors showing the latest in equipment, packages and spray material.

The speaking program will feature Jack Batjer, pomologist from Wenatchee, Wash., telling about, New Developments in the Northwest and Picking Apples at the Optimum Maturity. Other features of the program will be Willard Hertz, vice-president of the Ford Foundation speaking on Food Needs of Other Countries and What the Ford Foundation Is Doing About It, and Edward Smith of the Geneva Experiment Station on, Pesticides and People."

Other Subjects

Other subjects to be covered at the 3-day meeting are, results and cost of 10 spray programs, experience of growers using cost cutting programs, how to control mites, important changes in the price of apples, returns for different apple varieties and varieties planted in New York and other areas, improving red color on apples, how to prevent frost damage, what the National Apple Institute is doing, what Washington State is doing to promote apples in our area, and what we know about root stocks and spur types.

Other topics are the latest information on C. A. Storage in New York and the Northwest, how to control weeds and grass, results of soil and leaf analysis, how good is our spray coverage, and the new Hudson Valley Research Lab.

The three-day eastern meeting will get underway at the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue, Tuesday, Jan. 28, at 10 a. m. with Louis Brankamp of

Fair at Flushing May Extend Through 1967

Rushing Things Toward Opening Date April 22; 14 Days Needed to See It

A spokesman for the billion-dollar 1964-65 World's Fair which is scheduled to start April 22 at Flushing, L. I., said Monday night that he expected the Fair would extend through 1966 and possibly, 1967.

George H. Merritt, member of the Speakers Bureau of the world exposition, made the prediction at the annual banquet of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in the Governor Clinton Hotel. An estimated 165 Chamber members and guests attended.

In an interview after his program, which consisted of film slides and the speaker's accompanying descriptions, Merritt told The Freeman that:

1. South American nations for the most part — including Panama — were not participating in the Fair.

2. Robert Moses, head of The Fair Corporation and often criticized for his "dictatorial" methods, is in Merritt's estimation a "take charge man" and "one who gets things done."

Merritt said that failure of the Central and South American nations to participate in this, the world's first billion dollar Fair, is attributed to two reasons: lack of money and current international tensions including the current Panamanian-American differences over operation of the Panama Canal.

After $23 Million

Moses, the speaker said, was a highly-respected man in spite of criticism of his methods. Only yesterday the "boss man" of The Fair Corporation indicated that he wanted to hang on to about $23 million net revenue from the Fair and use it as he sees fit for the "restoration and improvement" of Flushing Meadows Park instead of turning the revenue over to the city to use for the same purpose.

Extension of the Fair to a two or three-year period, Merritt said, depended upon public response. However, he said, he believed that the fair was of such great proportion and varied interests that it would attract millions of viewers whom, he said, could very well demand extension of the Fair.

"I'm sure the Fair will attract a half-million a day," Merritt told The Freeman. He said that The Fair would realize an estimated $150 million spending potential by the public in tourist trade as well as expenditures at the Fair. Of these, he said, some $500-$600 million in revenues would go to New York City, itself.

To Stress Religion

Emphasis on the world exposition would not only be on the space age, Merritt said, but on religion as well. He cited as examples the Vatican Pavilion which will house the world famous Pieta by Michaelangelo, considered to be the greatest statue in history; the Protestant exhibit and those of the Church of Latter Day Saints and Christian Science denomination.

Merritt's colorful slides, accompanied by comments spiked with humor, described the transportation facilities to the Fair site by air, car and boat. The Fair itself, with millions of lights, the reflection of which will be visible for more than 100 miles, was described as a "city within a city."

Merritt said that the Fair is not recognized by the International Exposition of World's

CC Vital: Schuehler

Introduces Officers, Asks More Action

John F. Schuehler, incoming president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, called for "increased membership interest and participation" during 1964, to make the Kingston area "a better place in which to live and do business."

Speaking before the annual banquet of the Chamber in the Governor Clinton, Schuehler said in part:

"I am pleased to have the opportunity at this time to introduce the new directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Introduces Directors

"Since the last annual meeting of our Chamber, two men have been elected to fill vacancies created by the death of two directors: Dr. Joseph Conrad, orthopedic surgeon, who was elected for a term of one year to fill the unexpired term of the late Howard A. Lewis, and Richard H. Whittington, manager of Kingston's J. C. Penney Store, elected to fill the unexpired terms of the late James A. Hanstein. Dick has previously served as a director of the Chamber.

"The newly-elected directors this year, for a term of three years, are Raymond W. Garraghan, president of the Garraghan Poli Co. and Kingston Garden Center. Ray, who previously served as a director, has not only been elected a director but also a vice president of the Chamber. Richard M. Kalish is president of the Kingston-Thomson Laundries. Dick is also present president of the Kingston Hospital Board of Trustees and has previously served as a director.

"Joseph D. Scholar Jr., who is associated with his father in the appliance business under the name of Joseph D. Scholar and Son. Joe is also currently serving as president of the Lions Club; John R. Shults Jr., vice president of Canfield Supply Co.; Robert L. Strickland, engineer associated with Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.; Harry N. Thayer, president of Skylark Corporation, owners and operators of radio station WGHQ and better known as 'editor of the air.'

"And last but not least, Walter G. Williams, owner and operator of Williams Lake Resort Hotel at Rosendale.

Officers Take Bow

Schuehler introduced the other 1964 officers in addition to Garraghan. They include: Vice Presidents Harry Kapreilian, president and treasurer of the Charles Ramsey Corp. and Wright Gage Inc.; George Svirsky of United Cut Rate Pharmacy and currently president of the Uptown Business Mens Association; Treasurer Clifford A. Henze, executive vice president and treasurer of the Kingston Savings Bank.

Schuehler said, "There is one more man whom I would like to recognize and in my opinion Kingston as a community is very fortunate in having him as a resident — and to me, as president of the Chamber — he is a necessity. I am of course referring to Al Kurdt, manager of

Report on 1963 Chamber Projects Given by Manager

Recent accomplishments in the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce projects list, were cited at Monday's annual Chamber banquet by Manager Albert Kurdt.

Kurdt took the floor for Christus J. Larios, who was unable to be present. Larios in turn, was scheduled to give the 1963 report for immediate past President Harry Rigby Jr., who was out of town.

Kurdt, reading from Larios' notes, singled out Rigby's service to the Chamber and to the community. He said "His popularity, loyalty and public service are shown by the fact that he was director of the Chamber of Commerce by membership election in 14 of the past 18 years, serving as president in 1963."

Kurdt pointed out in Rigby's report that the Chamber's "program and activities result from the voluntary effort of hundreds of men and women." He said that while the Chamber was "not an official body," its effectiveness as a working organization is "only as good as the soundness of the things worked for and supported."

Accomplishments

The report singled out the following "outstanding accomplishments" and "major projects" completed, in progress or started in 1963:

1. Route 209 By Pass, a project suggested by the Chamber in 1956.

2. Ulster County Community College, for which an architect has been engaged.

3. Establishment of a County Planning Board.

4. Removal of the Washington Avenue Viaduct and construction of a new bridge.

5. Miss New York State Pag-

Fast Tax Cut Move Stressed

Would Sell Assets And Cut on Jobs

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called a turnabout to the long upward march of federal spending today with a cost-cutting, tax-cutting, $97.9-billion budget aimed at the nation's pockets of poverty.

Johnson sent Congress a fiscal 1965 budget message which confidently assumed the "earliest possible" tax reduction. He termed it a "giant step toward. . .a balanced budget in a full-employment, full-prosperity economy."

The budget would carve $1.3 billion and 27,000 civilians from the Defense Department. He proposed a $54-billion national defense effort, which includes along with actual military expenditures such costs as civil defense, stockpiling and atomic weapons procurement.

Other Cuts

Other cuts would hit the Agriculture Department, the Post Office, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Veterans Administration.

The new fiscal blueprint also would thin slightly the over-all ranks of federal jobholders, sell off a billion-dollar batch of government assets and cut the deficit in half—from $10 billion this year to $4.9 billion in the federal year starting July 1.

At year's end, June 30, 1965, the national debt will have increased from $311.8 billion to $317 billion, he estimated.

Nevertheless it is a "compassionate" budget, Johnson said, providing history's heaviest spending for "our nation's most important resource — its people." He asked more than $1 billion for a package attack on the roots of misery.

Explains His Aims

Johnson told the legislators he was guided, in this first major economic task of his presidency, by the principle that "an austere budget need not be and should not be a standstill budget," and explained:

"When vigorous pruning of old programs and procedures releases the funds to meet new challenges and opportunities, economy becomes the companion of progress. . .

"A government that is strong, a government that is solvent, a government that is compassionate is the kind of government that endures."

He pledged that, despite military and nuclear cutbacks in spending—

"This budget safeguards the peace by providing for the further strengthening of the most formidable defense establishment the world has ever known."

Predicts Income Climb

Spurred by tax cuts, national output this year will soar by nearly $40 billion to a surprising record total of about $623 billion, the President predicted, generating higher revenues despite the lower tax rates.

So federal income will climb by $4.6 billion in the coming fiscal year to $93 billion, while government spending is squeezed down by $500 million to $97.9 billion for the second budget cut in nine years.

But Johnson added a warning — an implied hint of business recession and a bigger deficit if

Lefkowitz Commends Jury Increase, Ulster County Pool Is Raised to 6,000

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz has hailed as "commendable" the action of the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court in ordering its Third Department to make changes in the selection of juries.

The order, made public Monday, will increase the number of names in the jury pool and deny jury boards the right to reject names for grand jury duty.

Lefkowitz, commenting on the order at a press conference Monday, said:

"As a law-enforcement officer I think the changes are salutary. Anything better than you had before is always commendable."

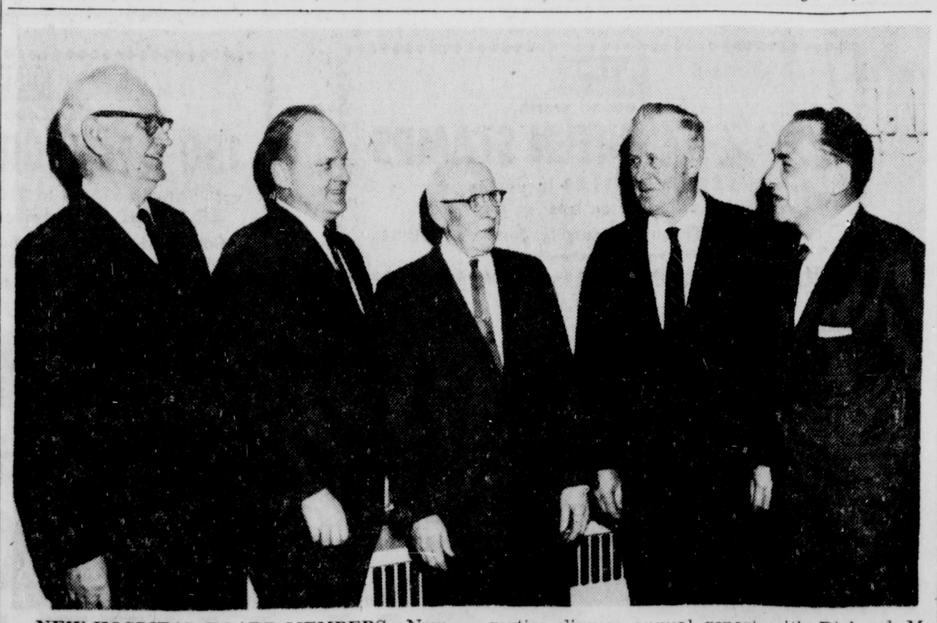

Under the changes, effective Feb. 1, 11 counties will be affected by the increase in the size of the jury pool, from which regular and grand juries are drafted.

The jury pool supplies potential jurors. From this pool, jury boards draw names of persons to be placed on a master list for grand juries. The grand jurors themselves are then picked from this list.

Under the new rules, the names for the master list will be picked by lot, leaving no opportunity for jury boards to reject certain names.

The counties in the department, with changes, if any, in jury pools and grand jury master lists:

Columbia, 1,500, increased to 3,000; Greene, 1,500 and master list of 150 (no change); Rensselaer, 5,000, increased to 8,000; Sullivan, 2,500, increased to 4,000; Schoharie, no change; Ulster, 3,000, increased to 6,000; Fulton, 2,000, increased to 5,000; Montgomery, no change; St. Lawrence, 5,000, increased to 6,000, and master list of 300, increased to 500; Saratoga, 4,000, increased to 6,000; Schenectady, 5,000, increased to 7,500; Warren, 2,000, increased to 5,000; Washington, 5,000, new, not previously affected; Broome, 5,000, increased to 8,000; Chemung, no change; and Madison, no change.

Kingston Hospital Elects Officers; Services Listed

Richard M. Kalish was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Kingston Hospital at the annual meeting Monday afternoon. Kalish has held the post since January, 1960.

Also re-elected were Amos R. Newcombe, treasurer, and Ellis H. Griffith, secretary.

Herbert L. Shultz was elected vice president to succeed Richard J. Whalen, who was not eligible for re-election to the board of trustees under a by-law provision limiting a trustee's consecutive service to two three-year terms.

Other trustees going off the Board this year were Ernest M. Heppner, Jay A. LeFevre and Abraham Streifer.

Elected to take their places were F. A. Benson, Woodstock; Edward C. Byman, Rolling Meadows; Arthur B. Ewig, Kingston; and Harold L. Wood, New Paltz, all for three year terms. Elected to fill an unexpired term of one year was John Paul Remensnyder of Saugerties.

Re-elected to three-year terms as trustees were N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston and Terry Staples of Malden-on-Hudson.

The Kingston Hospital set new records of performance in almost every service during 1963, Kalish revealed in his annual report.

A total of 7,207 persons were

"I'm sure the Fair will attract a half-million a day," Merritt told The Freeman. He said that The Fair would realize an estimated $150 million spending potential by the public in tourist trade as well as expenditures at the Fair. Of these, he said, some $500-$600 million in revenues would go to New York City, itself.

To Stress Religion

Emphasis on the world exposition would not only be on the space age, Merritt said, but on religion as well. He cited as examples the Vatican Pavilion which will house the world famous Pieta by Michaelangelo, considered to be the greatest statue in history; the Protestant exhibit and those of the Church of Latter Day Saints and Christian Science denomination.

Merritt's colorful slides, accompanied by comments spiked with humor, described the transportation facilities to the Fair site by air, car and boat. The Fair itself, with millions of lights, the reflection of which will be visible for more than 100 miles, was described as a "city within a city."

Merritt said that the Fair is not recognized by the International Exposition of World's

Introduces Officers, Asks More Action

John F. Schuehler, incoming president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, called for "increased membership interest and participation" during 1964, to make the Kingston area "a better place in which to live and do business."

Speaking before the annual banquet of the Chamber in the Governor Clinton, Schuehler said in part:

"I am pleased to have the opportunity at this time to introduce the new directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Introduces Directors

"Since the last annual meeting of our Chamber, two men have been elected to fill vacancies created by the death of two directors: Dr. Joseph Conrad, orthopedic surgeon, who was elected for a term of one year to fill the unexpired term of the late Howard A. Lewis, and Richard H. Whittington, manager of Kingston's J. C. Penney Store, elected to fill the unexpired terms of the late James A. Hanstein. Dick has previously served as a director of the Chamber.

"The newly-elected directors this year, for a term of three years, are Raymond W. Garraghan, president of the Garraghan Poli Co. and Kingston Garden Center. Ray, who previously served as a director, has not only been elected a director but also a vice president of the Chamber. Richard M. Kalish is president of the Kingston-Thomson Laundries. Dick is also present president of the Kingston Hospital Board of Trustees and has previously served as a director.

"Joseph D. Scholar Jr., who is associated with his father in the appliance business under the name of Joseph D. Scholar and Son. Joe is also currently serving as president of the Lions Club; John R. Shults Jr., vice president of Canfield Supply Co.; Robert L. Strickland, engineer associated with Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.; Harry N. Thayer, president of Skylark Corporation, owners and operators of radio station WGHQ and better known as 'editor of the air.'

"And last but not least, Walter G. Williams, owner and operator of Williams Lake Resort Hotel at Rosendale.

Officers Take Bow

Schuehler introduced the other 1964 officers in addition to Garraghan. They include: Vice Presidents Harry Kapreilian, president and treasurer of the Charles Ramsey Corp. and Wright Gage Inc.; George Svirsky of United Cut Rate Pharmacy and currently president of the Uptown Business Mens Association; Treasurer Clifford A. Henze, executive vice president and treasurer of the Kingston Savings Bank.

Schuehler said, "There is one more man whom I would like to recognize and in my opinion Kingston as a community is very fortunate in having him as a resident — and to me, as president of the Chamber — he is a necessity. I am of course referring to Al Kurdt, manager of

Report on 1963 Chamber Projects Given by Manager

Recent accomplishments in the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce projects list, were cited at Monday's annual Chamber banquet by Manager Albert Kurdt.

Kurdt took the floor for Christus J. Larios, who was unable to be present. Larios in turn, was scheduled to give the 1963 report for immediate past President Harry Rigby Jr., who was out of town.

Kurdt, reading from Larios' notes, singled out Rigby's service to the Chamber and to the community. He said "His popularity, loyalty and public service are shown by the fact that he was director of the Chamber of Commerce by membership election in 14 of the past 18 years, serving as president in 1963."

Kurdt pointed out in Rigby's report that the Chamber's "program and activities result from the voluntary effort of hundreds of men and women." He said that while the Chamber was "not an official body," its effectiveness as a working organization is "only as good as the soundness of the things worked for and supported."

Accomplishments

The report singled out the following "outstanding accomplishments" and "major projects" completed, in progress or started in 1963:

1. Route 209 By Pass, a project suggested by the Chamber in 1956.

2. Ulster County Community College, for which an architect has been engaged.

3. Establishment of a County Planning Board.

4. Removal of the Washington Avenue Viaduct and construction of a new bridge.

5. Miss New York State Pag-

Fast Tax Cut Move Stressed

Would Sell Assets And Cut on Jobs

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called a turnabout to the long upward march of federal spending today with a cost-cutting, tax-cutting, $97.9-billion budget aimed at the nation's pockets of poverty.

Johnson sent Congress a fiscal 1965 budget message which confidently assumed the "earliest possible" tax reduction. He termed it a "giant step toward. . .a balanced budget in a full-employment, full-prosperity economy."

The budget would carve $1.3 billion and 27,000 civilians from the Defense Department. He proposed a $54-billion national defense effort, which includes along with actual military expenditures such costs as civil defense, stockpiling and atomic weapons procurement.

Other Cuts

Other cuts would hit the Agriculture Department, the Post Office, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Veterans Administration.

The new fiscal blueprint also would thin slightly the over-all ranks of federal jobholders, sell off a billion-dollar batch of government assets and cut the deficit in half—from $10 billion this year to $4.9 billion in the federal year starting July 1.

At year's end, June 30, 1965, the national debt will have increased from $311.8 billion to $317 billion, he estimated.

Nevertheless it is a "compassionate" budget, Johnson said, providing history's heaviest spending for "our nation's most important resource — its people." He asked more than $1 billion for a package attack on the roots of misery.

Explains His Aims

Johnson told the legislators he was guided, in this first major economic task of his presidency, by the principle that "an austere budget need not be and should not be a standstill budget," and explained:

"When vigorous pruning of old programs and procedures releases the funds to meet new challenges and opportunities, economy becomes the companion of progress. . .

"A government that is strong, a government that is solvent, a government that is compassionate is the kind of government that endures."

He pledged that, despite military and nuclear cutbacks in spending—

"This budget safeguards the peace by providing for the further strengthening of the most formidable defense establishment the world has ever known."

Predicts Income Climb

Spurred by tax cuts, national output this year will soar by nearly $40 billion to a surprising record total of about $623 billion, the President predicted, generating higher revenues despite the lower tax rates.

So federal income will climb by $4.6 billion in the coming fiscal year to $93 billion, while government spending is squeezed down by $500 million to $97.9 billion for the second budget cut in nine years.

But Johnson added a warning — an implied hint of business recession and a bigger deficit if

Lefkowitz Commends Jury Increase, Ulster County Pool Is Raised to 6,000

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz has hailed as "commendable" the action of the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court in ordering its Third Department to make changes in the selection of juries.

The order, made public Monday, will increase the number of names in the jury pool and deny jury boards the right to reject names for grand jury duty.

Lefkowitz, commenting on the order at a press conference Monday, said:

"As a law-enforcement officer I think the changes are salutary. Anything better than you had before is always commendable."

Under the changes, effective Feb. 1, 11 counties will be affected by the increase in the size of the jury pool, from which regular and grand juries are drafted.

The jury pool supplies potential jurors. From this pool, jury boards draw names of persons to be placed on a master list for grand juries. The grand jurors themselves are then picked from this list.

Under the new rules, the names for the master list will be picked by lot, leaving no opportunity for jury boards to reject certain names.

The counties in the department, with changes, if any, in jury pools and grand jury master lists:

Columbia, 1,500, increased to 3,000; Greene, 1,500 and master list of 150 (no change); Rensselaer, 5,000, increased to 8,000; Sullivan, 2,500, increased to 4,000; Schoharie, no change; Ulster, 3,000, increased to 6,000; Fulton, 2,000, increased to 5,000; Montgomery, no change; St. Lawrence, 5,000, increased to 6,000, and master list of 300, increased to 500; Saratoga, 4,000, increased to 6,000; Schenectady, 5,000, increased to 7,500; Warren, 2,000, increased to 5,000; Washington, 5,000, new, not previously affected; Broome, 5,000, increased to 8,000; Chemung, no change; and Madison, no change.

NEW HOSPITAL BOARD MEMBERS—New members of the Kingston Hospital Board of Trustees, F. A. Benson of Woodstock; Edward C. Byman of Rolling Meadows; Harold L. Wood of New Paltz and John P. Kingston Hospital Elects Officers; Services Listed

Richard M. Kalish was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Kingston Hospital at the annual meeting Monday afternoon. Kalish has held the post since January, 1960.

Also re-elected were Amos R. Newcombe, treasurer, and Ellis H. Griffith, secretary.

Herbert L. Shultz was elected vice president to succeed Richard J. Whalen, who was not eligible for re-election to the board of trustees under a by-law provision limiting a trustee's consecutive service to two three-year terms.

Other trustees going off the Board this year were Ernest M. Heppner, Jay A. LeFevre and Abraham Streifer.

Elected to take their places were F. A. Benson, Woodstock; Edward C. Byman, Rolling Meadows; Arthur B. Ewig, Kingston; and Harold L. Wood, New Paltz, all for three year terms. Elected to fill an unexpired term of one year was John Paul Remensnyder of Saugerties.

Re-elected to three-year terms as trustees were N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston and Terry Staples of Malden-on-Hudson.

The Kingston Hospital set new records of performance in almost every service during 1963, Kalish revealed in his annual report.

Heart Campaign Activity Starts At 124 Green St.

Within the offices of the Heart Chapter of Ulster County, 124 Green Street, there's a flurry of activity and an underlying air of excitement as the scene is set for the 1964 Heart Fund Drive.

The curtain rises this week with the announcement that Monroe J. Rathbone, Standard Oil Executive, has been named national chairman of this annual nationwide campaign to support the research, education and community service programs of the Association, its affiliates and chapters, which begins with the opening of Heart Month, Feb. 1 and continues through Feb. 29.

Rathbone, board chairman and chief executive officer of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was influenced by two recent reports when he made his decision to participate as a volunteer worker in the Heart Fund drive. One was a survey of business firms by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, which shows that more than half of their employes who died during previous years succumbed to cardiovascular diseases.

The second report was the disclosure, earlier this year, that the death rate from heart diseases dropped six per cent among family breadwinners . . . men between the ages of 45 and 64 . . . between the years 1950 and 1960. The Heart Association's program to combat heart and blood vessel diseases went into high gear at the start of that period!

"While it is apparent that the problem of cardiovascular diseases is far from solved," continued Rathbone," the gains thus far show that our Heart Fund Contributions over the years have achieved magnificent results. Our accelerated support of heart scientists must certainly result in even greater advances against heart diseases in future years," he concluded.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 21, 1964. There are 345 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1892, the United States demanded an apology, certain reparations and indemnities from the Chilean government for an assault on U.S. sailors in the streets of Valparaiso. Goodwill and cool-headedness on both sides quickly settled an international crisis which might have led to war.

On this date:

In 1793, King Louis XVI of France was beheaded.

In 1928, death came to the builder of the Panama Canal, Maj. Gen. George Goethals.

In 1945, Japanese suicide planes bombed the U.S. aircraft carrier Ticonderoga during World War II, killing 144 and injuring 193 crewmen.

In 1949, Dean Acheson was sworn in as U.S. secretary of state succeeding Gen. George C. Marshall who resigned.

Ten years ago — America's first atomic submarine — the USS Nautilus—was launched at Groton, Conn.

Five years ago—Pioneer motion picture producer Cecil B. Demille died in Hollywood at the age of 77.

D. A. R. Statement

Editor, The Freeman

On January 8, 1964 an article concerning the latest activities of "Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution" was printed in your newspaper. The article stated that Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller, "is reported to have given a detailed account of these plans," these plans, "being the abandonment of the Military and Naval Academies and complete disarmament of the American Nation in the name of Peace." Mrs. Swartzmiller also told members that "plans" were being made to "surrender American Sovereignty to the jurisdiction of a World Court and a United Nations Force."

We are now asking Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller to present "these plans" to the public as well as to the United States government for I am sure they would like to know of "these plans." We also ask Mrs. Swartzmiller to make public where "these plans" originated from. It is also very interesting to note that thus far "these plans" have completely eluded the news media, D. A. R. being the first ones to bring it to the public.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Explanation Given About Forms For Filing Income Taxes for 1963

EDITOR'S NOTE—For those who use the familiar form 1040 in filing a tax return on 1963 income, there are a number of provisions covering various types of income. Here, in the second of five special articles, is an explanation of income tax return forms.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

Anyone can file his 1963 income tax return on form 1040. Some have to. Form 1040A is simpler, but to use it you must fit special rules.

You have no choice and must use 1040:

1. If your income was $10,000 or more.

2. If, no matter how big or little your income, you want to itemize your deductible expenses in order to claim them in full.

3. If you had more than $200 income in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

You can use 1040A only:

1. If your income was under $10,000.

2. If it was entirely in wages from which tax was withheld except for no more than $200 in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

3. And if you do not itemize your deductible non-business expenses but are willing to accept the standard deduction allowed everyone.

You must use 1040—and can't use 1040A—if you file your return as head of household or surviving spouse, were self-employed, claim credit for retirement income, are delinquent in filing your return, claim exclusion for sick pay, or paid an estimated tax in 1963.

If your income was $5,000 or more, you must figure your own tax, either on 1040 or 1040A. For this use the tax-rate schedule in the instruction sheeet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service.

About Deductions

What about those deductions for non-business expenses, like charitable contributions, when figuring your own tax?

You can:

1. Take the standard deduction mentioned above. This means you just deduct 10 per cent of your income up to a limit of $1,000, whether or not your expenses ran that high.

2. Or, if your expenses were really higher than that standard deduction allowed everyone—10 per cent of income up to a limit of $1,000—you can claim them in full but must itemize them to show you had them.

Two special notes on husbands and wives:

1. If a man and wife file separate returns and take the standard deduction, they are allowed to take 10 per cent of their income up to only $500 on each return.

2. If a man and wife file separate returns and one of them itemizes deductions, then both must itemize and both must use 1040. In such a case neither can use 1040A.

On IRS Sheet

The under-$5,000 income people, who accept the standard 10 per cent deduction without itemizing, can find their tax in the tax-table in the IRS instruction sheet.

For them the 10 per cent deduction, since all taxpayers are allowed that much, already has been allowed for in the table.

If you're in the under-$5,000 bracket, but for some reason don't want to find your tax in the table, just fill out your return and send it to your IRS collector. He'll figure it out for you.

Then he will bill you for any tax owed or send you a refund if too much tax was withheld from you in 1963.

Filing on Dividends

Anyone filing a return can exclude from his taxable income the first $50 he received as dividends from stock in domestic corporations. If you are using 1040A, just drop the first $50 from the income you report. If you are using 1040, you report the $50 on schedule B and then subtract it from total dividends.

If you and your wife hold stock jointly and file a joint return—that is, on a single return—you can exclude the first $100 in dividends you received before what's left is taxable. You can do this on 1040 or 1040A.

But if you hold stock separately and file a joint return, then each of you can exclude no more than the first $50 in dividends each of you received. You can do this on 1040 or 1040A.

People receiving dividends—in addition to excluding the first $50 or the first $100, as explained—also are allowed what is called a dividend credit.

This means you generally can deduct from your tax up to 4 per cent of the dividends you received, in addition to the $50 (or $100) you already excluded from your income.

If you can claim that 4 per cent dividend credit, you must use form 1040. There's no place on 1040A for a dividend credit.

No Feeding in Public

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Take a pigeon to lunch at your own risk in Syracuse. The bill could reach $100.

The Syracuse Common Council, committed to an all-out war on the city's bothersome pigeons, passed a law Monday that prohibits feeding the birds in public.

The law prescribes a fine of up to $100 for violators.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

FOREIGN AID: Administration forces in the Senate have claimed a victory over foreign aid critics after a spirited scrap.

The Senate passed 38-31 Monday a controversial bill authorizing $312 million in additional U.S. financing for the multilateral International Development Association which makes interest-free, 50-year loans for projects in underdeveloped areas.

It did so after defeating, 37-30, a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to send the bill back to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to be considered along with the separate mutual security program.

The bill now goes to the House.

RSVP: Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., has told congressmen they may have a battle with their conscience if they attend a party in their honor to be given by the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Edwin P. Neilan.

"Unadulterated, unmitigated brass," said Patman of the invitation from Neilan who Patman said has "slandered the Congress from coast to coast." The reception is to be next month.

Patman, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, renewed a feud with Neilan in a House speech Monday. He said that in his talks around the country Neilan has called members of Congress "confidence men," "Patronage peddlers," "gravy ladlers," "office holders squandering money to perpetuate ourselves in office," and "bag men."

Neilan said he didn't wish to reply to Patman.

14 Guards Fired At State Campus For Exam Cheating

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The commissioner of the Office of General Services (OGS) says the state has fired 14 guards at the state campus here for cheating on examinations.

General Cortland Van Rensselaer Schuyler, OGS commissioner, said Monday night the guards — including three sergeants — were dismissed after they "admitted they had cheated in connection with qualifying examinations for permanent appointment to the force."

The guards had held temporary jobs.

The dismissals came after Miss Mary Goode Krone, president of the State Civil Service Commission, announced that an investigation had been started into "alleged fraud... in connection with the examinations held for their positions."

Miss Krone said it had been determined that the guards, who had access to the Civil Service building after regular office hours, were able to enter locked rooms to obtain copies of an examination.

Mitchell Applies For Job in Bowie

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Joseph M. Mitchell, former city manager of Newburgh, N.Y., is among more than 20 applicants for the city administrator's job in Bowie.

Mitchell, a native of Chevy Chase, Md., resigned his Newburgh job last September.

His proposed welfare crackdown in Newburgh in 1961 raised a furor across the nation. Mitchell also was indicted on a bribery charge involving land re-zoning but was acquitted last April after a New York City trial.

Bowie City Administrator Allen Perkins announced last month that he was resigning his $10,500-a-year job after two years. More than 20 applications have been filed since that time. The deadline is Jan. 31.

Explanation Given About Forms For Filing Income Taxes for 1963

EDITOR'S NOTE—For those who use the familiar form 1040 in filing a tax return on 1963 income, there are a number of provisions covering various types of income. Here, in the second of five special articles, is an explanation of income tax return forms.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

Anyone can file his 1963 income tax return on form 1040. Some have to. Form 1040A is simpler, but to use it you must fit special rules.

You have no choice and must use 1040:

1. If your income was $10,000 or more.

2. If, no matter how big or little your income, you want to itemize your deductible expenses in order to claim them in full.

3. If you had more than $200 income in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

You can use 1040A only:

1. If your income was under $10,000.

2. If it was entirely in wages from which tax was withheld except for no more than $200 in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

3. And if you do not itemize your deductible non-business expenses but are willing to accept the standard deduction allowed everyone.

You must use 1040—and can't use 1040A—if you file your return as head of household or surviving spouse, were self-employed, claim credit for retirement income, are delinquent in filing your return, claim exclusion for sick pay, or paid an estimated tax in 1963.

If your income was $5,000 or more, you must figure your own tax, either on 1040 or 1040A. For this use the tax-rate schedule in the instruction sheeet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service.

About Deductions

What about those deductions for non-business expenses, like charitable contributions, when figuring your own tax?

You can:

1. Take the standard deduction mentioned above. This means you just deduct 10 per cent of your income up to a limit of $1,000, whether or not your expenses ran that high.

2. Or, if your expenses were really higher than that standard deduction allowed everyone—10 per cent of income up to a limit of $1,000—you can claim them in full but must itemize them to show you had them.

Two special notes on husbands and wives:

1. If a man and wife file separate returns and take the standard deduction, they are allowed to take 10 per cent of their income up to only $500 on each return.

2. If a man and wife file separate returns and one of them itemizes deductions, then both must itemize and both must use 1040. In such a case neither can use 1040A.

On IRS Sheet

The under-$5,000 income people, who accept the standard 10 per cent deduction without itemizing, can find their tax in the tax-table in the IRS instruction sheet.

For them the 10 per cent deduction, since all taxpayers are allowed that much, already has been allowed for in the table.

If you're in the under-$5,000 bracket, but for some reason don't want to find your tax in the table, just fill out your return and send it to your IRS collector. He'll figure it out for you.

Then he will bill you for any tax owed or send you a refund if too much tax was withheld from you in 1963.

Filing on Dividends

Anyone filing a return can exclude from his taxable income the first $50 he received as dividends from stock in domestic corporations. If you are using 1040A, just drop the first $50 from the income you report. If you are using 1040, you report the $50 on schedule B and then subtract it from total dividends.

If you and your wife hold stock jointly and file a joint return—that is, on a single return—you can exclude the first $100 in dividends you received before what's left is taxable. You can do this on 1040 or 1040A.

But if you hold stock separately and file a joint return, then each of you can exclude no more than the first $50 in dividends each of you received. You can do this on 1040 or 1040A.

People receiving dividends—in addition to excluding the first $50 or the first $100, as explained—also are allowed what is called a dividend credit.

This means you generally can deduct from your tax up to 4 per cent of the dividends you received, in addition to the $50 (or $100) you already excluded from your income.

If you can claim that 4 per cent dividend credit, you must use form 1040. There's no place on 1040A for a dividend credit.

THE LITERACY GAP

Illiteracy is in large measure a problem of the so-called backward nations. It is they that face the task of lifting great masses of their populations to the level of simple reading and writing capability.

Illiteracy is also a problem, though a less broad and urgent one, in the United States. Despite the system of universal public education in which Americans take such justifiable pride, a surprisingly large number of adults in this country cannot read and write with even minimum competence.

There is small general awareness of the problem because U. S. illiterates tend to be scattered and are thus not highly "visible"; that is, they do not come much to public attention. It is only where there are heavy concentrations of those unable to read and write that the extent of the problem can readily be seen.

One such concentration is in New York City. There authorities have begun a program to teach reading, writing and figuring to some 700,000 New Yorkers who have completed less than five years of schooling. Volunteer instructors are being trained to teach friends and neighbors basic skills that will help them to get jobs.

New York City is clearly a special case, in part because of a heavy influx of Puerto Ricans. Other large cities also have the problem in varying degree. Most smaller communities also have a soft core, so to speak, of illiterates who could learn to read and write. Taken all together, this group is shockingly large in a society that purports to educate everyone. A broad program to close up the literacy gap deserves public support.

ADVANCE KNOWLEDGE?

In civilization's long, slow climb toward the millenium "hope springs eternal." But too often it is beaten back by man's perfidy.

One week Khrushchev unctiously urges renunciation of force in territorial disputes. The next week his and Castro's stooges are agitating a revolt in Panama. And Moscow, before an inquiry even can begin, starts hurling aggression charges not against Panama but against us, ignoring the fact that Panamanians invaded our zone.

This raises questions. Did Khrushchev know in advance of planned demonstrations? Did he have his renunciation-of-force note all ready, releasing it when it best would camouflage his tools' aggression? Actually, was any territorial dispute involved? Our rights under the treaty have stood for decades. Khrushchev seems to have been reaching for a bone to pick almost before the ink was dry on his renunciation-of-force pronouncement.

RELAX; ALL IS NORMAL

If you are wondering if the stress and strain of the space age may be affecting our way of life, you can relax.

There is abundant evidence that we the people are bearing up nicely, thank you, and that things are going along pretty much as always.

In California, for instance, a rugged individualist insists on being chauffeured by an ape. Not some clown who drives like an ape, but a real ape.

In Minnesota, a group of real cool college kids have just been acclaimed cookie—or is it kookie?—champs by baking a wafer that weighed 2,300 pounds.

In California again, a determined driver was apprehended as he gunned his small foreign car down a runway at the Los Angeles airport in a valiant effort to keep up with a jet airliner which was taking off. The motorist was on his way home from a party and mistook the runway for a freeway. It could happen to anyone.

A society which can keep its head in times like these is here to stay. We can look forward to what's ahead with high hope and renewed confidence.

Chewing gum sales rise following the government report on smoking. For the fellow trying to quit cigarettes, these are sticky times.

'These Days'

ALL THIS, AND "BALANCE" TOO

Inasmuch as one does not have to belong to a political party in the U.S. to take part in the great game of proposing candidates for important office, I might as well give President Lyndon Johnson some wholly unsolicited advice about choosing a proper running mate.

I am quite aware that this sort of thing can be done by anybody who has watched a high-wire balancing act at the circus. Lyndon Johnson is a Texan, a Southerner, a liberal-conservative (or conservative-liberal), a Protestant, a self-made man, a person who (like F.D.R.) picks brains by listening rather than by reading. So anyone can see that the Democratic candidate for Vice President ought to come from the Middle West (Senator Humphrey, Senator Eugene McCarthy, or Peace Corps boss Sargent Shriver), or from California (Governor Pat Brown) or from the Northeast (New York City's Mayor Wagner). Then there are the Kennedy cachet, money and organizing power to consider (Bobby Kennedy or Sargent Shriver as an in-law). There is religion (McCarthy, Wagner, Bobby Kennedy and Shriver are Catholics, good for the big city vote where Catholics are in the majority). And Eugene McCarthy and Bobby Kennedy have both written books.

The desire for "balance" on a ticket is not to be decried, provided ability is not overlooked in prescribing the mixture. I do not for a moment doubt that the Messrs. Shriver, Eugene McCarthy et al are all able men in their various ways. But if Lyndon Johnson wants "balance" and foresight, too, the best man in his own party happens to be the senior U.S. Senator from the State of Connecticut, Thomas J. Dodd.

To use that phrase beloved of the sport page, you can't fault Tom Dodd on any of the mechanical qualifications needed for ticket balancing. He comes from the populous Northeast, he is a Catholic, he is a Welfare Stater without going hog-wild about it in the ADA manner, he is a civil rights man, and he believes in legitimate labor unions. Thus he both complements Lyndon Johnson and blends with him. In addition to all this, he is particularly beloved among various ethnic groups that have often resented the fact that the Democratic Party is associated with the post-Yalta loss of Eastern Europe to Communism. The Poles, the Lithuanians, the Ukrainians and the Hungarians of New England are overwhelmingly for Tom Dodd, the anti-Communist, and his popularity among these groups in his home territory would certainly rub off in the voting booths of Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

It is not my purpose, however, to praise Tom Dodd merely because he would lend mechanical balance to the Democratic slate. What I like about him is his ability to forsee crises long before they have tumbled about our ears. I distinctly recall a speech he made back in September of 1962, when Democrats who should have known better were denying that Cuba represented any particular menace to the U.S. Dodd had his eye on Castro's machinations in Panama even then. The Castro-Soviet domination of Cuba, said Dodd, "poses a distinct threat to the security of the United States in the sense that it gives Castro the military power to overthrow, or repeat his attempt to overthrow, the Government of Panama, thus placing the Panama Canal under the direct control of Moscow. In doing so, Khrushchev and Castro would not stage a frontal attack on Panama; they would attack by proxy, using an indigenous extremist movement as a front, and pretending to the world that the entire action had been initiated by the Panamanian people."

In the light of what has recently happened in Panama, I find those words pretty prophetic. Or maybe prescient is the proper word for it. So, too, were Dodd's words about Cheddi Jagan of British Guiana, whom he tabbed as a Marxist long before our State Department came to a similar conclusion. And, as I recall it, Tom Dodd was reproved by the New York Times for saying some time ago that Ghana was the "first Marxist State in Africa." The Times later admitted that Dodd was correct.

Could Lyndon Johnson have a better man at his elbow than one who can add X-ray eyes to all other qualifications needed to balance a ticket?

The Doctor's Mailbag

Prostatic Troubles May Not Mean Cancer

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Our doctor says my husband has a severe prostrate condition. Can this be cured? He is only 42. Isn't this young for a man to have prostrate trouble? Could it be cancer?

A—There are several kinds of prostrate trouble. Prostatic cancer is rare before the age of 40, but may occur after that age. Benign enlargement of the prostate usually occurs in the 60s. If your husband has cancer of the prostrate I'm sure your doctor would have told you so and would have advised operation.

Various types of prostatic infection may occur in adults of any age. In some cases, the treatment is long and tedious and a complete cure is difficult.

Q—What is spondyloisthesis? What could cause it? Will an operation help?

A—In spondylolisthesis, one of the vertebrae of the lower back is defective and is displaced forward. The condition is congenital, but usually does not become noticeable until puberty. It is more common in girls than in boys. The victim usually tires easily and may complain of low back pain. She may also develop a cautious gait to minimize the discomfort. The only treatment is surgical correction, and the best results are obtained when the condition is recognized early and the operation is not delayed.

Q—What does "sedimentation rate" mean?

A—The sedimentation rate measures how fast the red blood cells settle to the bottom of a tube of blood. In persons with rheumatic fever and rheumatic arthritis, the rate is faster than normal. This is of value in determining whether the infectious process is still active or is abating.

Q—My doctor has been giving me Sandril for more than a year. Is it habit-forming? What is it for? Are there any side effects?

A—Sandril is a trade name for reserpine, which is one of the tranquilizers derived from the plant Rauwolfia serpentina. It is widely used to reduce blood pressure. It is not habit-forming. It may cause a flare-up of a healed peptic ulcer in large doses. Other side effects include nasal stuffiness, nose bleeding, easy fatigability and a skin rash. Your doctor will observe you for these or other possible side effects and adjust your dose to meet your individual needs.

Q—Can stones in the salivary gland cause cancer? Is there any medicine that will prevent such stones from forming?

A—Salivary stones do not turn to cancer. I know of no drug that will dissolve or prevent them.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Dangling over the Republican party at this moment is the threat of severe internal bitterness if Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater does not get the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Not too many party men speak candidly of the danger. Quite a few, including some southerners, insist they will labor valiantly — to perhaps good result — for almost any candidate. Only New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, they say, leaves them utterly cold.

Yet a careful reading of the comment buzzing among Republican leaders in all camps and all areas makes the peril evident.

In a midwestern state, populous but not one of the country's top seven, a leader says:

"If the East foists someone else upon us, it will be a bitter blow . . . I'm afraid most of our people would just go home and sit down. We won't take an easterner this time."

The spokesman for a spacious mountain state says every organization Republican down to the last county chairman has openly endorsed Goldwater. They will stand with him in convention to the end—and be crushed if he loses out.

AGAIN AND AGAIN, this sort of thing is heard from the ardent Goldwaterites. The threat in it is plain enough.

They argue, with a good deal of provable substance, that in countless places the senator is the overwhelming choice of the GOP rank and file workers.

These pro-Goldwater men say that with any other nominee they will have a very hard time recruiting workers, raising money and stirring any real campaign effort. In other words, sitdown is the prospect.

Told of these comments, a prominent eastern chief glowered:

"That kind of talk makes my blood boil."

SITDOWN IN THE FALL

election campaign is thus not the only prospect. A lot of blood could be boiling—and flowing—in the party combat up to and including the GOP convention at San Francisco July 13.

The reason is simple. Party conservatives, having vainly sought the nomination for one of their own since 1936, never have smelt the roses so strongly as now.

The late Sen. Robert Taft came within 104 votes of nomination in 1952. Bitter as his partisans were at Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's triumph, they could shrug and say: "Oh, well, you can't beat a national hero."

Goldwater's partisans see it differently. They have the man, they have the lead (real but apparently diminishing), and no national hero stands against them.

IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES, they view as the cruelest stroke the developing effort to "stop Goldwater"—and that is a proper label despite the distaste for it among the big state GOP leaders now seeking another candidate.

If the results of the presidential primaries and the trends of other spring events to nourish the stop-Goldwater drive, the frustrations among his followers could erupt in the worst party warfare seen in decades.

Contemplating this, some top Republicans regret the choice of California for the convention. They fear that in that setting young pro-Goldwater hotheads might create severe disturbances and fan fiercely the flames of bitterness.

Tangled Panama Canal Zone Issues Stir Many Problems

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — When you start to turn the clock back, how far back do you go?

This is a question that the government of Panama might well examine. When it insists that the existing treaty, signed in 1903, granting the United States rights "in perpetuity" to the Canal Zone be revised because the Republic of Panama wants to regain its "moral and legal rights," the point can be raised as to whether the government of Colombia doesn't also have to be consulted.

Since the Panamanian government now has chosen to break off diplomatic relations with the U. S., this means that the Washington government is no longer under obligation to recognize the sovereignty of Panama. It affords an opportunity for Colombia to put in its claim for recovery of the Canal Zone, which it originally owned.

Few people may realize it, but not only the Canal Zone but all of Panama was once a part of Colombia. As far back as 1878, it granted a French company exclusive rights to construct a canal. But the French projects failed again and again. Finally on Jan. 22, 1903, the U. S. concluded a treaty with Colombia which provided for the acquisition by the U. S. of the Canal Zone area. The Senate here ratified the treaty, but the Senate of Colombia rejected it.

Then, not long afterwards—on Nov. 3 of the same year—a revolution broke out in Colombia, and Panama declared itself independent. The U. S. government within 72 hours granted diplomatic recognition. On Nov. 18, a treaty was signed with the new government, granting the U. S. "in perpetuity" the use a zone five miles wide on either side of a future canal.

Columbia promptly revised its policy and pledged herself on Nov. 30 to ratify the treaty it had earlier that same year rejected. But the U. S. declined. Colombia's grievance continued thereafter to cause ill feeling in Latin America, and in 1914 a treaty was signed by the U. S. granting $25 million compensation to Colombia, largely because of the work Colombia had already paid for on the canal. This treaty, however, was not ratified by the U. S. Senate and Colombian congress until 1921.

President Theodore Roosevelt's action in recognizing Panama, thus helping to bring about the secession of Panama from Colombia, because a campaign issue inside the U. S. in 1904. Mr. Roosevelt insisted that he was looking out solely for the interests of the U. S., and said:

"If, without detriment to the interests of the people of Panama, it could again become a state under Colombia and desires to do so—why well and good."

Mr. Roosevelt argued that he had been acting in strict compliance with the wishes of Congress and added:

"Had not Panama been promptly recognized, and the transit across the isthmus kept open, in accordance with our treaty rights and obligations, there would have ensued endless guerrilla warfare and possibly foreign complications; while all chance of building the canal would have been deferred, certainly for years, perhaps for a generation or more."

The history of pan-American relations contains many a fuzzy chapter in connection with the creation of the Panama republic itself. Strictly speaking, there are no treaties "in perpetuity" anywhere in the world. Nations may abrogate treaties if they wish, and Panama could tear up the existing treaty if it desired to do so. But Colombia could intervene, too, and could readily point to the fact that it originally owned Panama and would probably still be in possession had it not been for the sudden diplomatic recognition by the U. S. accompanied, as it was, by the presence of U. S. Navy gunboats at the scene.

Naturally, there are people in the Republic of Panama who want to get back the land now known as the Canal Zone, but to stir up ambitions inside Panama is also to stir up ambitions outside of Panama. The Panamanian Ambassador to the U. S. says his government wants to carry the issue to the United Nations because the existing 1903 treaty is not only "obsolete" but "repugnant to international law." Yet it might be argued that the circumstances surrounding the formation of the Panamanian Republic itself involved violations of international law. Strictly speaking, the U. S. was bound to wait longer than it did for the ratification of the 1903 treaty by the Colombian senate.

But all such arguments on the basis of international law do not take into account the realistic facts of today. Panama is too small a country to live in isolation and needs the friendship and economic support of the U. S. Malcontents within Panama are stirring up trouble. This can only lead to a revival of ambitions in Colombia to re-acquire Pannama.

To go to the UN and to brush aside negotiations directly between the U. S. and Panama would be to offend the Washington government, which Panama, in the long run, cannot well afford to do. Those who have stirred up violence and trouble in the Canal Zone will not cease their efforts as long as they have the acquiescence or encouragement of the Panamanian government itself. The sooner the Republic of Panama gets down to quiet diplomatic negotiations with the U. S., the quicker the whole problem will be resolved.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The other day, Leon Studt, of the Board of Public Works, showed me an orange ticket, which read: "Good from Poughkeepsie to Rondout, on steamer A. I. Phillips. Johnston Bros." It was stamped on the other side, Sept. 1, 1904.

A. J. Finley, of 61 Holt Street, Dumont, N. J. sometime ago, sent me an item from the Bergen Evening Record, of Sept. 3, 1963, on the West Shore Railroad, as written by James T. Prior. This is about the famous West Shore which began in Weehawken, the route went directly west through Bergen Hill, and then along the Hudson, closer to the river near Haverstraw, and then to Kingston. He mentions Edward Hungerford who wrote "Men and Iron." The track had to be on good ground, so when they came to holes that just would never fill up, they got canal boats and filled them with stone and then sunk them and kept filling them until they broke in two. It is said, now you can see them as portions of the roadbed, with their sterns and bows sticking up from the bottom. He writes further, that where they found holes to which there seemed no bottom, they had to build iron or steel spans and just cross, as if over a river.

This article further explains about the trains which did so much for the central part of our town, West Shore trains and depots on June 4, 1883 a passenger train left Jersey City for Newburgh. June 25, a train left Jersey City for Kingston. By August the line was completed to Syracuse, and then the freights began to move on the line. Remember how those long freights would hold up Broadway traffic.

James T. Prior then described the battle of the railroads and the outcome. The New York Central charged $12 for a through fare to Chicago, the West Shore cut its to $10.50. Central followed suit, and West Shore went to $9, then $8.30 and finally $8 even. The West Shore was borrowing to meet its working expenses, while the Central could meet its fixed charges on the reduced rates. Then suddenly, the New York Central acquired the West Shore in July, 1885, the name, West Shore, was still used, but the Central owned it, "lock, stock and barrel." The Central continued to run passenger service on the debt-ridden West Shore division until Dec. 10, 1959, when it was abandoned. So ended a wonderful service. To me, train travel was most pleasant. I remember during the World's Fair in New York, the $2 round trip to New York City and back. I liked it.

Mr. Finley often drops me a line, and encloses items which he thinks will interest the readers. He writes in part: "The first Freeman, today I picked up, and checked it, and found one of your articles 4-22-63, very interesting to me, but not back far enough. 1907—the year I left for the big city and got married, most of all, the Strand was occupied by old timers, such as McMillen and Hale, Johnston's drug store, The Arcade, Derrenbachers, Connelly Drug store, bank on corner, Mansion House, Freeman Square. The doctors and dentists offices were on second floors. The Old Hasbrouck Mansion (Mill Street), even the peanuts sold on the Strand. The Murray brothers, Chris, John and Tom, had their law offices on the Strand. I remember helping Hank Terpenning in his bicycle and phonograph shop. It was on Abeel Street in front of the Forst's residence, then on Broadway near Abeel Street . . ." More from this interesting letter another time.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 21, 1964

THE LITERACY GAP

Illiteracy is in large measure a problem of the so-called backward nations. It is they that face the task of lifting great masses of their populations to the level of simple reading and writing capability.

Illiteracy is also a problem, though a less broad and urgent one, in the United States. Despite the system of universal public education in which Americans take such justifiable pride, a surprisingly large number of adults in this country cannot read and write with even minimum competence.

There is small general awareness of the problem because U. S. illiterates tend to be scattered and are thus not highly "visible"; that is, they do not come much to public attention. It is only where there are heavy concentrations of those unable to read and write that the extent of the problem can readily be seen.

One such concentration is in New York City. There authorities have begun a program to teach reading, writing and figuring to some 700,000 New Yorkers who have completed less than five years of schooling. Volunteer instructors are being trained to teach friends and neighbors basic skills that will help them to get jobs.

New York City is clearly a special case, in part because of a heavy influx of Puerto Ricans. Other large cities also have the problem in varying degree. Most smaller communities also have a soft core, so to speak, of illiterates who could learn to read and write. Taken all together, this group is shockingly large in a society that purports to educate everyone. A broad program to close up the literacy gap deserves public support.

ADVANCE KNOWLEDGE?

In civilization's long, slow climb toward the millenium "hope springs eternal." But too often it is beaten back by man's perfidy.

One week Khrushchev unctiously urges renunciation of force in territorial disputes. The next week his and Castro's stooges are agitating a revolt in Panama. And Moscow, before an inquiry even can begin, starts hurling aggression charges not against Panama but against us, ignoring the fact that Panamanians invaded our zone.

This raises questions. Did Khrushchev know in advance of planned demonstrations? Did he have his renunciation-of-force note all ready, releasing it when it best would camouflage his tools' aggression? Actually, was any territorial dispute involved? Our rights under the treaty have stood for decades. Khrushchev seems to have been reaching for a bone to pick almost before the ink was dry on his renunciation-of-force pronouncement.

RELAX; ALL IS NORMAL

If you are wondering if the stress and strain of the space age may be affecting our way of life, you can relax.

There is abundant evidence that we the people are bearing up nicely, thank you, and that things are going along pretty much as always.

In California, for instance, a rugged individualist insists on being chauffeured by an ape. Not some clown who drives like an ape, but a real ape.

In Minnesota, a group of real cool college kids have just been acclaimed cookie—or is it kookie?—champs by baking a wafer that weighed 2,300 pounds.

In California again, a determined driver was apprehended as he gunned his small foreign car down a runway at the Los Angeles airport in a valiant effort to keep up with a jet airliner which was taking off. The motorist was on his way home from a party and mistook the runway for a freeway. It could happen to anyone.

A society which can keep its head in times like these is here to stay. We can look forward to what's ahead with high hope and renewed confidence.

Chewing gum sales rise following the government report on smoking. For the fellow trying to quit cigarettes, these are sticky times.

Not too many party men speak candidly of the danger. Quite a few, including some southerners, insist they will labor valiantly — to perhaps good result — for almost any candidate. Only New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, they say, leaves them utterly cold.

Yet a careful reading of the comment buzzing among Republican leaders in all camps and all areas makes the peril evident.

In a midwestern state, populous but not one of the country's top seven, a leader says:

"If the East foists someone else upon us, it will be a bitter blow . . . I'm afraid most of our people would just go home and sit down. We won't take an easterner this time."

The spokesman for a spacious mountain state says every organization Republican down to the last county chairman has openly endorsed Goldwater. They will stand with him in convention to the end—and be crushed if he loses out.

AGAIN AND AGAIN, this sort of thing is heard from the ardent Goldwaterites. The threat in it is plain enough.

They argue, with a good deal of provable substance, that in countless places the senator is the overwhelming choice of the GOP rank and file workers.

These pro-Goldwater men say that with any other nominee they will have a very hard time recruiting workers, raising money and stirring any real campaign effort. In other words, sitdown is the prospect.

Told of these comments, a prominent eastern chief glowered:

"That kind of talk makes my blood boil."

SITDOWN IN THE FALL election campaign is thus not the only prospect. A lot of blood could be boiling—and flowing—in the party combat up to and including the GOP convention at San Francisco July 13.

The reason is simple. Party conservatives, having vainly sought the nomination for one of their own since 1936, never have smelt the roses so strongly as now.

The late Sen. Robert Taft came within 104 votes of nomination in 1952. Bitter as his partisans were at Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's triumph, they could shrug and say: "Oh, well, you can't beat a national hero."

Goldwater's partisans see it differently. They have the man, they have the lead (real but apparently diminishing), and no national hero stands against them.

IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES, they view as the cruelest stroke the developing effort to "stop Goldwater"—and that is a proper label despite the distaste for it among the big state GOP leaders now seeking another candidate.

If the results of the presidential primaries and the trends of other spring events to nourish the stop-Goldwater drive, the frustrations among his followers could erupt in the worst party warfare seen in decades.

Contemplating this, some top Republicans regret the choice of California for the convention. They fear that in that setting young pro-Goldwater hotheads might create severe disturbances and fan fiercely the flames of bitterness.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The other day, Leon Studt, of the Board of Public Works, showed me an orange ticket, which read: "Good from Poughkeepsie to Rondout, on steamer A. I. Phillips. Johnston Bros." It was stamped on the other side, Sept. 1, 1904.

A. J. Finley, of 61 Holt Street, Dumont, N. J. sometime ago, sent me an item from the Bergen Evening Record, of Sept. 3, 1963, on the West Shore Railroad, as written by James T. Prior. This is about the famous West Shore which began in Weehawken, the route went directly west through Bergen Hill, and then along the Hudson, closer to the river near Haverstraw, and then to Kingston. He mentions Edward Hungerford who wrote "Men and Iron." The track had to be on good ground, so when they came to holes that just would never fill up, they got canal boats and filled them with stone and then sunk them and kept filling them until they broke in two. It is said, now you can see them as portions of the roadbed, with their sterns and bows sticking up from the bottom. He writes further, that where they found holes to which there seemed no bottom, they had to build iron or steel spans and just cross, as if over a river.

This article further explains about the trains which did so much for the central part of our town, West Shore trains and depots on June 4, 1883 a passenger train left Jersey City for Newburgh. June 25, a train left Jersey City for Kingston. By August the line was completed to Syracuse, and then the freights began to move on the line. Remember how those long freights would hold up Broadway traffic.

James T. Prior then described the battle of the railroads and the outcome. The New York Central charged $12 for a through fare to Chicago, the West Shore cut its to $10.50. Central followed suit, and West Shore went to $9, then $8.30 and finally $8 even. The West Shore was borrowing to meet its working expenses, while the Central could meet its fixed charges on the reduced rates. Then suddenly, the New York Central acquired the West Shore in July, 1885, the name, West Shore, was still used, but the Central owned it, "lock, stock and barrel." The Central continued to run passenger service on the debt-ridden West Shore division until Dec. 10, 1959, when it was abandoned. So ended a wonderful service. To me, train travel was most pleasant. I remember during the World's Fair in New York, the $2 round trip to New York City and back. I liked it.

Mr. Finley often drops me a line, and encloses items which he thinks will interest the readers. He writes in part: "The first Freeman, today I picked up, and checked it, and found one of your articles 4-22-63, very interesting to me, but not back far enough. 1907—the year I left for the big city and got married, most of all, the Strand was occupied by old timers, such as McMillen and Hale, Johnston's drug store, The Arcade, Derrenbachers, Connelly Drug store, bank on corner, Mansion House, Freeman Square. The doctors and dentists offices were on second floors. The Old Hasbrouck Mansion (Mill Street), even the peanuts sold on the Strand. The Murray brothers, Chris, John and Tom, had their law offices on the Strand. I remember helping Hank Terpenning in his bicycle and phonograph shop. It was on Abeel Street in front of the Forst's residence, then on Broadway near Abeel Street . . ." More from this interesting letter another time.

Tangled Panama Canal Zone Issues Stir Many Problems

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — When you start to turn the clock back, how far back do you go?

This is a question that the government of Panama might well examine. When it insists that the existing treaty, signed in 1903, granting the United States rights "in perpetuity" to the Canal Zone be revised because the Republic of Panama wants to regain its "moral and legal rights," the point can be raised as to whether the government of Colombia doesn't also have to be consulted.

Since the Panamanian government now has chosen to break off diplomatic relations with the U. S., this means that the Washington government is no longer under obligation to recognize the sovereignty of Panama. It affords an opportunity for Colombia to put in its claim for recovery of the Canal Zone, which it originally owned.

Few people may realize it, but not only the Canal Zone but all of Panama was once a part of Colombia. As far back as 1878, it granted a French company exclusive rights to construct a canal. But the French projects failed again and again. Finally on Jan. 22, 1903, the U. S. concluded a treaty with Colombia which provided for the acquisition by the U. S. of the Canal Zone area. The Senate here ratified the treaty, but the Senate of Colombia rejected it.

Then, not long afterwards—on Nov. 3 of the same year—a revolution broke out in Colombia, and Panama declared itself independent. The U. S. government within 72 hours granted diplomatic recognition. On Nov. 18, a treaty was signed with the new government, granting the U. S. "in perpetuity" the use a zone five miles wide on either side of a future canal.

Columbia promptly revised its policy and pledged herself on Nov. 30 to ratify the treaty it had earlier that same year rejected. But the U. S. declined. Colombia's grievance continued thereafter to cause ill feeling in Latin America, and in 1914 a treaty was signed by the U. S. granting $25 million compensation to Colombia, largely because of the work Colombia had already paid for on the canal. This treaty, however, was not ratified by the U. S. Senate and Colombian congress until 1921.

President Theodore Roosevelt's action in recognizing Panama, thus helping to bring about the secession of Panama from Colombia, because a campaign issue inside the U. S. in 1904. Mr. Roosevelt insisted that he was looking out solely for the interests of the U. S., and said:

"If, without detriment to the interests of the people of Panama, it could again become a state under Colombia and desires to do so—why well and good."

Mr. Roosevelt argued that he had been acting in strict compliance with the wishes of Congress and added:

"Had not Panama been promptly recognized, and the transit across the isthmus kept open, in accordance with our treaty rights and obligations, there would have ensued endless guerrilla warfare and possibly foreign complications; while all chance of building the canal would have been deferred, certainly for years, perhaps for a generation or more."

The history of pan-American relations contains many a fuzzy chapter in connection with the creation of the Panama republic itself. Strictly speaking, there are no treaties "in perpetuity" anywhere in the world. Nations may abrogate treaties if they wish, and Panama could tear up the existing treaty if it desired to do so. But Colombia could intervene, too, and could readily point to the fact that it originally owned Panama and would probably still be in possession had it not been for the sudden diplomatic recognition by the U. S. accompanied, as it was, by the presence of U. S. Navy gunboats at the scene.

Naturally, there are people in the Republic of Panama who want to get back the land now known as the Canal Zone, but to stir up ambitions inside Panama is also to stir up ambitions outside of Panama. The Panamanian Ambassador to the U. S. says his government wants to carry the issue to the United Nations because the existing 1903 treaty is not only "obsolete" but "repugnant to international law." Yet it might be argued that the circumstances surrounding the formation of the Panamanian Republic itself involved violations of international law. Strictly speaking, the U. S. was bound to wait longer than it did for the ratification of the 1903 treaty by the Colombian senate.

But all such arguments on the basis of international law do not take into account the realistic facts of today. Panama is too small a country to live in isolation and needs the friendship and economic support of the U. S. Malcontents within Panama are stirring up trouble. This can only lead to a revival of ambitions in Colombia to re-acquire Pannama.

To go to the UN and to brush aside negotiations directly between the U. S. and Panama would be to offend the Washington government, which Panama, in the long run, cannot well afford to do. Those who have stirred up violence and trouble in the Canal Zone will not cease their efforts as long as they have the acquiescence or encouragement of the Panamanian government itself. The sooner the Republic of Panama gets down to quiet diplomatic negotiations with the U. S., the quicker the whole problem will be resolved.

Kurdt Is Named Local Chairman For Fair Activity

Albert Kurdt, manager of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce is among area chairmen of Honor Day activities and chairmen of Ethnic Honor Days for the N. Y. State Pavilion announced today by Frederic B. Vogel, director of Special Events at the New York State Commission on the World's Fair.

Representative non-professional performing groups are being invited to participate in the program by contacting their local chairman. The chairman of each area screens the candidates and makes recommendations to the Commission.

Ulster County-Kingston Day will be on May 23.

Groups wishing to perform might include bands, orchestras or other instrumental combinations; choirs, choruses, glee clubs; folk dancing and folk singing groups; gymnastic teams or other sport demonstrations; any ethnic ceremony or festival; or any performing groups indigenous to their area. Performances will be offered several times daily in the pavilion of the state exhibit, which will be open daily from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The pavilion is the central structure of the New York State exhibit. Structurally, it is a mammoth elliptical building which will house government and industrial exhibits, an art museum, eating facilities and a fashion area. Groups participating will perform in a circular area in the pavilion on a terrazo tile surface of approximately 200 feet. For groups requiring it, there will be an open platform stage, approximately 36 by 18 feet.

Performing groups will be responsible for their own travel and living expenses, but will receive free admission to the Fair on the day of their performance. Each group will also receive an official citation for its participation.

The state exhibit also includes three observation towers, one of which—at 230 feet—is the highest point of the Fair. Over 10,000 visitors per day will ascend to its observation platform in high speed elevators rising on the outside of the column.

The final component is the Theaterama, where a 12-14 minute, 360 degree motion picture on New York State as a place to work, live, study and play will be shown.

Rocky's $33.4-Million Deficiency Budget Bill Set for Swift Approval

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's $33.4-million deficiency budget bill was ticketed for swift approval in the Legislature today over vigorous Democratic protests.

The Republican - controlled Legislature's Democratic minority zeroed-in on the governor's request for $6 million to complete purchase of land for a state office-building complex in downtown Albany.

"It's all part of Rockefeller's fiscal finagling," said Democratic minority leader Joseph Zaretzki. "It's going to cost the taxpayers a lot of money."

A deficiency measure won approval of GOP assemblymen at a closed conference Monday. The Senate's Republican leadership also cleared it for passage.

The measure covers spending not included in the $2.8-billion budget for the current fiscal year. Rockefeller has said that, despite the deficiency items, the overall budget will be held below original estimates because of economies in other government operations.

In other action at the State Capitol:

—Rockefeller met with leading law-enforcement officials of the state Monday and obtained their endorsement of the seven-point "war on crime" program he outlined to the Legislature on Jan. 8.

—The Senate adopted a Zaretzki-sponsored resolution calling on the United States government to protest what he called Russia's "campaign of anti-Semetic and anti-religious terror."

— The Assembly approved a bill that would standardize cards used in bingo games, a move that the sponsor said would eliminate some "monkey business" in conducting the games.

The largest appropriation in the deficiency measure is $13 million to cover welfare costs that exceeded original estimates. The bill also allocates $4.8 million as an advance to the State University Construction Fund and $4.6 million to complete the state's exhibit at the World's Fair in New York City.

The $6 million for the Albany project is an advance in anticipation of repayment by the city. The Legislature originally allocated $20 million to buy about 96 acres of land for the massive office-building project, but it was not enough to cover the acquisition.

Corwin to Check Possible Perjury In Testimony

Testimony given by Philip Krajewski of Kingston during a civil assault case before Justice Harry E. Schirick in Supreme Court, will be examined by District Attorney David W. Corwin to ascertain if perjury may have been committed.

Krajewski brought an action for assault against Joseph Natoli, alleging that back in March 1959 Natoli had assaulted him and as a result he was unable to work for some five months. He testified he had been employed by the Broadway Furniture Company of Kingston at $90 a week and sought to recover that sum in addition to damages for pain and suffering and medical bills.

Stradone Takes Stand

Following the Monday noon recess of court, Justice Schirick held up the court to permit Albert Stradone, an officer of the Broadway Furniture Company during the period Krajewski contended he had been employed, to arrive from Amsterdam and take the witness stand.

The former officer and man in charge of the Kingston store, testified that Krajewski had not been employed by the company during the period he testified he had worked for the company and for which he sought to collect lost wages.

At the time of the alleged assault on Krajewski in Kingston, the matter was submitted to a grand jury and a second degree assault indictment was returned by the grand jury against Natoli, whom it was alleged had struck Krajewski with a pipe. Natoli was convicted of third degree assault and given a suspended jail sentence.

Monday in Supreme Court Justice Schirick in his charge to the jury said that if the jury believed Krajewski had testified falsely on any one material fact during the trial the jury had the right to reject any or all of his testimony.

Apparently the jury had detected the discrepancy in the testimony between Krajewski, who had testified he was employed by the furniture company, and the testimony of the former official who said Krajewski was never on the payroll during the period he claimed, and in 15 minutes returned a verdict of no cause for action.

Following the verdict Justice Schirick ordered the court reporter to submit that portion of the Krawjewski and Strandone testimony which related to employment, to District Attorney Corwin for investigation and if the county prosecutor feels the facts should be investigated by the grand jury to present the matter to that body.

Hubert Richter appeared for plaintiff and Thomas F. Saccoman for defendant.

A no cause verdict was also returned following trial of an automobile negligence action brought by George J. Disch against Truman H. Slater and another which arose over an accident on Broadway near Stuyvesant street when a car and a tractor-trailer were involved in an accident. N. LeVan Haver appeared for plaintiff and Edwin L. Marion Jr., was attorney of record with Francis X. Tucker as defense trial attorney.

Sept. 15 Trial Set On Color Comic Suit

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A non-jury trial of federal anti-trust charges against six firms that print color-comic supplements will start Sept. 15.

Judge John O. Henderson of federal court set the trial date Monday.

Greater Buffalo Press Inc., of Buffalo; the Hearst Corp., as operator of King Features Syndicate; Newspaper Enterprise Association of Cleveland; International Color Printing Co. of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Southwest Color Printing Corp. of Lufkin, Tex.; and Dixie Color Printing Corp. of Sylacauga, Ala., have been named defendants in the suit.

Seek $3.2 Million To Continue Work On River Channel

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $3.2-million appropriation to continue deepening the Hudson River to Albany, N.Y., was requested from Congress today by President Johnson.

It was included by Johnson in his budget for the fiscal year which begins July 1 among requests for $17,784,000 for construction, maintenance, planning and studies of flood control and navigation projects in New York.

He also requested $27 million to continue work on the Allegheny River Dam at Kinzua, Pa., and the reservoir it would back up almost to Salamanca, N.Y. This amount was included in Pennsylvania's total of $62,853,000.

Congress approved $5.1 million last year for deepening the Hudson River from 27 to 32 feet between Hudson and Albany, 28 miles apart. The appropriation requested today would continue that work.

The deeper channnel is needed because the size of ships has increased.

Johnson also recommended a $1.5-million limit on administrative expenses for the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. during the fiscal year which begins July 1.

ULSTER COUNTY HONORARY FIRE CHIEF—Paul Dmock of St. Peter's School, Rosendale, honorary fire chief of Ulster County for the month of January talks over the new fire phone number with Fire Chief Lynn Dyer at Tillson. Residents of the district have been apprised of the new number to call in case of fire, 658-9216. Honorary Chief Dmock will be guest at the January meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association tonight at West Hurley.

Kingston Hospital

admitted as in-patients, and 50,902 days of patient care were rendered during the year, he reported. The 794 babies born at the hospital represented an increase of eight per cent over the previous year. Of the 7,491 persons who came to the emergency room, 5,773 required treatment, an increase of 16 per cent over 1962.

Occupancy Per Cent High

A total of 17,327 X-ray examinations were done for 13,731 persons, while 3,946 surgical procedures were performed. Average per cent occupancy for medical and surgical service for 1963 was 94, well above the recognized comfortable operating level of 80 per cent, Kalish said.

He noted that at times it was necessary to postpone admission of non-emergent cases due to the high occupancy, and "the cooperation of our patients in not unduly prolonging their stay in the hospital so others could be accommodated was most appreciated and is reflected in the average length of stay for 1963 of 7 days, compared with an average of 7.5 days for similar type hospitals across the United States."

Of the planned expansion program, Kalish said that "although progress seemed unbearably slow, pressure was continuously applied to bring about its fruition."

He noted that final plans are now being completed and that it is anticipated the project will go to bid early this year, with construction hopefully to start in early spring.

'Financially Sound'

"I am pleased to report that the hospital was able to operate in a financially sound manner during the year," Kalish said. "Throughout the nation hospital costs per patient day have risen between 7.5 an d10 per cent annually over the past several years, and indications are that this will continue for several years to come. Over many costs involved with its operation the hospital has little or no control . . .It requires constant attention to give good patient care at the lowest possible cost. A recent survey by the Associated Hospital Service of New York of average charges paid member hospitals during 1963 indicated that among 20 comparable hospitals, located similarly geographically, Kingston Hospital's rates for room and board were as much as 20 per cent below the average."

During the year Kingston Hospital cooperated with the Kingston High School Adult Education Division in making facilities available for clinical experience of 21 students of the first class of the Practical Nurse Program; the School of Nursing was re-registered in full for the maximum period of five years, and the hospital underwent a three-day survey by the State Department of Social Welfare with satisfactory result.

Named President, Counsel Again by Kingston Savings

LLOYD R. LeFEVER

The reelection of Attorney Lloyd R. LeFever as president and counsel of the Kingston Savings Bank took place during the annual meeting of the board of trustees Monday night.

LeFever, who has offices at 78 Main Street, has served as president since October 1960.

Others Reelected

Also reelected were Clifford A. Henze, executive vice president and treasurer; Alexander B. Shufeldt and Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., vice presidents; Joseph F. Brady, assistant treasurer; Martin F. Scherry, auditor; Catherine Henebery and Kathleen Sullivan, administrative assistants.

Trustees renamed were Charles L. Arnold, A. Raymond Atkins, James H. Betts, Peter A. Black, W. Anderson Carl, Dr. Holcomb, Mr. LeFever, Roger W. Mabie, Harry Rigby Jr. and Shufeldt.

Kingston Savings Bank during the year 1963 passed the $40,000,000 mark in total assets, it was reported by President LeFever. On December 31, 1963, total assets were $40,001,322, an increase of $2,696,614 over the total of $37,304,708 at the end of 1962. Savings on deposit at the close of 1963 totaled $34,905,337, an increase of $2,210,968 or 6.8 per cent over the $32,694,368 on deposit December 31, 1962.

In 1963 the trustees of Kingston Savings Bank declared quarterly interest dividends at the rate of four per cent per annum, and at the close of the year was the first bank in the area to announce an anticipated interest-dividend of four and one-quarter per cent per annum for the first quarter of 1964, based on the continuance of present favorable earnings. The Board of Trustees declares the interest-dividend at the end of each quarter and it is paid on all savings from date of deposit, with the added provision that deposits made during the first 10 business days of each quarter, or during the first three business days of other months, earn from the first of the month.

90th Anniversary

A highlight of the year was the dedication of the historic mural by John Pike which now hangs in the bank lobby.

Kingston Savings Bank, which was organized in 1874, will observe its 90th annIversary this year.

Pearson Is Seeing Johnson Relative To French Rift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is expected to talk with President Johnson during a visit beginning today about the possibility of finding ways to improve relations between Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The outlook for closer ties between Paris and Washington, as U.S. officials see the situation, is dark at the moment especially because of the recent decision by De Gaulle to recognize Communist China.

Pearson spent last week in Paris. He conferred with the French leader and is known to be deeply concerned about the rift between two of the major nations in the Atlantic Alliance.

High Winds Cause

Linda Wands, 17, of Erie Avenue, New Windsor, as a passenger.

Farrell told the troopers he was crossing the tracks when the vehicle became stuck facing north in half of a railroad track bed. State Police said the other half of the track had been removed. Unable to free the car, the couple jumped out seconds before a southbound 109-car train—identified as Train WS2—struck the right side of the car with its right front. State Police identified the train engineer as Charles Spears and the conductor as M. Libertucci. They said it was foggy and raining at the time and the railroad tracks were slippery.

City Wind Report

The city engineer's office reported wind velocity of 50 mph, with gusts up to 60 mph during the night. A total of .85 inches of rain fell in the six-hour period from 3 to 9 p. m.

The wind-driven downpour marked a sharp contrast to the frigid blizzard of last week that sent temperatures plunging to between 12 and 28 degrees below zero. By comparison, the city engineer's office reported a high of 44 degrees Monday and a low of 38, only four degrees difference.

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. reported several hundred of its customers were without service in the Saugerties-Woodstock-Zena area. A company spokesman said the trouble started about 5 this morning and by mid-morning emergency crews had restored service.

The Ulster County Highway Department reported trees down at Phoenicia and Plattekill and an accumulation of water on the highways in some areas. However, a department spokesman said, the creeks failed to raise noteably.

Garage Loses Roof

In Saugerties, a former employe of The Freeman reported that high winds caved in the roof of the family's two-car garage. Mrs. Martin Saban, of 11 Edgewood Drive, Windemere, in Barclay Heights, said the roof partially collapsed about 9:30 this morning.

Special Town Police Officer Charles P. Riley and Town Councilman Eldon C. Myer came to Mrs. Saban's aid in an effort to keep the sides of the wooden garage from buckling. Mrs. Saban said a 1959 station wagon had been parked in the garage.

The high winds also knocked over a television antenna at the Saban residence.

Kingston Cablevision reported trouble in reception on Channels 4 and 6, but no damage to installations or equipment.

The winds continued at a high velocity through this morning with a tapering off in evidence by noon as daytime temperatures were expected to continue above normal for the season.

5-Point Program

Johnson Proposes Output Freeze on Nuclear Vehicles

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today that Russia and the United States "explore a verified freeze of the number and characteristics" of strategic nuclear vehicles.

Johnson laid a five-point program of posssible agreement before the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference as it resumed sessions after a break of several months.

In a message to the conference he said that by laying the groundwork in earlier years for the limited nuclear test ban treaty it had already contributed more to a disarmament than any other conference in modern history.

Climate of Hope

"Today your search begins anew in a climate of hope," Johnson told the delegates, including envoys of Communist, Western and neutralist nations.

Johnson's proposal to impose a freeeze on the number and types of nuclear weapons, "offensive and defensive," was the second of his five points. It was not spelled out in detail.

In ordinary terminology of disarmament experts a "verified freeeze" would mean an agreed limitation on the size of nuclear forces and on the types of weapons, with the agreement to be guaranteed by inspection in the participating countries.

Other Points

Other points in Johnson program:

1. A discussion of the "means of prohibiting the threat or use of force, directly or indirectly —whether by aggression, subversion, or the clandestine supply of arms—to change boundaries or demarcation lines." The prohibition also could apply to any interference with access to any territory or to any effort to extend control over territory "by displacing established authorities."

2. The powers should atttempt to develop "a verified agreement to halt all production of fissionable materials for weapons use." Johnson said the United States "'is willing to achieve prompt reductions through both sides closing comparable production facilities on a plant-by-plant basis with mutual inspection."

3. The United States will be ready to discuss proposals "for creating a system of observation posts" as a meads of reducing the danger of surprise attack.

4. The nuclear powers should agree to ban the spread of nuclear weapons to nonnuclear nations, should ban all nuclear weapons tests underground as well as those now prohibited, and should accept inspection of their "peaceful nuclear activities."

Much of the ground had been covered by Johnson in a message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev made public Monday.

DIED

The $6 million for the Albany project is an advance in anticipation of repayment by the city. The Legislature originally allocated $20 million to buy about 96 acres of land for the massive office-building project, but it was not enough to cover the acquisition.

Corwin to Check Possible Perjury In Testimony

Testimony given by Philip Krajewski of Kingston during a civil assault case before Justice Harry E. Schirick in Supreme Court, will be examined by District Attorney David W. Corwin to ascertain if perjury may have been committed.

Krajewski brought an action for assault against Joseph Natoli, alleging that back in March 1959 Natoli had assaulted him and as a result he was unable to work for some five months. He testified he had been employed by the Broadway Furniture Company of Kingston at $90 a week and sought to recover that sum in addition to damages for pain and suffering and medical bills.

Stradone Takes Stand

Following the Monday noon recess of court, Justice Schirick held up the court to permit Albert Stradone, an officer of the Broadway Furniture Company during the period Krajewski contended he had been employed, to arrive from Amsterdam and take the witness stand.

The former officer and man in charge of the Kingston store, testified that Krajewski had not been employed by the company during the period he testified he had worked for the company and for which he sought to collect lost wages.

At the time of the alleged assault on Krajewski in Kingston, the matter was submitted to a grand jury and a second degree assault indictment was returned by the grand jury against Natoli, whom it was alleged had struck Krajewski with a pipe. Natoli was convicted of third degree assault and given a suspended jail sentence.

Monday in Supreme Court Justice Schirick in his charge to the jury said that if the jury believed Krajewski had testified falsely on any one material fact during the trial the jury had the right to reject any or all of his testimony.

Apparently the jury had detected the discrepancy in the testimony between Krajewski, who had testified he was employed by the furniture company, and the testimony of the former official who said Krajewski was never on the payroll during the period he claimed, and in 15 minutes returned a verdict of no cause for action.

Following the verdict Justice Schirick ordered the court reporter to submit that portion of the Krawjewski and Strandone testimony which related to employment, to District Attorney Corwin for investigation and if the county prosecutor feels the facts should be investigated by the grand jury to present the matter to that body.

Hubert Richter appeared for plaintiff and Thomas F. Saccoman for defendant.

A no cause verdict was also returned following trial of an automobile negligence action brought by George J. Disch against Truman H. Slater and another which arose over an accident on Broadway near Stuyvesant street when a car and a tractor-trailer were involved in an accident. N. LeVan Haver appeared for plaintiff and Edwin L. Marion Jr., was attorney of record with Francis X. Tucker as defense trial attorney.

Sept. 15 Trial Set On Color Comic Suit

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A non-jury trial of federal anti-trust charges against six firms that print color-comic supplements will start Sept. 15.

Judge John O. Henderson of federal court set the trial date Monday.

Greater Buffalo Press Inc., of Buffalo; the Hearst Corp., as operator of King Features Syndicate; Newspaper Enterprise Association of Cleveland; International Color Printing Co. of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Southwest Color Printing Corp. of Lufkin, Tex.; and Dixie Color Printing Corp. of Sylacauga, Ala., have been named defendants in the suit.

ULSTER COUNTY HONORARY FIRE CHIEF—Paul Dmock of St. Peter's School, Rosendale, honorary fire chief of Ulster County for the month of January talks over the new fire phone number with Fire Chief Lynn Dyer at Tillson. Residents of the district have been apprised of the new number to call in case of fire, 658-9216. Honorary Chief Dmock will be guest at the January meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association tonight at West Hurley.

Kingston Hospital

admitted as in-patients, and 50,902 days of patient care were rendered during the year, he reported. The 794 babies born at the hospital represented an increase of eight per cent over the previous year. Of the 7,491 persons who came to the emergency room, 5,773 required treatment, an increase of 16 per cent over 1962.

Occupancy Per Cent High

A total of 17,327 X-ray examinations were done for 13,731 persons, while 3,946 surgical procedures were performed. Average per cent occupancy for medical and surgical service for 1963 was 94, well above the recognized comfortable operating level of 80 per cent, Kalish said.

He noted that at times it was necessary to postpone admission of non-emergent cases due to the high occupancy, and "the cooperation of our patients in not unduly prolonging their stay in the hospital so others could be accommodated was most appreciated and is reflected in the average length of stay for 1963 of 7 days, compared with an average of 7.5 days for similar type hospitals across the United States."

Of the planned expansion program, Kalish said that "although progress seemed unbearably slow, pressure was continuously applied to bring about its fruition."

He noted that final plans are now being completed and that it is anticipated the project will go to bid early this year, with construction hopefully to start in early spring.

'Financially Sound'

"I am pleased to report that the hospital was able to operate in a financially sound manner during the year," Kalish said. "Throughout the nation hospital costs per patient day have risen between 7.5 an d10 per cent annually over the past several years, and indications are that this will continue for several years to come. Over many costs involved with its operation the hospital has little or no control . . .It requires constant attention to give good patient care at the lowest possible cost. A recent survey by the Associated Hospital Service of New York of average charges paid member hospitals during 1963 indicated that among 20 comparable hospitals, located similarly geographically, Kingston Hospital's rates for room and board were as much as 20 per cent below the average."

During the year Kingston Hospital cooperated with the Kingston High School Adult Education Division in making facilities available for clinical experience of 21 students of the first class of the Practical Nurse Program; the School of Nursing was re-registered in full for the maximum period of five years, and the hospital underwent a three-day survey by the State Department of Social Welfare with satisfactory result.

Named President, Counsel Again by Kingston Savings

LLOYD R. LeFEVER

The reelection of Attorney Lloyd R. LeFever as president and counsel of the Kingston Savings Bank took place during the annual meeting of the board of trustees Monday night.

LeFever, who has offices at 78 Main Street, has served as president since October 1960.

Others Reelected

Also reelected were Clifford A. Henze, executive vice president and treasurer; Alexander B. Shufeldt and Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., vice presidents; Joseph F. Brady, assistant treasurer; Martin F. Scherry, auditor; Catherine Henebery and Kathleen Sullivan, administrative assistants.

Trustees renamed were Charles L. Arnold, A. Raymond Atkins, James H. Betts, Peter A. Black, W. Anderson Carl, Dr. Holcomb, Mr. LeFever, Roger W. Mabie, Harry Rigby Jr. and Shufeldt.

Kingston Savings Bank during the year 1963 passed the $40,000,000 mark in total assets, it was reported by President LeFever. On December 31, 1963, total assets were $40,001,322, an increase of $2,696,614 over the total of $37,304,708 at the end of 1962. Savings on deposit at the close of 1963 totaled $34,905,337, an increase of $2,210,968 or 6.8 per cent over the $32,694,368 on deposit December 31, 1962.

In 1963 the trustees of Kingston Savings Bank declared quarterly interest dividends at the rate of four per cent per annum, and at the close of the year was the first bank in the area to announce an anticipated interest-dividend of four and one-quarter per cent per annum for the first quarter of 1964, based on the continuance of present favorable earnings. The Board of Trustees declares the interest-dividend at the end of each quarter and it is paid on all savings from date of deposit, with the added provision that deposits made during the first 10 business days of each quarter, or during the first three business days of other months, earn from the first of the month.

90th Anniversary

A highlight of the year was the dedication of the historic mural by John Pike which now hangs in the bank lobby.

Kingston Savings Bank, which was organized in 1874, will observe its 90th anniversary this year.

High Winds Cause

Linda Wands, 17, of Erie Avenue, New Windsor, as a passenger.

Farrell told the troopers he was crossing the tracks when the vehicle became stuck facing north in half of a railroad track bed. State Police said the other half of the track had been removed. Unable to free the car, the couple jumped out seconds before a southbound 109-car train—identified as Train WS2—struck the right side of the car with its right front. State Police identified the train engineer as Charles Spears and the conductor as M. Libertucci. They said it was foggy and raining at the time and the railroad tracks were slippery.

City Wind Report

The city engineer's office reported wind velocity of 50 mph, with gusts up to 60 mph during the night. A total of .85 inches of rain fell in the six-hour period from 3 to 9 p. m.

The wind-driven downpour marked a sharp contrast to the frigid blizzard of last week that sent temperatures plunging to between 12 and 28 degrees below zero. By comparison, the city engineer's office reported a high of 44 degrees Monday and a low of 38, only four degrees difference.

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. reported several hundred of its customers were without service in the Saugerties-Woodstock-Zena area. A company spokesman said the trouble started about 5 this morning and by mid-morning emergency crews had restored service.

The Ulster County Highway Department reported trees down at Phoenicia and Plattekill and an accumulation of water on the highways in some areas. However, a department spokesman said, the creeks failed to raise noteably.

Garage Loses Roof

In Saugerties, a former employe of The Freeman reported that high winds caved in the roof of the family's two-car garage. Mrs. Martin Saban, of 11 Edgewood Drive, Windemere, in Barclay Heights, said the roof partially collapsed about 9:30 this morning.

Special Town Police Officer Charles P. Riley and Town Councilman Eldon C. Myer came to Mrs. Saban's aid in an effort to keep the sides of the wooden garage from buckling. Mrs. Saban said a 1959 station wagon had been parked in the garage.

The high winds also knocked over a television antenna at the Saban residence.

Kingston Cablevision reported trouble in reception on Channels 4 and 6, but no damage to installations or equipment.

The winds continued at a high velocity through this morning with a tapering off in evidence by noon as daytime temperatures were expected to continue above normal for the season.

Seek $3.2 Million To Continue Work On River Channel

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $3.2-million appropriation to continue deepening the Hudson River to Albany, N.Y., was requested from Congress today by President Johnson.

It was included by Johnson in his budget for the fiscal year which begins July 1 among requests for $17,784,000 for construction, maintenance, planning and studies of flood control and navigation projects in New York.

He also requested $27 million to continue work on the Allegheny River Dam at Kinzua, Pa., and the reservoir it would back up almost to Salamanca, N.Y. This amount was included in Pennsylvania's total of $62,853,000.

Congress approved $5.1 million last year for deepening the Hudson River from 27 to 32 feet between Hudson and Albany, 28 miles apart. The appropriation requested today would continue that work.

The deeper channnel is needed because the size of ships has increased.

Seek Flood Plan

Lackawanna $500,000 Little Sodus Bay harbor, rehabilitation $215,000; Oswego harbor $300,000; South Amsterdam $512,000.

Planning Funds

Planning: Lake Chautauqua and Chadakoin River $100,000; Rosendale $100,000; Salamanca $75,000.

Surveys: Braddock State Park and Cranberry and Long Pond $20,000; Cattaraugus Creek $15,000; Champlain Waterway, N.Y., and Vermont $28,000; Chittenango Creek and tributaries $25,000; Genesee River Basin, N.Y., and Pa. $130,000; Great Lakes-Hudson River Waterway $200,000; Tonawanda Creeek and tributaries $48,000; Wilson Harbor $14,000; Darby and Cobb Creeks $30,000; Delaware River channel dimensions, $35,000; Johnstown channel extension $15,000; Susquehanna River Basin, Pa., Md., and N.Y. $400,000.

Operation and maintenance $3,500,000.

60 Persons Drowned

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — The flooding Jequitinhonha River has drowned at least 60 persons about 400 miles north of Rio.

Pearson Is Seeing Johnson Relative To French Rift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is expected to talk with President Johnson during a visit beginning today about the possibility of finding ways to improve relations between Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The outlook for closer ties between Paris and Washington, as U.S. officials see the situation, is dark at the moment especially because of the recent decision by De Gaulle to recognize Communist China.

Pearson spent last week in Paris. He conferred with the French leader and is known to be deeply concerned about the rift between two of the major nations in the Atlantic Alliance.

5-Point Program

Johnson Proposes Output Freeze on Nuclear Vehicles

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today that Russia and the United States "explore a verified freeze of the number and characteristics" of strategic nuclear vehicles.

Johnson laid a five-point program of posssible agreement before the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference as it resumed sessions after a break of several months.

In a message to the conference he said that by laying the groundwork in earlier years for the limited nuclear test ban treaty it had already contributed more to a disarmament than any other conference in modern history.

Climate of Hope

"Today your search begins anew in a climate of hope," Johnson told the delegates, including envoys of Communist, Western and neutralist nations.

Johnson's proposal to impose a freeeze on the number and types of nuclear weapons, "offensive and defensive," was the second of his five points. It was not spelled out in detail.

In ordinary terminology of disarmament experts a "verified freeeze" would mean an agreed limitation on the size of nuclear forces and on the types of weapons, with the agreement to be guaranteed by inspection in the participating countries.

Other Points

Other points in Johnson program:

1. A discussion of the "means of prohibiting the threat or use of force, directly or indirectly —whether by aggression, subversion, or the clandestine supply of arms—to change boundaries or demarcation lines." The prohibition also could apply to any interference with access to any territory or to any effort to extend control over territory "by displacing established authorities."

2. The powers should atttempt to develop "a verified agreement to halt all production of fissionable materials for weapons use." Johnson said the United States "'is willing to achieve prompt reductions through both sides closing comparable production facilities on a plant-by-plant basis with mutual inspection."

3. The United States will be ready to discuss proposals "for creating a system of observation posts" as a meads of reducing the danger of surprise attack.

4. The nuclear powers should agree to ban the spread of nuclear weapons to nonnuclear nations, should ban all nuclear weapons tests underground as well as those now prohibited, and should accept inspection of their "peaceful nuclear activities."

Much of the ground had been covered by Johnson in a message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev made public Monday.

Farewell for Fidel

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government scheduled a farewell Kremlin reception for Fidel Castro tonight as the Cuban prime minister wound up his visit to the Soviet Union.

Ethics Course Is Added to College Spring Schedule

Officials at Ulster County Community College announced that Philosophy 205, Ethics, has been added to the spring evening schedule. The course will be taught Thursdays from 7 until 9:40 p. m. During the fall semester, the Community College offered a course in logic and found that it was very well received. In response to a number of requests which the college has received for an additional philosophy course during the spring term, the ethics course has been added to the previously announced schedule.

Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of UCCC, announced that the new philosophy offering will be taught by Dr. Gerard DeGre, currently on the faculty at Bard College. Dr. DeGre received his PhD from Columbia University and has had a wide range of college experience at Butler University and at St. Lawrence University before coming to Bard College in 1946. Dr. DeGre has been a Fulbright professor at the American University at Cairo, Egypt, a special lecturer-consultant to the Egyptian Government and a Fulbright professor at the University of Chile Graduate Sociology Program. Dr. DeGre has published widely in his field, is a member of a number of professional organizations and will provide very strong leadership to the course in Ethics.

It is believed that this new course offering will be of great interest to many adults in the community. Registration for part time students who did not attend the Community College during the Fall semester will be held Saturday, Feb. 1, between 9:30 and 12:30 at the college, 214 West Chestnut Street.

Movie Reviewer For Church Sees New Studio Bosses

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The nation's most important movie reviewer is in town to meet new bosses of the film studios.

"I came out to show them that I don't have horns and to see that they don't, either," smiled Msgr. Thomas F. Little between studio visits.

For 16 years the clergyman has been executive secretary of the National Legion of Decency, which advises the country's 40 million Catholics on the moral acceptability of film fare.

"We generally see all the important films before they are released," Msgr. Little commented. "Since the Legion is an extra-legal body, there is no power of compulsion. But very often companies will follow our suggestions in making certain deletions in order to get a more favorable rating."

Watching 17 Years

A cheery, ruddy-faced New Yorker who was once a curate in an Italian parish, Msgr. Little has seen virtually every film of any importance for 17 years.

The Legion procedure is this: A group of laymen and women and priests sees the submitted film and makes a recommendation. Msgr. Little and his aide, Father Patrick J. Sullivan, see the film and determine if their recommendation coincides. If not, the film is submitted to another audience of professional men, husbands and wives, churchmen and others, and a decision is reached.

The film then is labeled as family fare, adults only, permissible for adults with reservations or condemned. Only 13 films, mostly foreign, were condemned last year.

"Eighty-five per cent of last year's films were considered acceptable by some segment of the audience, and that is not bad," said Msgr. Little. "But what we think is bad is movie advertising."

One of the Legion's concerns, he added, was the current run of sex comedies.

Names Some Films

"Many of these films flirt around with accepted immorality and illicit sex, only to have some accident happen so the act is not carried out," he said. "'Under the Yum-Yum Tree' was one of those; it was saved only by a good speech that indicated that the situation had been immoral.

"Our problem is how the subject is treated. Films like 'Love With a Proper Stranger,' 'Tom Jones' and 'The L-Shaped Room' have treated touchy subjects in an artistic manner. But some supposedly adult films are merely adulterous."

The legion's function is not merely negative, Msgr. Little said. It also confers an accolade on films worthy of family patronage. Recipients have been "To Kill a Mockingbird" and various Disney offerings.

Silly Overcall Gets Punished

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the nicest features of the St. Paul, Minn., Winter Carnival Bridge tourney is that Leo and Reine Seewald will be helping out the tournament committee and in general making everything as pleasant as possible for the players.

Leo was elected president of the American Contract Bridge League in December, but the only change in the family outlook will be that he and Reine will work a trifle harder if possible.

South's two club bid is one of those silly overcalls. He is not going anywhere with his minor suit and should not take a chance of getting into real trouble. Leo, sitting West, had one of those perfect doubles and South was thoroughly punished when Reine found the killing defense.

Her jack of spades held the first trick and Reine promptly laid down the ace of diamonds. There was no hurry about giving Leo a spade ruff.

Leo signaled come-on with the seven and Reine played her nine of diamonds. Leo took his king and gave her a ruff. Reine still did not lead another spade. Instead she led the three of hearts.

South had already lost a spade, two diamonds and a diamond ruff. He still had to lose another spade, three trumps and a heart so that the total cost of his overcall was 1,100 points.

Of cours, this did not happen in a St. Paul tournament. The Seewalds are never that rough on visitors.

China is said to be the native home of the peach tree.

Mental Test Ordered In Death of Landlady

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — A judge has ordered a psychiatric examination for Clifford J. Wager, 49, of Cortland, accused of manslaughter in the death of his landlady.

County Judge Robert W. Sloan ordered the examination at the request of Dist. Atty. Leslie Briggs. Wager, arraigned Monday, was not asked to enter a plea.

Briggs said Wager had spent time in mental institutions.

Wager is charged with beating Mrs. Lena Abeel, 64, of Homer, on Sept. 13. She died the next day, and Wager was accused of first and second-degree manslaughter.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

NEW YORK (AP)—A larger-than-life group of men and women turned up Monday night on CBS "I've Got a Secret" to help guest Arthur Godfrey celebrate his 30th year in broadcasting.

They were the Lone Ranger, the Green Hornet, Boston Blackie, and the Shadow, on one hand. And Stella Dallas, Our Gal Sunday, Helen Trent and John's Other Wife on the other.

These actors who played the starring roles in the most popular adventure yarns and long-playing soap operas date back to the golden days of radio.

The program was a gay salute to Godfrey — and provided an agreeable change from the usual format of the panel show. The venerable half-hour show presided over by Garry Moore seems to have fallen into a rut lately, with uninteresting secret-holders and silly pranks dreamed up for the long suffering panel.

CBS expects to have its 1964-65 schedule pretty well locked up by the end of this month, unusually early. Program Vice President Michael Dann said there would be at least 15 new programs in the lineup.

These will include six hour-long dramatic shows, each with a continuing character; two new variety shows, a live half-hour comedy panel show, with Alan King, and five half-hour situation comedies.

Dann is convinced that the anthology lacking continuing characters is a television form that cannot survive.

"There just is not enough good writing available to build up a script backlog," he said.

Fifteen new programs also means that a like number of programs will be dropped or will move elsewhere.

Jack Bennny and Danny Thomas already have announced moves to NBC, and others, including "Route 66," the Alfred Hitchcock hour, the Judy Garland Show, are expected to leave, too. Others are in rather shaky condition, including "East Side, West Side." Some, including "Tell It To the Camera" are unlikely candidates for renewal.

Recommended tonight: "Welcome Home, Dan,'" NBC, 9-10 (EST)—a Richard Boone show drama about a television newscaster returning to his home town and an old romance.

Seeks Second Justice For Dutchess County

Hopes that the Ninth District of the State Supreme Court would be able to assign a second justice in Dutchess County by spring for a part of 1964, have been expressed by Justice Elbert T. Gallagher, Katonah.

He is administrative officer for the Hudson Valley Ninth Judicial District in which 13 justices are now assigned. He noted that Dutchess County's only opportunity to obtain a permanently assigned second justice to handle local work is through state legislation.

Make Wintertime Climb

COURMAYEUR, Italy (AP)—Italian alpinists Cosimo Zapelli and Ruggero Pellin have made the first wintertime climb to the northern wall of the "Giant's Tooth" peak in the Mt. Blanc massif.

They took nine hours Monday to conquer the 750-foot wall up to an altitude of about 12,000 feet. This wall has been scaled before only in summertime.

Professions Still Active

DENVER (AP)—Colorado's 36 horseshoers and blacksmith's have formed a statewide association. Their president, Al Pinson, estimated the number of horses in Colorado has doubled in the last 10 years, with at least 30,000 in the Denver area alone.

State Bans Cigarettes

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania has banned cigarette sales at its four hospitals for tuberculosis and may ban them at state general and mental hospitals.

Dr. Charles L. Wilbar, health secretary, said Monday the ban was effective immediately because "smoking is an extremely dangerous habit."

Will Exchange Goods

TOKYO (AP)—Mongolia and Communist China signed a protocol on goods exchange for 1964 in Peking Monday, the New China News Agency reported. It said Mongolia will supply China with horses, sausage casing, pelts and hides in exchange for silks, cement, chemicals, machine accessories and sundry articles.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's economic health is excellent if measured by the most commonly used yardstick, the Gross National Product.

The 1963 figure for this total output of goods and services is put at $585 billion in a preliminary estimate by President Johnson in his economic report to Congress.

This compares with $554.9 billion in 1962, $518.2 billion in 1961 and $502.6 billion in 1960.

The steady gains are impressive in themselves. They cover the period of the 1960-61 recession and the upswing that started March 1961.

But President Johnson says that 1964 is starting with the GNP running at an annual rate of $600 billion or better as a result of greater than expected strength in the final months of 1963.

Hard to Find Pessimist

Businessmen suspect the rise will be moderate in the first three months of this year and pick up in the next three. What happens after that depends on many things, although a real pessimist is hard to find.

Since most businessmen are counting on the Congress to pass a tax-cutting bill in a month or so, after a year of deliberation, they are interested in just what parts of the economy it will help, and how soon.

The President already has told them he hopes to keep government spending in the fiscal year starting July 1 well below $100 billion and the federal deficit to around $5 billion—with the proposed tax cut's effect included. And his budget calls for holding down spending on some defense projects and for some increase in spending in various welfare programs.

For individual industries and companies and for many communities the real measure of the health of their economy is likely to be contained in the specific government spending cuts or increases. And for many it also will be a competition for the extra spending money which the consumers and corportations will have if and when the tax cuts become effective.

Estimate $4 Billion

While the President promises to try to hold down federal spending, the total of outlays this year by state and local governments is sure to rise—some estimate by around $4 billion.

If corporations add their tax savings to the sums they've already announced they'll spend this year in expanding activities and updating facilities, this can give a nice boost to the expanding GNP.

Consumers spent at record rates in December and have indicated they intend to continue improving their standards of living, and taking on additional debt when necesssary to this intention. If the tax cut is spent rather than saved or used to reduce present debts, consumer spending will keep the GNP rising nicely, as the President predicts.

All of this contains lots of "ifs". But today the probabilities seeem to lie on the side of the President's forecast: a growing economy sparked by its own momentum, multiplying the benefits from lower federal taxes and — a little paradoxically — helped by greater state and local spending.

Goldwater's Welfare Ideas Strictly Different Program

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's idea of welfare is not only different from that of Congress but from that of all the administrations, Democratic and Republican, back to the New Deal.

The Arizonan, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, laid down some of his ideas about caring for the poor in a speech last week and, before that, in his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative."

President Johnson expressed his views on tackling poverty in his State of the Union message to Congress last week and again Monday in his economic report. He is going to propose a broad program to fight poverty.

The philosophy of the administrations of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Johnson can be summed up this way: the federal government has a responsibility for the general welfare.

Congress said the same thing in the Employment Act it passed in 1946.

Would Keep It Private

In his book Goldwater said: "Let welfare be a private concern. Let it be promoted by individuals and families, by churches, private hospitals, religious service organizations, community charities and other institutions that have been established for this purpose.

"Finally, if we deem public intervention necessary, let the job be done by local and state authorities that are incapable of accumulating the vast political power that is so inimical to our liberties."

None of the administrations since the New Deal opposed private charities. They just didn't consider private charity enough. In his speech last week, criticizing Johnson's idea of handling poverty, Goldwater left unspoken some of the remarks on poverty contained in his prepared speech.

Some of His Ideas

Here are some of them:

"We are told that many people lack skills and cannot find jobs because they did not have an education. That's like saying people have big feeet because they wear big shoes.

"The fact is that most people who have no skill have had no education for the same reason—low intelligence or low ambition" and that "workers in many other countries cannot earn as much as our welfare clients receive."

For pretty much of its history this country accepted the philosophy of private charity, denying the government had responsibility for people's welfare. This was abandoned in the depression of the New Deal days when welfare programs were adopted and have been national policy ever since.

Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers dwelt at length, in their section of the report, on poverty and the need to combat.

Figures on Poor

They said: "One-fifth of our families and nearly one-fifth of our total population are poor. There were 47 million families in the United States in 1962. Fully 9.3 million, or one-fifth of these families — comprising more than 30 million persons—had total income below $3,000 (and) 5.4 million families, containing more than 17 millllion persons, had total income below $2,000."

While Goldwater talked of poverty as rooted in "low intelligence or low ambition," the President's economic advisers concluded: "Poverty breeds poverty. A poor individual or family has a high probability of staying poor.

"Low incomes carry with them high risks of illness; limitations on mobility; limited access to education and training. Poor parents cannot give their children the opportunities for bettter health and education needed to improve their lot. Thus the cruel legacy of poverty is passed from parents to children."

Over 292,000 Acres Acquired for Recreation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than 292,000 acres of land have been acquired by the state and local governments for recreation since 1961, a report presented to Gov. Rockefeller said today.

The report was submitted by Laurance S. Rockefeller, the governor's brother and chairman of the State Council of Parks, and conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm.

It dealt with the first three years of operation of the state's $100-million bond program to finance land acquisition for parks and other recreation areas.

Panama Airlift Ends

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—An airlift of American dependents from Panama ended Monday with the arrival of 14 evacuees, raising to 1,093 the number of persons brought here since last Wednesday.

The Air Force said 29 other dependents are due here today aboard a commercial airliner. About 150 dependents were to leave Panama today aboard the troopship Upsur, probably for Brooklyn, N.Y., and 40 others are to go to New Orleans aboard the troopship Cristobal.

In his book Goldwater said: "Let welfare be a private concern. Let it be promoted by individuals and families, by churches, private hospitals, religious service organizations, community charities and other institutions that have been established for this purpose.

"Finally, if we deem public intervention necessary, let the job be done by local and state authorities that are incapable of accumulating the vast political power that is so inimical to our liberties."

None of the administrations since the New Deal opposed private charities. They just didn't consider private charity enough. In his speech last week, criticizing Johnson's idea of handling poverty, Goldwater left unspoken some of the remarks on poverty contained in his prepared speech.

Some of His Ideas

Here are some of them:

"We are told that many people lack skills and cannot find jobs because they did not have an education. That's like saying people have big feeet because they wear big shoes.

"The fact is that most people who have no skill have had no education for the same reason—low intelligence or low ambition" and that "workers in many other countries cannot earn as much as our welfare clients receive."

For pretty much of its history this country accepted the philosophy of private charity, denying the government had responsibility for people's welfare. This was abandoned in the depression of the New Deal days when welfare programs were adopted and have been national policy ever since.

Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers dwelt at length, in their section of the report, on poverty and the need to combat.

Figures on Poor

They said: "One-fifth of our families and nearly one-fifth of our total population are poor. There were 47 million families in the United States in 1962. Fully 9.3 million, or one-fifth of these families — comprising more than 30 million persons—had total income below $3,000 (and) 5.4 million families, containing more than 17 million persons, had total income below $2,000."

While Goldwater talked of poverty as rooted in "low intelligence or low ambition," the President's economic advisers concluded: "Poverty breeds poverty. A poor individual or family has a high probability of staying poor.

"Low incomes carry with them high risks of illness; limitations on mobility; limited access to education and training. Poor parents cannot give their children the opportunities for bettter health and education needed to improve their lot. Thus the cruel legacy of poverty is passed from parents to children."

Over 292,000 Acres Acquired for Recreation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than 292,000 acres of land have been acquired by the state and local governments for recreation since 1961, a report presented to Gov. Rockefeller said today.

The report was submitted by Laurance S. Rockefeller, the governor's brother and chairman of the State Council of Parks, and conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm.

It dealt with the first three years of operation of the state's $100-million bond program to finance land acquisition for parks and other recreation areas.

Panama Airlift Ends

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—An airlift of American dependents from Panama ended Monday with the arrival of 14 evacuees, raising to 1,093 the number of persons brought here since last Wednesday.

The Air Force said 29 other dependents are due here today aboard a commercial airliner. About 150 dependents were to leave Panama today aboard the troopship Upsur, probably for Brooklyn, N.Y., and 40 others are to go to New Orleans aboard the troopship Cristobal.

Q: My daughter will have a birthday soon. Her aunts always give her presents on her birthday. There are certain things that she can use and I wondered if it would be proper to mention a few of these things to them rather than have them buy things that she does not need?

A: If your daughter's aunts are your own sisters, you surely can say to them, "If you are thinking of giving Mary anything for her birthday, I know she would love to have such and such." But if they are your in-laws, it will be better to say nothing unless they ask your advice.

Navy Blue Is Back For Spring Clothes; By De Barentzen

By LOUISE HICKMAN
AP Fashion Writer

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—An old technique transformed with Patrick de Barentzen's new "fresh look" was big news today at the Florence spring and summer fashion showings.

De Barentzen thrilled viewers Monday night with a collection featuring that old favorite, navy blue, for spring.

Once upon a time navy and spring were inseparable. They became such a dependable twosome that eventually the color lost its popularity. De Barentzen's collection was predominantly navy and white.

There was linen galore. Cap-sleeved linen dresses with scooped cowl necks and wide, soft calfskin belts for contrast. Skirts were straight but gentle.

Linen suits had long, fitted jackets and straight skirts, or short square jackets and smooth-hipped, pleated skirts.

De Barentzen's silhouette had points in common with that shown by Antonelli earlier in the day. Close, high bodices rounded out in a long smooth line over the hips, particularly in the long jacket suits.

Some high-waisted coats had this look, too, but most were nearly a slim reefer, fitted and very slightly flared.

Long pea jackets ranged from black linen to white organdy.

The slender high-bosomed look was worked out variously for evening. Empire bodices topped stiff cones or simple tubes. There were long shaped tunics, skimming over narrow skirts, and curvy, willowy gored princess types.

The bosom-baring bodice slash looks like it's in. Antonelli liked it and so does De Barentzen.

A small amount of plain left-over cooked vegetables in the refrigerator? Mix with shredded green cabbage, julienne strips of baked ham or cooked smoked tongue and French dressing or mayonnaise for an excellent sandwich filling or salad.

Featherweight Silks Are Pucci Featured Materials in Italy

By LOUISE HICKMAN
AP Fashion Writer

FLORENCE (AP)—High fashion shows got off to a glorious start in Florence today, with Emilio Pucci and Antonellli initiating the series.

After a Sunday of Boutique presentations, high fashion took the stage in the spring and summer showings at the Pitti Palace.

Pucci, who still designs although he now is a member of Parliament, showed both boutique and couture wear.

The pyrotechnics of Pucci's boutique put his staid couture collection completely in the shade. Dazzling, indescribable prints on featherweight silks were basics for his boutique clothes. He used them for long slips of dresses that swirled around the ankles in a harem drape, and for deep bat wing pullovers with crystal-clasped shirt cuffs.

Adding riches to richness, he retraced his fabulous prints in shimmering spangles and crystal for the ultimate in at-home wear.

Antonelli presented a slim, chrysailis silhouette. Concave through the rib cage. It is rounded out above the waist into straight skirts.

Soft silks were used for sleeveless, cowl - neck blouses that folded over suit skirts, and for close, supple dresses that went under smooth or ribbed wool coats.

Pale to bright acid greens and pinks were the Antonelli colors.

De Barentzen shows tonight. The Florence showings continue through Thursday.

Egg noodles make a fine accompaniment to pot roast, and you can use the fine, medium or broad variety.

Add a pinch of ginger and one of nutmeg plus sugar for sweetening to a half pint of heavy cream that is to be whipped and served atop a mildy-flavored pumpkin pie.

KHS, Port Jervis Set For Contest Tonight

Relegated now to the role of spoilers, Kingston High cagers will attempt to do just that tonight as they host once-beaten Port Jervis in a DUSO encounter. Game time at the Field House is set for 7:45 with the jayvee contest getting underway at 6:30.

In other DUSO action, Newburgh's league leading Goldbacks play at Monticello. This afternoon, Poughkeepsie is at Roosevelt while tonight Minisink Valley plays at New Paltz and Pine Plains visits Wappingers.

Port has 2-1 record in the City division of the league and is unbeaten in the Village division. Pat Farace, who sat out last season because of an illness, is back at the helm of the Raiders. The visitors have a high scoring aggregation, paced by Ricky Spears of football fame.

The locals are at 2-3 and will be trying to rebound from that 55-39 defeat at Newburgh last Friday.

After tonight's encounter, the Maroon cagers will be idle until next Tuesday, when they face Our Lady of Lourdes.

Russian Team Early Favorite To Capture Winter Olympics

By JOHN JACKSON

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—With eight days to go before the Jan. 29 opening of the Winter Olympics one thing seems certain—Russia should have no trouble collecting the gold medal in hockey.

The names of Czechoslovakia, Sweden, the United States and Canada are being bandied around by local hockey experts but all agree Russia is the team to beat.

The USSR squad is the reigning Olympic and world champions. This winter the Russians completed a highly successful tour of the U.S. and Canada, and swept all before them in Europe.

The top hockey teams have yet to arrive in Innsbruck but the Olympic Village is rapidly filling with other competitors.

In Second Runs

All the bobsled squads have arrived and today will have their second training runs on the Olympic course at Igls. Monday's two-man times were fast and only the United States had a mishap.

John Handley, 40, an ex-Marine from Malone, N.Y., fell from a sled piloted by Charles McDonald, 31, also from Malone. He was not hurt and will take part in the four-man run today.

At Seefeld the Nordic cross country and ski jump teams from Switzerland, West Germany and Russia are expected to have their first test of the course. East Germany, Finland and some of the Russian women already have tried out the course.

Last to arrive will be the skiers who have decided to stay with the snow in Italy and other European ski resorts, rather than risk restricted training in Innsbruck.

McDole Heads Wawarsing Club

Richard McDole was elected and installed as president of the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Association at the club's annual meeting at Honk Lake clubhouse.

Other officers elected were: John Gilette, first vice president; Elwood Hoff, second vice president; secretary, Vernon J. Kelder (11th term); William Spencer, treasurer.

Elsworth McDole was elected director for three years. Holdover directors are: Frank Wintish, Kenneth Horning. Richard Craft, outgoing president, automatically becomes a director.

James A. Innes was named membership chairman.

The club voted to invite the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County to hold its April meeting at the Honk Lake clubhouse.

Wilt Shrinks, But Holds Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Deduct 11 points from the average of most basketball players and they'd be in trouble. Not so with Wilt Chamberlain, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer.

The San Francisco Warrior star was leading the league's point-makers with a 46.2 average a year ago. His production has slipped to 35.3 this season—a drop of nearly 11 points. So where does that leave him in the scoring parade?

Still on top, that's where.

Wilt, whose .522 field goal percentage is tops in that department, too, holds better than a five point lead on Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson who has a 29.9 average. Robertson leads the league in assists with 10.4 per game.

Derby Scratch

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Hurry To Market, the big colt who won laurels as the nation's top 2-year-old in 1963, has been pulled out of the Kentucky Derby because of a hoof injury.

Trainer Dave Erb said Monday that barring a miracle, Hurry To Market may be away for at least six months.

Edwards Signs Reds Contract

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's Johnny Edwards, the busiest catcher in the major leagues last year and the only player benched by an umpire, is the first member of the Reds to sign his 1964 baseball contract.

Edwards, a 25-year-old left-handed batter who has improved in each of his three years in the majors, caught 148 games last season and led the National League with 1,101 total chances, 1,008 putouts and probably the most embarrassing incident of the season.

That came at the All-Star game in Cleveland, where Edwards became conspicious by his presence.

Ed Bailey had started behind the plate for the National Leaguers, and in the bottom of the third inning, Manager Al Dark decided to make a switch. In went Edwards. And out he came, just as promptly. Then Dark came out of the dugout. And Bailey went into the game.

Soar Explains

Umpire Hank Soar explained to Dark that all starters, except pitchers, must play at least the first three innings.

Besides, Edwards, 18 other players signed Monday—the Los Angeles Dodgers again No. 1 on a quantity basis with seven. Agreeing to terms with the world champions were infielders Dick Tracewski and Derrell Griffith, pitchers Nick Willhite, Ken Rowe, Norm Koch and Larry Staab and first baseman-outfielder Wes Parker.

The Chicago Cubs signed pitchers Fred Burdette, Wayne Carlander and Wayne Shurr and infielder Leo Burke. Minnesota's Twins signed second baseman Bernie Allen, infielder John Goryl and pitcher John Nieson.

The New York Yankees got pitchers Bill Stafford and Howard Kitt to agree to terms. The Cleveland Indians received a signed contract from outfielder Al Smith and the Philadelphia Phillies signed outfielder Alex Johnson.

Old Timer Event In Saugerties

Something new to the Saugerties sports scene—an Old Timer's Sports Award Dinner, has been scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 29, at the VFW Hall. This first annual event, sponsored by the South Side Men's Club, will honor several former athletes.

Members of the awards committee are Bud Brown, Jim Gage, Vince Ferraro, Ed Burch, Chet Swart, Phil Breithaupt, Bill Legg, Bob Reynolds, Bob Miser.

Tickets for the event will be limited to 200 and may be purchased from committee members or any member of the club.

Lack of Snow Is Major Obstacle At Winter Games

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Snow — or rather the lack of it — remained a major obstacle today as the Winter Olympics countdown began. But Olympic athletes at other European staging areas had plenty of the white stuff for the weekend's slate of final tune-ups.

Clear skies at snow-short Innsbruck spurred a step-up of efforts to "build" the necessary snow and ice cover for the Games' opening — now 10 days away. Meanwhile skiers prepped in nearby Spittal, in Switzerland and Italy and speed skaters competed in Norway under excellent conditions before heading for the Olympic village early next week.

Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., leads a strong U.S. contingent in Sunday's women's ski races at Spittal. Miss Saubert won the special slalom event at Bad Gastein Thursday and has emerged as a gold medal threat. France's Goitschel sisters, Marielle and Christine, and Austria's Traudl Hecher are the other standouts in a field from 14 countries.

At La Brassus, Switzerland, John Balfanz of Minneapolis, Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, Minn., and Ansten Samuelstuen of Boulder, Colo., are the top American entrants in Sunday's special ski jumping event. Missing will be thepowerful Scandinavian bloc. Japanese jumpers impressed in workouts Friday. A cross-country ski race also is scheduled.

Bill Marolt of Aspen, Colo., was the first of 80 skiers from 18 nations to start in the upgraded Tre-Tre downhill test at Madonna Di Campiglio, Italy, today.

The Tre-Tre, normally a minor meet composed of downhill, giant slalom and special slalom races, was elevated to major status and limited to downhill competition. Lack of snowfall on Austrian courses had left the skiers short on downhill practice.

Bud Werner, top-rated American, and his mates expected their performances in the Tre-Tre would lead to a revision of U.S. skiers' Olympic starting positions. The International Ski Federation had indicated the Americans, ignored in original seedings, would be moved up on the basis of their showings since arriving in Europe.

Speedballs from 11 nations were set to clash tonight in the European speed skating championships at Oslo, Norway. The Russians were favo said W

Police said Kwandrans told ed but 1963olice dr PL)Ren)T world champion Jonny Nilsson of Sweden had strong backing.

American toboggan and bobsled teams will arrive at the Olympic village Sunday. The former sport, known as "luge" in Europe, will be making its Olympic debut.

Finns, Russians, Germans, Austrians and North Koreans—all early arrivals at the Olympic site — tackled the ski trails in Friday drills. The skiers reported cross-country runs were generally in good condition.

Sled courses also are improved after a drop in temperatures but the skimpy snowfall has left downhill and slalom ski runs in poor shape.

Gubner Spans Country In Search of Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The world record for the shot put is 65 feet 10½ inches. Gary Gubner plans on throws from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Not that he really plans on throwing a shot that far. Not really. But his doubleheader plan is a little on the unique side. It works like this:

Gubner, who owns the indoor record at 64-11¾, plans on competing in two meets—one in New York and one on Los Angeles—on Feb. 8. Jet plane travel is the answer.

In the latter one he'll challenge Dallas Long, the outdoor record holder at 65-10½ and the Olympic favorite and endanger his streak of 21 consecutive indoor victories.

Witaconis Picked on Little All America

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Witaconis of Scranton, who made the team as a junior last year, was picked today for the third Little All-America basketball straight week as a member of the weekly small college All-East team of the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Witaconis scored 67 points in two gams last wk, 12 of thm in the three overtime periods it took to beat King's.

Two other high scoring forwards, Bob Simpson of St. Lawrence and Howie Gulker of Adelphi and two back court stars who did their best work in the late stages of games, Ray Haesler of Rider and Steve Smith of Brandeis, completed the team.

LOS ANGELES—The Pro Bowl could eliminate a lot of the grumbling by players on the team selections—they think there's political hanky-panky—by announcing the exact number of votes polled by the men for each position . . . by having the coaches vote to break ties (Commish Pete Rozelle makes the choice now) . . . and by eliminating the vote of the Pro Bowl promoter . . .

Take it from us, They didn't use a simple spray to get Y. A. Tittle in shape for the second half of the NFL championship game . . . They jabbed him with a needle to deaden the pain of the strained knee ligaments . . . on which he's still limping . . .

John Wooden

Coach Johnny Wooden of the No. 1 (nationally) UCLA basketball team is a cagey guy (get it?) . . . As the undefeated Bruins faced the second half of the season, with only weak coast teams left on the schedule (leaving a sweep in prospect), he would admit the only thing big about a weekend sweep of USC was that it gave them No. 13 in a row . . . Wooden also doesn't rate Walt Hazzard, the prospective All-American guard who makes the team go, as the best backcourt man he has coached in the Westwood campus . . .

A big money-making jockey is headed for real trouble . . . Seems he has neglected the simple matter of filing tax returns these past few years when he was in the chips. . . .

If Lou Groza, the oldest active player in pro football, loses his job as the kicker for the Cleveland Browns next year, it'll be a real twist. A few years ago a friend sent a kid down from Michigan to visit Lou at his home in Berea, O., for some tips on place-kicking. The boy went on to a career at Ohio State . . . and now Dick Van Raaphorst has been drafted by the Browns as a kicking specialist to challenge Lou for a job . . .

One of the flops of the pro basketball season is Art Heyman, the all-everything from Duke who is approaching all-nothing for the Knicks . . . and Jerry West, the brilliant sharp-shooter of the Lakers points out that Art's trouble is a lack of quickness to keep up with the NBA swifties . . . He's trying to do it on strength as he did in college. . . .

Don Shinnick, a non-violent man who works for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, has to reconcile his church work with his role as a violent linebacker for the Baltimore Colts. And Mike Ditka, the tough tight end of the Chicago Bears, helped him do it in the second game last season . . . "Mike wears only a single bar on his helmet," related Don, "so I yielded to impulse and thought I could give him a good whack. But as I came up with my elbows to strike, I lost my balance. Mike drove me back and down into the ground and tromped all over me. That taught me something about life. I wrote Mike a letter telling him about it, too." . . .

Mike Pyle, who shares the offensive captaincy of the Bears with Ditka, comes from Yale . . . and has found recognition tough for a kid who has been a pro only two years. Against San Francisco, late in the first half, the Bear center rushed up to the referee to stop the clock, by asking for a measurement. The official looked at apple-cheek Mike and growled, "G'wan, only the captain can ask for that." . . .

Between you'n'me, isn't the NFL courting public criticism if it persists in its investigation of a legal right to be paid for the games that were TV-cancelled the weekend of the President Kennedy assassination? . . . and didn't one club threaten to ask for interest on the unpaid sum? . . .

438 Arclighters

Overtime Night Shift For National League

CINCINNATI, (AP)—The National League's "night shift" will be working at an all-time record pace during the 1964 baseball season.

The 1964 schedule released today shows the 10 clubs in the league have scheduled 438 games under the lights as compared with the previous record of 421 set last year.

Actually, 423 night games were played last year because of makeup of postponed games. The 1963 night contest drew 6,324,616 of the league's total attendance of 11,382,227.

Operation of the Houston Colts at home will be almost entirely under the lights. The schedule calls for 77 night games at Houston and only four afternoon games. Twelve of the night games will be on Sundays under the plan by which the Colts can play on Sunday until their new domed stadium is completed, probably in 1965.

Late Opening

The league will have its latest opening since 1958 when the opening date was April 15. This year the official opening will be April 14 but, following the custom that the Cincinnati Reds always open the season at home, they will play their first game on April 13 against Houston.

All of the other clubs will swing into action the next day with New York at Philadelphia, Chicago at Pittsburgh, St. Louis at Los Angeles and Milwaukee at San Francisco. The games at Philadelphia and Los Angeles will be played at night.

Second Opener

The so-called "second openers" will be scattered over the period from April 16 to April 22. Houston will have its first home game on April 16 against Milwaukee. Pittsburgh will be at New York and Philadelphia will be at Chicago on April 17.

The game at New York will mark the opening of the Mets' new Shea Stadium in Flushing Meadows.

The last two clubs to get into action in their home parks will be Milwaukee at St. Louis on April 22. San Francisco will be at Milwaukee and Los Angele at St. Louis for a night game.

As a result of the late start the season will not end until Oct. 4.

DePaul Makes It With 12-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The quickest road to a berth in The Associated Press' weekly basketball poll is the one paved with victories, but DePaul was beginning to wonder.

The Blue Demons had won 11 straight games in what was to have been a rebuilding season but were unable to crack the Top Ten. Then last week DePaul whipped highly regarded Dayton 89-83 and presto, the door to the Top Ten finally swung open.

A special panel of writers and broadcasters awarded the No. 1 spot to DePaul this week after Cincinnati obligingly had dropped a pair of games and qualified for dismissal. The Bearcats, beaten by Bradley and Drake, replaced DePaul among the also-rans this week.

Bruins Lead

UCLA Continues to lead the poll but there was plenty of shuffling in the spots behind the undefeated Bruins, who've won 15 straight. The Uclans collected 38 first-place votes on the 43 ballots and accumulated 423 points.

Michigan jumped a notch to second place with 350 points. Loyola of Chicago, idle last week, slipped to third with 294. Points were aworded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc.

Davidson Fourth

Undefeated Davidson moved up to fourth place ahead of Kentucky while Vanderbilt maintained its No. 6 spot. Villanova and Duke each jumped two slots—the Wildcats to No. 7 and the Blue Devils to No. 8. Oregon State, No. 7 a week ago, slipped to 10th place, sharing it with a returnee, Wichita.

The top ten with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through Saturday, Jan. 18, and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

		W	L	Pts.
1.	UCLA (38)	15	0	423
2.	Michigan (2)	12	1	350
3.	Chicago Loyola	11	1	294
4.	Davidson (3)	14	0	270
5.	Kentucky	13	2	.251
6.	Vanderbilt	13	1	198
7.	Villanova	12	1	123
8.	Duke	10	3	110
9.	DePaul	12	0	84
10.	(Tie) Oregon St.	14	3	72

Soccer Squad In Regular Drills; Seeking Juniors

Although league play has been suspended until next spring, the Kingston Sport Club's soccer squad is practicing regularly during the winter.

Coach Bob Graves' Central New York Soccer Association champions are working out every Thursday between 7 and 9 p. m. at the state armory.

The drills are for all first and second team personnel. Any junior between the ages of 10 and 18 interested in soccer is invited to participate. Eight juniors are working out at present and the KSP officials are anxious to get enough players to form a junior team.

Juniors and students may become dues-free members of the Kingston Sport Club, so long as they observe the rules and regulations. Junior practice is held weekly on Thursday 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The KSC's first team is still in the running for the Dr. Manning Cup series title. Play has been suspended until good weather arrives. The second team is involved in Knickerbocker Cup play.

The state league is expected to resume operations in April.

Glenerie Club Bridge Results

Miss Dorothy Maroon of Kingston and Charles Hobbs, Poughkeepsie, led the North-South side with 61 percent in the Glenerie Bridge Club's monthly Master Point tournament.

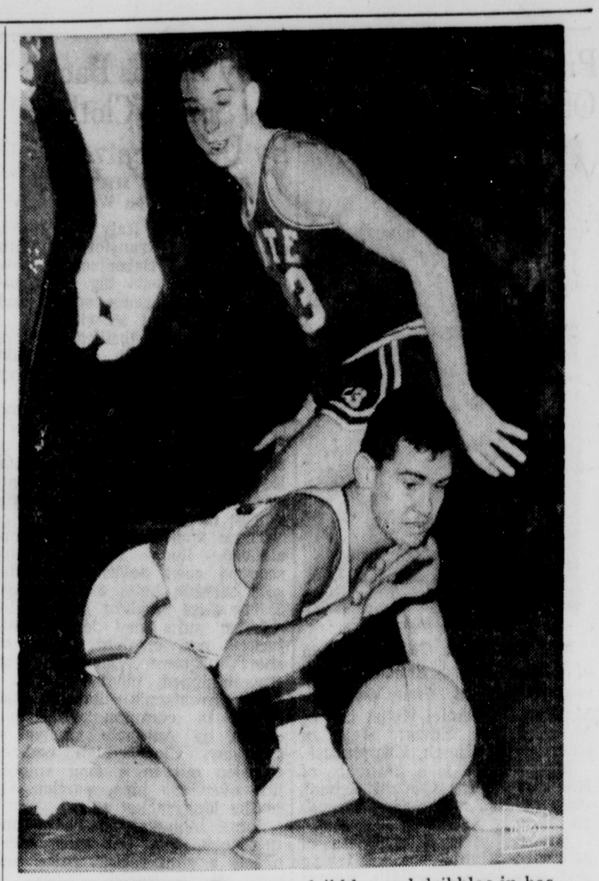

Ralph Wesselmann, Shokan, and Henry Berleth, Woodstock, paced the East-West division on 63 percent. Twenty four boards were in play in a Mitchell movement.

The runnersup were:

North-South: Miss Marie Degenhart, Poughkeepsie, and Milton Daskal, Kerhonson, 58½ percent; Roly Wulff and Joseph Mautner, Kingston, 56 percent; Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Lodge, Port Ewen, 54 percent.

East-West: Henry Bahret-John Chapman, Poughkeepsie, 56 percent; Dr. John Comstock, Kingston, and Robert Shea, Poughkeepsie, 54 percent; Mr. and Mrs. Hilden Rector, Poughkeepsie, 53½ percent.

A Fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

LITTLE DRIBBLE—There are dribbles and dribbles in basketball, but, except for the Harlem Globetrotters, there probably never was another like this. Charlie Spooner of Georgia Tech lost his balance as he tried to control a rebound and this was the result. Mississippi State's Donnie Kessinger seems surprised at the antic in Atlanta.

Professional Athlete Award Goes to Koufax

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Sandy Koufax set another record Monday night in winning the S. Rae Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award and the $10,000 diamond-studded belt that goes with it.

The 28-year old left-handed pitching star of the Los Angeles Dodgers received a record 106 first place votes from a nationwide panel of 125 sports writers and sportscasters in the 14th annual poll.

Nearest to him in first place votes were Y. A. Tittle, the All-National Football League quarterback of the New York Giants, with nine, and Jimmy Brown, the Cleveland Browns' NFL rushing leader, with five.

Rich Prize

Koufax, the eighth baseball player to capture the rich prize and the second straight Dodger to win, received a total of 344 points on a basis of three points for first, two for second and one for third. Tittle was second with 158, golfer Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and PGA champion, third with 78 points and Brown fourth with 61 points. Nicklaus had just one first place vote.

Boros at 38

Then, in order, came golfer Julius Boros, 38; basketball star Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals, 18; auto racer Parnelli Jones, 17; Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings hockey team and bowler Dick Weber, nine each; boxing champions Joey Giardello and Sonny Liston and basketball star Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics, six each; pitcher Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox, three; golfer Arnold Palmer, the 1960 Hickok winner, two, and jockeys Walt Blum and Bill Shoemaker and golfer Tony Lema, one each.

Boros, Robertson, Weber and Giardello each got one first place vote.

The announcement of Koufax's award and the presentation of the trophy was made at the annual Rochester Press-Radio Club dinner at the Powers Hotel. Proceeds of the dinner went to charity.

Big Mitts Approved

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Major league catchers have received a one-year extension on the use of oversize mitts in handling knuckleball pitchers. The Baseball Rules Committee decided to delay the restriction until the 1965 season so that manufacturers can deplete inventories.

Benedict Takes USGA Office At Annual Meeting Saturday

Clarence W. (Gus) Benedict of White Plains is scheduled to take office as president of the United States Golf Association at the USGA's 70th annual meeting Saturday at the Biltmore Hotel in New York City.

Benedict, a chemical engineer and member of the Winged Foot Golf Club at Mammaroneck, has served as vice president of the Association since 1960 and as a member of the executive committee for eight years. He succeeds John M. Winters Jr., of Tulsa, Okla., who is retiring after serving as president for two years.

Other officers for 1964 will be: Vice Presidents—William Ward Foshay, New York, and Hord W. Hardin, St. Louis; Secretary — Philip H. Strubing, Philadelphia; Treasurer — Robert K. Howse, Wichita, Kan.

Two New Films

The annual meeting will begin at 9:45 a. m. with the showing of the two newest color motion pictures from the USGA Film Library — "The Open: Ouimet and Boros at Brookline," and "The Rules of Golf: Hazards." The business session will begin at 11 a. m. followed by a reception and luncheon at 12:30 p. m. for delegates, committee members, and representatives of the press and radio.

On Friday, January 24, the day preceding, the annual Green Section Educational Program of the USGA will be held at the Biltmore. The subject of the day-long program will be "The Putting Green."

Among the speakers and those participating in panel discussions will be William P. (Willie) Turnesia, of White Plains, N. Y., USGA Amateur Champion in 1938 and 1948 and British Amateur Champion in 1947; Mrs. Allison Choate, of Rye, N. Y., 1963 USGA Senior Women's Amateur Champion, and experts from the USGA Green Section Staff and Committee.

Winners of the Bob Jones Award "For Distinguished Sportsmanship in Golf" and the Green Section Award "For Distinguished Service to Golf Through Work With Turfgrass" will be announced during the two meetings. The 1963 Bob Jones Award winner was Miss Patty Berg; the Green Section Award recipient O. J. Noer of Milwaukee.

Seat Belts New Safety Device For Hot Coaches

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Seat belts are regarded as a safety device. So is so-called safe scheduling for college basketball teams. Sometimes, however, there are nights when nothing works.

Like Monday night. A seat belt failed to help Wake Forest and a safe schedule failed to help national champion Chicago Loyola. Each was the victim of a shocking upset.

Loyola, ranked third in the nation and winner of 11 and 12 starts, supposedly had a safe schedule in its trip to Memphis State, which had only an 8-6 record. Memphis State won 83-65.

And Wake Forest Coach Bones McKinney, known for his jumping, shouting and pacing on the sidelines, decided to strap himself to the bench with a car seat safety belt when his Deacons played Maryland at Winston-Salem, N.C. Maryland won 91-82.

Those were the only two major college games scheduled Monday. Many of the nation's basketball teams are taking a break for semester examinations.

Only two are scheduled tonight. Those include Minnesota's visit to second-ranked Michigan in a vital Big Ten game and Purdue vs. Notre Dame at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Salvino Winner At Jacksonville

AKRON, O.—Carmen Salvino, the Chicago veteran, was the star of the Professional Bowlers Association nationally televised tournament finals at Jacksonville, Fla.

The tall, Windy City star outclassed a field of the nation's top performers to win the $4,000 first prize from runnerup Dick Downey of Bloomfield, N. J. in the finals of the $25,000 Colt Lanes Open.

Salvino watched while Downey, Billy Welu of St. Louis and Billy Hardwick of San Mateo, Cal., went at each other in round robin play. Downey defeated Welu, 224-211, and Hardwick, 192-179 Welu knocked off Hardwick, 234-179.

This got Downey into the finals. against Salvino, but the husky Chicago ace wasn't to be denied his fourth PBA championship as he uncorked a sparkling 226 to Downey's 180 in the title game.

Downey took the second-place prize of $2,000, Welu was third for $1,500 and Hardwick received $1,300 for his fourth-place finish.

The PBA moves to Hialeah, Fla., for its next television production Saturday.

KHS, Port Jervis Set For Contest Tonight

Relegated now to the role of spoilers, Kingston High cagers will attempt to do just that tonight as they host once-beaten Port Jervis in a DUSO encounter. Game time at the Field House is set for 7:45 with the jayvee contest getting underway at 6:30.

In other DUSO action, Newburgh's league leading Goldbacks play at Monticello. This afternoon, Poughkeepsie is at Roosevelt while tonight Minisink Valley plays at New Paltz and Pine Plains visits Wappingers.

Port has 2-1 record in the City division of the league and is unbeaten in the Village division. Pat Farace, who sat out last season because of an illness, is back at the helm of the Raiders. The visitors have a high scoring aggregation, paced by Ricky Spears of football fame.

The locals are at 2-3 and will be trying to rebound from that 55-39 defeat at Newburgh last Friday.

After tonight's encounter, the Maroon cagers will be idle until next Tuesday, when they face Our Lady of Lourdes.

NEW YORK (AP)—Deduct 11 points from the average of most basketball players and they'd be in trouble. Not so with Wilt Chamberlain, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer.

Still on top, that's where.

Wilt, whose .522 field goal percentage is tops in that department, too, holds better than a five point lead on Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson who has a 29.9 average. Robertson leads the league in assists with 10.4 per game.

Edwards Signs Reds Contract

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's Johnny Edwards, the busiest catcher in the major leagues last year and the only player benched by an umpire, is the first member of the Reds to sign his 1964 baseball contract.

Edwards, a 25-year-old left-handed batter who has improved in each of his three years in the majors, caught 148 games last season and led the National League with 1,101 total chances, 1,008 putouts and probably the most embarrassing incident of the season.

That came at the All-Star game in Cleveland, where Edwards became conspicious by his presence.

Ed Bailey had started behind the plate for the National Leaguers, and in the bottom of the third inning, Manager Al Dark decided to make a switch. In went Edwards. And out he came, just as promptly. Then Dark came out of the dugout. And Bailey went into the game.

Soar Explains

Umpire Hank Soar explained to Dark that all starters, except pitchers, must play at least the first three innings.

Besides, Edwards, 18 other players signed Monday—the Los Angeles Dodgers again No. 1 on a quantity basis with seven. Agreeing to terms with the world champions were infielders Dick Tracewski and Derrell Griffith, pitchers Nick Willhite, Ken Rowe, Norm Koch and Larry Staab and first baseman-outfielder Wes Parker.

The Chicago Cubs signed pitchers Fred Burdette, Wayne Carlander and Wayne Shurr and infielder Leo Burke. Minnesota's Twins signed second baseman Bernie Allen, infielder John Goryl and pitcher John Nieson.

The New York Yankees got pitchers Bill Stafford and Howard Kitt to agree to terms. The Cleveland Indians received a signed contract from outfielder Al Smith and the Philadelphia Phillies signed outfielder Alex Johnson.

Old Timer Event In Saugerties

Something new to the Saugerties sports scene—an Old Timer's Sports Award Dinner, has been scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 29, at the VFW Hall. This first annual event, sponsored by the South Side Men's Club, will honor several former athletes.

Members of the awards committee are Bud Brown, Jim Gage, Vince Ferraro, Ed Burch, Chet Swart, Phil Breithaupt, Bill Legg, Bob Reynolds, Bob Miser.

Tickets for the event will be limited to 200 and may be purchased from committee members or any member of the club.

Lack of Snow Is Major Obstacle At Winter Games

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Snow — or rather the lack of it — remained a major obstacle today as the Winter Olympics countdown began. But Olympic athletes at other European staging areas had plenty of the white stuff for the weekend's slate of final tune-ups.

Clear skies at snow-short Innsbruck spurred a step-up of efforts to "build" the necessary snow and ice cover for the Games' opening — now 10 days away. Meanwhile skiers prepped in nearby Spittal, in Switzerland and Italy and speed skaters competed in Norway under excellent conditions before heading for the Olympic village early next week.

Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., leads a strong U.S. contingent in Sunday's women's ski races at Spittal. Miss Saubert won the special slalom event at Bad Gastein Thursday and has emerged as a gold medal threat. France's Goitschel sisters, Marielle and Christine, and Austria's Traudl Hecher are the other standouts in a field from 14 countries.

At La Brassus, Switzerland, John Balfanz of Minneapolis, Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, Minn., and Ansten Samuelstuen of Boulder, Colo., are the top American entrants in Sunday's special ski jumping event. Missing will be thepowerful Scandinavian bloc. Japanese jumpers impressed in workouts Friday. A cross-country ski race also is scheduled.

Bill Marolt of Aspen, Colo., was the first of 80 skiers from 18 nations to start in the upgraded Tre-Tre downhill test at Madonna Di Campiglio, Italy, today.

The Tre-Tre, normally a minor meet composed of downhill, giant slalom and special slalom races, was elevated to major status and limited to downhill competition. Lack of snowfall on Austrian courses had left the skiers short on downhill practice.

Bud Werner, top-rated American, and his mates expected their performances in the Tre-Tre would lead to a revision of U.S. skiers' Olympic starting positions. The International Ski Federation had indicated the Americans, ignored in original seedings, would be moved up on the basis of their showings since arriving in Europe.

Speedballs from 11 nations were set to clash tonight in the European speed skating championships at Oslo, Norway. The Russians were favo said W

Police said Kwandrans told ed but 1963olice dr PL)Ren)T world champion Jonny Nilsson of Sweden had strong backing.

American toboggan and bobsled teams will arrive at the Olympic village Sunday. The former sport, known as "luge" in Europe, will be making its Olympic debut.

Finns, Russians, Germans, Austrians and North Koreans—all early arrivals at the Olympic site — tackled the ski trails in Friday drills. The skiers reported cross-country runs were generally in good condition.

Sled courses also are improved after a drop in temperatures but the skimpy snowfall has left downhill and slalom ski runs in poor shape.

Gubner Spans Country In Search of Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The world record for the shot put is 65 feet 10½ inches. Gary Gubner plans on throws from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Not that he really plans on throwing a shot that far. Not really. But his doubleheader plan is a little on the unique side. It works like this:

Gubner, who owns the indoor record at 64-11¾, plans on competing in two meets—one in New York and one on Los Angeles—on Feb. 8. Jet plane travel is the answer.

In the latter one he'll challenge Dallas Long, the outdoor record holder at 65-10½ and the Olympic favorite and endanger his streak of 21 consecutive indoor victories.

Witaconis Picked on Little All America

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Witaconis of Scranton, who made the team as a junior last year, was picked today for the third Little All-America basketball straight week as a member of the weekly small college All-East team of the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Witaconis scored 67 points in two gams last wk, 12 of thm in the three overtime periods it took to beat King's.

Two other high scoring forwards, Bob Simpson of St. Lawrence and Howie Gulker of Adelphi and two back court stars who did their best work in the late stages of games, Ray Haesler of Rider and Steve Smith of Brandeis, completed the team.

LOS ANGELES—The Pro Bowl could eliminate a lot of the grumbling by players on the team selections—they think there's political hanky-panky—by announcing the exact number of votes polled by the men for each position . . . by having the coaches vote to break ties (Commish Pete Rozelle makes the choice now) . . . and by eliminating the vote of the Pro Bowl promoter . . .

Take it from us, They didn't use a simple spray to get Y. A. Tittle in shape for the second half of the NFL championship game . . . They jabbed him with a needle to deaden the pain of the strained knee ligaments . . . on which he's still limping . . .

John Wooden

Coach Johnny Wooden of the No. 1 (nationally) UCLA basketball team is a cagey guy (get it?) . . . As the undefeated Bruins faced the second half of the season, with only weak coast teams left on the schedule (leaving a sweep in prospect), he would admit the only thing big about a weekend sweep of USC was that it gave them No. 13 in a row . . . Wooden also doesn't rate Walt Hazzard, the prospective All-American guard who makes the team go, as the best backcourt man he has coached in the Westwood campus . . .

A big money-making jockey is headed for real trouble . . . Seems he has neglected the simple matter of filing tax returns these past few years when he was in the chips. . . .

If Lou Groza, the oldest active player in pro football, loses his job as the kicker for the Cleveland Browns next year, it'll be a real twist. A few years ago a friend sent a kid down from Michigan to visit Lou at his home in Berea, O., for some tips on place-kicking. The boy went on to a career at Ohio State . . . and now Dick Van Raaphorst has been drafted by the Browns as a kicking specialist to challenge Lou for a job . . .

One of the flops of the pro basketball season is Art Heyman, the all-everything from Duke who is approaching all-nothing for the Knicks . . . and Jerry West, the brilliant sharp-shooter of the Lakers points out that Art's trouble is a lack of quickness to keep up with the NBA swifties . . . He's trying to do it on strength as he did in college....

Don Shinnick, a non-violent man who works for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, has to reconcile his church work with his role as a violent linebacker for the Baltimore Colts. And Mike Ditka, the tough tight end of the Chicago Bears, helped him do it in the second game last season . . . "Mike wears only a single bar on his helmet," related Don, "so I yielded to impulse and thought I could give him a good whack. But as I came up with my elbows to strike, I lost my balance. Mike drove me back and down into the ground and tromped all over me. That taught me something about life. I wrote Mike a letter telling him about it, too." . . .

Mike Pyle, who shares the offensive captaincy of the Bears with Ditka, comes from Yale . . . and has found recognition tough for a kid who has been a pro only two years. Against San Francisco, late in the first half, the Bear center rushed up to the referee to stop the clock, by asking for a measurement. The official looked at apple-cheek Mike and growled, "G'wan, only the captain can ask for that." . . .

Between you'n'me, isn't the NFL courting public criticism if it persists in its investigation of a legal right to be paid for the games that were TV-cancelled the weekend of the President Kennedy assassination? . . . and didn't one club threaten to ask for interest on the unpaid sum? . . .

Overtime Night Shift For National League

CINCINNATI, (AP)—The National League's "night shift" will be working at an all-time record pace during the 1964 baseball season.

The 1964 schedule released today shows the 10 clubs in the league have scheduled 438 games under the lights as compared with the previous record of 421 set last year.

Actually, 423 night games were played last year because of makeup of postponed games. The 1963 night contest drew 6,324,616 of the league's total attendance of 11,382,227.

Operation of the Houston Colts at home will be almost entirely under the lights. The schedule calls for 77 night games at Houston and only four afternoon games. Twelve of the night games will be on Sundays under the plan by which the Colts can play on Sunday until their new domed stadium is completed, probably in 1965.

Late Opening

The league will have its latest opening since 1958 when the opening date was April 15. This year the official opening will be April 14 but, following the custom that the Cincinnati Reds always open the season at home, they will play their first game on April 13 against Houston.

All of the other clubs will swing into action the next day with New York at Philadelphia, Chicago at Pittsburgh, St. Louis at Los Angeles and Milwaukee at San Francisco. The games at Philadelphia and Los Angeles will be played at night.

Second Opener

The so-called "second openers" will be scattered over the period from April 16 to April 22. Houston will have its first home game on April 16 against Milwaukee. Pittsburgh will be at New York and Philadelphia will be at Chicago on April 17.

The game at New York will mark the opening of the Mets' new Shea Stadium in Flushing Meadows.

The last two clubs to get into action in their home parks will be Milwaukee at St. Louis on April 22. San Francisco will be at Milwaukee and Los Angele at St. Louis for a night game.

As a result of the late start the season will not end until Oct. 4.

DePaul Makes It With 12-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The quickest road to a berth in The Associated Press' weekly basketball poll is the one paved with victories, but DePaul was beginning to wonder.

The Blue Demons had won 11 straight games in what was to have been a rebuilding season but were unable to crack the Top Ten. Then last week DePaul whipped highly regarded Dayton 89-83 and presto, the door to the Top Ten finally swung open.

A special panel of writers and broadcasters awarded the No. 1 spot to DePaul this week after Cincinnati obligingly had dropped a pair of games and qualified for dismissal. The Bearcats, beaten by Bradley and Drake, replaced DePaul among the also-rans this week.

Bruins Lead

UCLA Continues to lead the poll but there was plenty of shuffling in the spots behind the undefeated Bruins, who've won 15 straight. The Uclans collected 38 first-place votes on the 43 ballots and accumulated 423 points.

Michigan jumped a notch to second place with 350 points. Loyola of Chicago, idle last week, slipped to third with 294. Points were awarded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc.

Davidson Fourth

Undefeated Davidson moved up to fourth place ahead of Kentucky while Vanderbilt maintained its No. 6 spot. Villanova and Duke each jumped two slots—the Wildcats to No. 7 and the Blue Devils to No. 8. Oregon State, No. 7 a week ago, slipped to 10th place, sharing it with a returnee, Wichita.

The top ten with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through Saturday, Jan. 18, and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

	W	L	Pts.
1. UCLA (38)	15	0	423
2. Michigan (2)	12	1	350
3. Chicago Loyola	11	1	294
4. Davidson (3)	14	0	270
5. Kentucky	13	2	.251
6. Vanderbilt	13	1	198
7. Villanova	12	1	123
8. Duke	10	3	110
9. DePaul	12	0	84
10. (Tie) Oregon St.	14	3	72
Wichita	13	3	72

Soccer Squad In Regular Drills; Seeking Juniors

Although league play has been suspended until next spring, the Kingston Sport Club's soccer squad is practicing regularly during the winter.

Coach Bob Graves' Central New York Soccer Association champions are working out every Thursday between 7 and 9 p. m. at the state armory.

The drills are for all first and second team personnel. Any junior between the ages of 10 and 18 interested in soccer is invited to participate. Eight juniors are working out at present and the KSP officials are anxious to get enough players to form a junior team.

Juniors and students may become dues-free members of the Kingston Sport Club, so long as they observe the rules and regulations. Junior practice is held weekly on Thursday 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The KSC's first team is still in the running for the Dr. Manning Cup series title. Play has been suspended until good weather arrives. The second team is involved in Knickerbocker Cup play.

The state league is expected to resume operations in April.

Glenerie Club Bridge Results

Miss Dorothy Maroon of Kingston and Charles Hobbs, Poughkeepsie, led the North-South side with 61 percent in the Glenerie Bridge Club's monthly Master Point tournament.

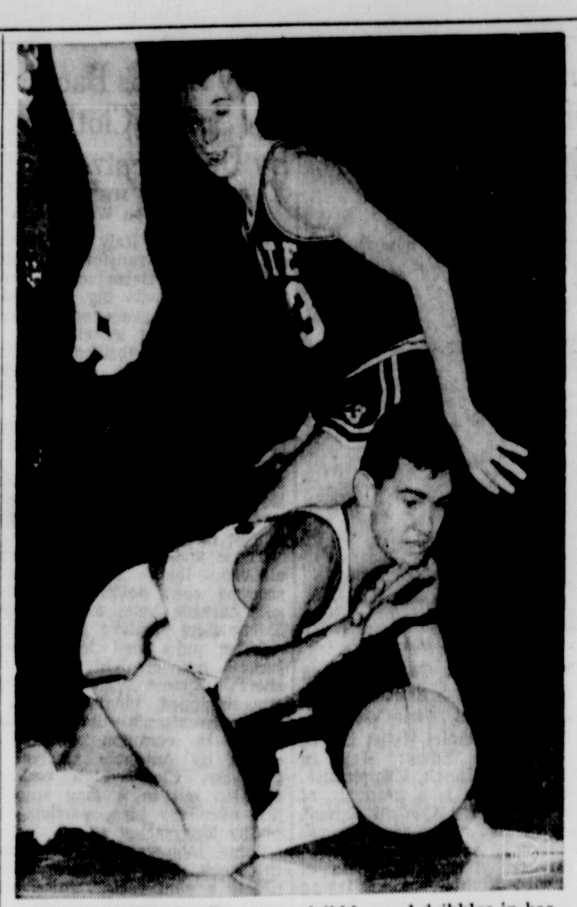

Ralph Wesselmann, Shokan, and Henry Berleth, Woodstock, paced the East-West division on 63 percent. Twenty four boards were in play in a Mitchell movement.

The runnersup were:

North-South: Miss Marie Degenhart, Poughkeepsie, and Milton Daskal, Kerhonson, 58½ percent; Roly Wulff and Joseph Mautner, Kingston, 56 percent; Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Lodge, Port Ewen, 54 percent.

East-West: Henry Bahret-John Chapman, Poughkeepsie, 56 percent; Dr. John Comstock, Kingston, and Robert Shea, Poughkeepsie, 54 percent; Mr. and Mrs. Hilden Rector, Poughkeepsie, 53½ percent.

A Fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

LITTLE DRIBBLE—There are dribbles and dribbles in basketball, but, except for the Harlem Globetrotters, there probably never was another like this. Charlie Spooner of Georgia Tech lost his balance as he tried to control a rebound and this was the result. Mississippi State's Donnie Kessinger seems surprised at the antic in Atlanta.

Professional Athlete Award Goes to Koufax

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Sandy Koufax set another record Monday night in winning the S. Rae Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award and the $10,000 diamond-studded belt that goes with it.

The 28-year old left-handed pitching star of the Los Angeles Dodgers received a record 106 first place votes from a nationwide panel of 125 sports writers and sportscasters in the 14th annual poll.

Nearest to him in first place votes were Y. A. Tittle, the All-National Football League quarterback of the New York Giants, with nine, and Jimmy Brown, the Cleveland Browns' NFL rushing leader, with five.

Rich Prize

Koufax, the eighth baseball player to capture the rich prize and the second straight Dodger to win, received a total of 344 points on a basis of three points for first, two for second and one for third. Tittle was second with 158, golfer Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and PGA champion, third with 78 points and Brown fourth with 61 points. Nicklaus had just one first place vote.

Boros at 38

Then, in order, came golfer Julius Boros, 38; basketball star Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals, 18; auto racer Parnelli Jones, 17; Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings hockey team and bowler Dick Weber, nine each; boxing champions Joey Giardello and Sonny Liston and basketball star Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics, six each; pitcher Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox, three; golfer Arnold Palmer, the 1960 Hickok winner, two, and jockeys Walt Blum and Bill Shoemaker and golfer Tony Lema, one each.

Boros, Robertson, Weber and Giardello each got one first place vote.

The announcement of Koufax's award and the presentation of the trophy was made at the annual Rochester Press-Radio Club dinner at the Powers Hotel. Proceeds of the dinner went to charity.

Big Mitts Approved

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Major league catchers have received a one-year extension on the use of oversize mitts in handling knuckleball pitchers. The Baseball Rules Committee decided to delay the restriction until the 1965 season so that manufacturers can deplete inventories.

Benedict Takes USGA Office At Annual Meeting Saturday

Clarence W. (Gus) Benedict of White Plains is scheduled to take office as president of the United States Golf Association at the USGA's 70th annual meeting Saturday at the Biltmore Hotel in New York City.

Benedict, a chemical engineer and member of the Winged Foot Golf Club at Mammaroneck, has served as vice president of the Association since 1960 and as a member of the executive committee for eight years. He succeeds John M. Winters Jr., of Tulsa, Okla., who is retiring after serving as president for two years.

Other officers for 1964 will be: Vice Presidents—William Ward Foshay, New York, and Hord W. Hardin, St. Louis; Secretary — Philip H. Strubing, Philadelphia; Treasurer — Robert K. Howse, Wichita, Kan.

Two New Films

The annual meeting will begin at 9:45 a. m. with the showing of the two newest color motion pictures from the USGA Film Library — "The Open: Ouimet and Boros at Brookline," and "The Rules of Golf: Hazards." The business session will begin at 11 a. m. followed by a reception and luncheon at 12:30 p. m. for delegates, committee members, and representatives of the press and radio.

On Friday, January 24, the day preceding, the annual Green Section Educational Program of the USGA will be held at the Biltmore. The subject of the day-long program will be "The Putting Green."

Among the speakers and those participating in panel discussions will be William P. (Willie) Turnesia, of White Plains, N. Y., USGA Amateur Champion in 1938 and 1948 and British Amateur Champion in 1947; Mrs. Allison Choate, of Rye, N. Y., 1963 USGA Senior Women's Amateur Champion, and experts from the USGA Green Section Staff and Committee.

Winners of the Bob Jones Award "For Distinguished Sportsmanship in Golf" and the Green Section Award "For Distinguished Service to Golf Through Work With Turfgrass" will be announced during the two meetings. The 1963 Bob Jones Award winner was Miss Patty Berg; the Green Section Award recipient O. J. Noer of Milwaukee.

Seat Belts New Safety Device For Hot Coaches

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Seat belts are regarded as a safety device. So is so-called safe scheduling for college basketball teams. Sometimes, however, there are nights when nothing works.

Like Monday night. A seat belt failed to help Wake Forest and a safe schedule failed to help national champion Chicago Loyola. Each was the victim of a shocking upset.

Loyola, ranked third in the nation and winner of 11 and 12 starts, supposedly had a safe schedule in its trip to Memphis State, which had only an 8-6 record. Memphis State won 83-65.

And Wake Forest Coach Bones McKinney, known for his jumping, shouting and pacing on the sidelines, decided to strap himself to the bench with a car seat safety belt when his Deacons played Maryland at Winston-Salem, N.C. Maryland won 91-82.

Those were the only two major college games scheduled Monday. Many of the nation's basketball teams are taking a break for semester examinations.

Only two are scheduled tonight. Those include Minnesota's visit to second-ranked Michigan in a vital Big Ten game and Purdue vs. Notre Dame at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Salvino Winner At Jacksonville

AKRON, O.—Carmen Salvino, the Chicago veteran, was the star of the Professional Bowlers Association nationally televised tournament finals at Jacksonville, Fla.

The tall, Windy City star outclassed a field of the nation's top performers to win the $4,000 first prize from runnerup Dick Downey of Bloomfield, N. J. in the finals of the $25,000 Colt Lanes Open.

Salvino watched while Downey, Billy Welu of St. Louis and Billy Hardwick of San Mateo, Cal., went at each other in round robin play. Downey defeated Welu, 224-211, and Hardwick, 192-179 Welu knocked off Hardwick, 234-179.

This got Downey into the finals. against Salvino, but the husky Chicago ace wasn't to be denied his fourth PBA championship as he uncorked a sparkling 226 to Downey's 180 in the title game.

Downey took the second-place prize of $2,000, Welu was third for $1,500 and Hardwick received $1,300 for his fourth-place finish.

The PBA moves to Hialeah, Fla., for its next television production Saturday.

Ladewig Eliminated

Lillard and Bopp Lead In All Star Bowling

DALLAS (AP)—Jean Bopp of Milwaukee and Bill Lillard of Dallas will pace a sharply reduced field of survivors into the final day of qualifying at the All Star Bowling Tournament today.

Mrs. Bopp, a housewife, has piled up a record 20-game total of 4195, shattering the previous mark set by Marion Ladewig last year by 10 pins. Mrs. Bopp rolled a record 760 three game series Sunday and came back Monday with four game series of 907 and 807 in the semifinals.

Bobbe North of Pomona, Calif., was in far away second place with a 4009 aggregate. The pretty red-head shot 788 and 795 four game blocks Monday.

Ladewig Eliminated

Mrs. Ladewig, eight time champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., was eliminated Sunday night when she failed to survive the semifinal cut which reduced the women's field from 144 to 48.

Lillard, who won this title in 1956, has amassed a 20-game total of 4363. Lillard rolled a solid 844 four game series Monday in the final block of men's preliminaries.

Mike Chiuchiolo, Patchogue, N.Y., stayed close on the leader's heels with 4346. He shot 839 Monday.

Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., came up with a 905 series in the final block of qualifying, which boosted him to third place with 4334.

Donato Is 35th

Only area bowler to make the semi-finals was Joe Donato of Schenectady, who rolled an 827 series Monday for a 20-game total of 4177 and 35th spot in the 96-bowler semi-finalist field.

Donato hit 225, 176, 215 and 211 for the 827 block.

Legal Troubles Balk Lane's Bid for Lightweight Title

NEW YORK (AP) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz and No. 1 contender Kenny Lane likely will have to punch their way out of some legal skirmishes before they ever get to climb in a ring and throw punches at each other.

The World Boxing Association has been trying to arrange a championship fight between Ortiz, of New York, and Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., for some time. The entire matter seemed settled Saturday but began to get a bit complicated Monday.

Ortiz, boarding a plane in San Juan for a trip to New York, said he would sue the WBA if the organization tries to strip him of his crown for meeting junior lightweight champion Flash Elorde in a title fight.

At the same time, Lane ran into trouble with the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission over a bout with Johnny Bizarro.

Ortiz said he had made a commitment with promoter Lope Sarreal for a February championship fight with Elorde, and will go through with it despite WBA opposition.

Deny Application

The WBA's executive committee denied Saturday an application for a championship fight between Ortiz and Elorde. Instead, the committee approved a contract for a title fight between Ortiz and Lane, to be held April 4, in Puerto Rico.

The Ortiz-Lane contract prohibits Ortiz from defending his title before the match—or against Elorde. The WBA said Ortiz could fight Elorde, but not for the title.

Lane, meanwhile, ran into trouble with the Pennsylvania commission, which said it had received a telegram from Lane's manager, Pete Petroskey, saying Lane could not go through with a fight against Bizarro, scheduled for Jan. 30 in Erie, Pa.

Commission Chairman Frank B. Wildman Jr. said Lane must fulfill the obligation to fight Bizarro or face suspension in Pennsylvania. He added that should Lane fail to meet Bizarro, the commission would take action to have Lane suspended by the WBA.

Hall Controls Vezina Trophy

MONTREAL (AP) — The 11-goal barrage the Boston Bruins unloaded on Toronto goalie Don Simmons Saturday left the Leafs' Johnny Bower in a state of shock and Chicago's Glenn Hall in control of the Vezina Trophy race.

National Hockey League statistics released today show Hall with a seven-goal margin in the race for the Vezina Trophy over Bower and Montreal's Charley Hodge. The Chicago goalie can thank the Bruins for his wide margin even though the outburst came against Simmons.

Under NHL regulations, the Vezina Trophy is a team award going to the regular goalie of the club allowing the fewest goals. Thus Bower, although watching from the sidelines, must bear the burden for the 11 goals.

Re-Enact Jack Kearns' Charge Expose It As Pure Humbug

MILWAUKEE (AP)—It didn't work, the Milwaukee Journal said after recreating the method of encasing Jack Dempsey's hands in plaster of paris as his manager says was done for the heavyweight title fight with Jess Willard more than 40 years ago.

Journal boxing writer Evans Kirkby says standins for all the main figures were assembled to do all the things Jack Kearns said in a magazine article were done before the fight in which Dempsey belted out Willard in three rounds on July 4, 1919 in Toledo.

"Using the same materials in the same way that Kearns described, showed that a plaster fist could not be made that way," Kirkby wrote. "Or maybe we weren't good plasterers."

Standing in for Kearns in the experiment was Al Fain, a veteran boxing figure who has taped boxers' hands for more than half a century. Eddie Metrie, a boxing manager and gymnasium operator, took the part of Walter Moynahan, Willard's chief second. Frank Linnemanstons, a Golden Gloves heavyweight, was assigned Dempsey's part.

Followed the 'Book

The Kearns' description told how he wound on Dempsey's bandages as Moynahan looked on, then used a sponge to soak the wrappings. The next step, as related by Kearns, was to heavily sprinkle the plaster of paris from a powder can onto the soaked bandages.

All was done as prescribed, said Kirkby, whose story continued:

"What did we get when the mess had dried?

"We got a thin layer of soft cement which cracked at a slight touch and fell from the bandages at a slight brushing. Little if any of the plaster of paris would have been on the bandages by the time Dempsey traveled from his dressing room to the ring, where the gloves were put on. If any had remained, it would have turned to powder at the first light blow.

Good to the End

"It appears that Kearns, one of the greatest of old fashioned pitchmen, conned to the end."

Kirkby and his crew carried the experiment one step further and found a way to produce a reasonably formidable weapon. But the construction was so elaborate, Kirkby said, that Dempsey and Moynahan would have to have known what was going on. This does not fit with Kearns' report that Dempsey was too nervous to notice what was taking place.

This method involved dusting plaster of paris onto every circle of gauze, adding the water and letting each layer dry before the next was added.

Kirkby's report on the experiments added one more line:

"Dempsey deserves something better than unproved and unprovable charges after all these years."

Ulster Kiwanis Install Officers

New officers of the Ulster Kiwanis Club were installed into office at an induction ceremony Monday night in Ang-El's Restaurant.

Inducted by Lt. Governor Harold Macholdt of the Hudson River Division of Kiwanis, were:

President, Robert Morehouse; immediate past president, Sidney Siegel; vice president, John Hoefler; treasurer, Richard Hall, and secretary, Richard Gustin. Also, board of directors, two years, Orvil Norman, Seymour Wrobleowski, John Schick and Edward Carter; and for one year, Edgar Elliott, Sam Levine and Robert Stedge.

Wives of members attended as special guests. Spiegel presented Mrs. Macholdt with a "campaign ribbon" and "good conduct medal" for traveling the Hudson River District with her husband during the various installation meetings. Macholdt presented Siegel with a new membership badge. He also received a past president's button from Morehouse.

Orvil Norman lead in a song fest with guitar accompaniment. An Inter-Club visitation was received from a delegation from the Hopewell Junction Club, comprised of Kenneth and Helen Keoun; Guy and Ann St. John; Douglas and Lynne Nestler and Howard and Alice Van Vlack.

Next week Ulster Kiwanians will hear a discussion on the new Ulster County Community College. Dr. Dale B. Lake, college president, will be the guest speaker. All members are urged to attend.

Start Steel Work On County Site

Construction of steel for the new county office building on Main Street began shortly before noon today.

Prior to unloading steel from trucks which had hauled it from Pennsylvania, a big crane of the Kingston Crane Service hoisted a drill rig from the excavation. The drill rig had been used to sink the tubes for the hydraulic packs for the two elevators which will service the building.

Despite severe weather, Augustus Schrowang, of Augustus Schrowang Associates, architects for the building reported work was progressing practically on schedule. At present the job is only five days behind schedule and this time can be easily made up when weather improves.

The building is scheduled for completion by fall.

New Paltz Junior Wins Oratorical Contest of Legion

A New Paltz Central School junior competing against a list of mostly seniors was the winner among seven contestants in the Ulster County American Legion Oratorical Contest held Monday night at the Academy of St. Ursula here.

Richard Diaz, a tuition student at New Paltz who plans to pursue a course in aeronautical engineering, delivered a nine minute, 42 second prepared oration on "The American People and their Bill of Rights" to win the Ulster County competition of the 27th annual American Legion Oratorical Contest.

Two Other Winners

Second place honors were won by Barbara Vicevich, a senior at Academy of St. Ursula while Elizabeth Parkerson of Saugerties Central School took third place.

Other contestants were Thomas Gruner of Highland Central School, William Cloonan of Kingston High School, Catherine Hacker of Wallkill Central School and Hildegarde Bastion of Rondout Valley Central School.

Going to Liberty

Cash awards were presented for the first three places in the competition by Major H. Edgar Timmerman, Ulster County Legion Commander. Diaz will represent Ulster County in the Third District Oratorical Contest on February 15 at Liberty Central School.

Judges for the competition were Miss Frances Monahan, English Department at Dutchess County Community College, Arnold Toback, assistant professor of Social Studies at Dutchess County Community College and Attorney John J. McCourt, Marlboro.

The Ulster County Legion Oratorical Contest competition was under the direction of John C. Miller, Lloyd Post 193, Highland, who has served in that capacity for 18 years.

Jack Ruby Cries After Quiz About Slaying of JFK

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby cried today about the assassination of President Kennedy and said he was "more remorseful than angry" when he killed accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Ruby broke into tears when newsmen asked him how he felt about the assassination. The questioning was permitted at the defense table just before Ruby's bond hearing was resumed.

Described Monday by defense witnesses as a man unaware of his actions when he shot Oswald, Ruby is charged with murder with malice. His lawyers are seeking his release on bond on grounds that he was temporarily insane and therefore could not tell right from wrong.

"'I can't understand how a great man like that could be lost," Ruby cried as newsmen asked him his feelings about the President's death. He bit hard on his lower lip.

At that point, defense attorneys Melvin Belli and Joe Tonahill asked that the questioning be dropped.

As to Oswald, Ruby said: "I never saw him or knew him in my life."

He was also asked about a trip to Cuba he made in 1959, approximately nine months after Prime Minister Fidel Castro took over the government. The visit was brought out in testimony Monday.

"It seeemed like the U.S. was in good harmony with Cuba then," Ruby said. "I was just vacationing down there for a few days."

The 52-year-old strip joint operator's trial is scheduled to begin Feb. 3 but the defense has said it will ask for a delay and a change of venue.

Lillard and Bopp Lead In All Star Bowling

DALLAS (AP)—Jean Bopp of Milwaukee and Bill Lillard of Dallas will pace a sharply reduced field of survivors into the final day of qualifying at the All Star Bowling Tournament today.

Mrs. Bopp, a housewife, has piled up a record 20-game total of 4195, shattering the previous mark set by Marion Ladewig last year by 10 pins. Mrs. Bopp rolled a record 760 three game series Sunday and came back Monday with four game series of 907 and 807 in the semifinals.

Bobbe North of Pomona, Calif., was in far away second place with a 4009 aggregate. The pretty red-head shot 788 and 795 four game blocks Monday.

Ladewig Eliminated

Mrs. Ladewig, eight time champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., was eliminated Sunday night when she failed to survive the semifinal cut which reduced the women's field from 144 to 48.

Lillard, who won this title in 1956, has amassed a 20-game total of 4363. Lillard rolled a solid 844 four game series Monday in the final block of men's preliminaries.

Mike Chiuchiolo, Patchogue, N.Y., stayed close on the leader's heels with 4346. He shot 839 Monday.

Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., came up with a 905 series in the final block of qualifying, which boosted him to third place with 4334.

Donato Is 35th

Only area bowler to make the semi-finals was Joe Donato of Schenectady, who rolled an 827 series Monday for a 20-game total of 4177 and 35th spot in the 96-bowler semi-finalist field.

Donato hit 225, 176, 215 and 211 for the 827 block.

Legal Troubles Balk Lane's Bid for Lightweight Title

NEW YORK (AP) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz and No. 1 contender Kenny Lane likely will have to punch their way out of some legal skirmishes before they ever get to climb in a ring and throw punches at each other.

The World Boxing Association has been trying to arrange a championship fight between Ortiz, of New York, and Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., for some time. The entire matter seemed settled Saturday but began to get a bit complicated Monday.

Ortiz, boarding a plane in San Juan for a trip to New York, said he would sue the WBA if the organization tries to strip him of his crown for meeting junior lightweight champion Flash Elorde in a title fight.

At the same time, Lane ran into trouble with the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission over a bout with Johnny Bizarro.

Ortiz said he had made a commitment with promoter Lope Sarreal for a February championship fight with Elorde, and will go through with it despite WBA opposition.

Deny Application

The WBA's executive committee denied Saturday an application for a championship fight between Ortiz and Elorde. Instead, the committee approved a contract for a title fight between Ortiz and Lane, to be held April 4, in Puerto Rico.

The Ortiz-Lane contract prohibits Ortiz from defending his title before the match—or against Elorde. The WBA said Ortiz could fight Elorde, but not for the title.

Lane, meanwhile, ran into trouble with the Pennsylvania commission, which said it had received a telegram from Lane's manager, Pete Petroskey, saying Lane could not go through with a fight against Bizarro, scheduled for Jan. 30 in Erie, Pa.

Commission Chairman Frank B. Wildman Jr. said Lane must fulfill the obligation to fight Bizarro or face suspension in Pennsylvania. He added that should Lane fail to meet Bizarro, the commission would take action to have Lane suspended by the WBA.

Hall Controls Vezina Trophy

MONTREAL (AP) — The 11-goal barrage the Boston Bruins unloaded on Toronto goalie Don Simmons Saturday left the Leafs' Johnny Bower in a state of shock and Chicago's Glenn Hall in control of the Vezina Trophy race.

National Hockey League statistics released today show Hall with a seven-goal margin in the race for the Vezina Trophy over Bower and Montreal's Charley Hodge. The Chicago goalie can thank the Bruins for his wide margin even though the outburst came against Simmons.

Under NHL regulations, the Vezina Trophy is a team award going to the regular goalie of the club allowing the fewest goals. Thus Bower, although watching from the sidelines, must bear the burden for the 11 goals.

Re-Enact Jack Kearns' Charge Expose It As Pure Humbug

MILWAUKEE (AP)—It didn't work, the Milwaukee Journal said after recreating the method of encasing Jack Dempsey's hands in plaster of paris as his manager says was done for the heavyweight title fight with Jess Willard more than 40 years ago.

Journal boxing writer Evans Kirkby says standins for all the main figures were assembled to do all the things Jack Kearns said in a magazine article were done before the fight in which Dempsey belted out Willard in three rounds on July 4, 1919 in Toledo.

"Using the same materials in the same way that Kearns described, showed that a plaster fist could not be made that way," Kirkby wrote. "Or maybe we weren't good plasterers."

Standing in for Kearns in the experiment was Al Fain, a veteran boxing figure who has taped boxers' hands for more than half a century. Eddie Merrie, a boxing manager and gymnasium operator, took the part of Walter Moynahan, Willard's chief second. Frank Linnemanstons, a Golden Gloves heavyweight, was assigned Dempsey's part.

Followed the 'Book

The Kearns' description told how he wound on Dempsey's bandages as Moynahan looked on, then used a sponge to soak the wrappings. The next step, as related by Kearns, was to heavily sprinkle the plaster of paris from a powder can onto the soaked bandages.

All was done as prescribed, said Kirkby, whose story continued:

"What did we get when the mess had dried?

"We got a thin layer of soft cement which cracked at a slight touch and fell from the bandages at a slight brushing. Little if any of the plaster of paris would have been on the bandages by the time Dempsey traveled from his dressing room to the ring, where the gloves were put on. If any had remained, it would have turned to powder at the first light blow.

Good to the End

"It appears that Kearns, one of the greatest of old fashioned pitchmen, conned to the end."

Kirkby and his crew carried the experiment one step further and found a way to produce a reasonably formidable weapon. But the construction was so elaborate, Kirkby said, that Dempsey and Moynahan would have to have known what was going on. This does not fit with Kearns' report that Dempsey was too nervous to notice what was taking place.

This method involved dusting plaster of paris onto every circle of gauze, adding the water and letting each layer dry before the next was added.

Kirkby's report on the experiments added one more line:

Ulster Kiwanis Install Officers

Inducted by Lt. Governor Harold Macholdt of the Hudson River Division of Kiwanis, were:

President, Robert Morehouse; immediate past president, Sidney Siegel; vice president, John Hoefler; treasurer, Richard Hall, and secretary, Richard Gustin. Also, board of directors, two years, Orvil Norman, Seymour Wrobleowski, John Schick and Edward Carter; and for one year, Edgar Elliott, Sam Levine and Robert Stedge.

Wives of members attended as special guests. Spiegel presented Mrs. Macholdt with a "campaign ribbon" and "good conduct medal" for traveling the Hudson River District with her husband during the various installation meetings. Macholdt presented Siegel with a new membership badge. He also received a past president's button from Morehouse.

Orvil Norman lead in a song fest with guitar accompaniment. An Inter-Club visitation was received from a delegation from the Hopewell Junction Club, comprised of Kenneth and Helen Keoun; Guy and Ann St. John; Douglas and Lynne Nestler and Howard and Alice Van Vlack.

Next week Ulster Kiwanians will hear a discussion on the new Ulster County Community College. Dr. Dale B. Lake, college president, will be the guest speaker. All members are urged to attend.

Start Steel Work On County Site

Construction of steel for the new county office building on Main Street began shortly before noon today.

Prior to unloading steel from trucks which had hauled it from Pennsylvania, a big crane of the Kingston Crane Service hoisted a drill rig from the excavation. The drill rig had been used to sink the tubes for the hydraulic packs for the two elevators which will service the building.

Despite severe weather, Augustus Schrowang, of Augustus Schrowang Associates, architects for the building reported work was progressing practically on schedule. At present the job is only five days behind schedule and this time can be easily made up when weather improves.

The building is scheduled for completion by fall.

New Paltz Junior Wins Oratorical Contest of Legion

A New Paltz Central School junior competing against a list of mostly seniors was the winner among seven contestants in the Ulster County American Legion Oratorical Contest held Monday night at the Academy of St. Ursula here.

Richard Diaz, a tuition student at New Paltz who plans to pursue a course in aeronautical engineering, delivered a nine minute, 42 second prepared oration on "The American People and their Bill of Rights" to win the Ulster County competition of the 27th annual American Legion Oratorical Contest.

Two Other Winners

Second place honors were won by Barbara Vicevich, a senior at Academy of St. Ursula while Elizabeth Parkerson of Saugerties Central School took third place.

Other contestants were Thomas Gruner of Highland Central School, William Cloonan of Kingston High School, Catherine Hacker of Wallkill Central School and Hildegarde Bastion of Rondout Valley Central School.

Going to Liberty

Cash awards were presented for the first three places in the competition by Major H. Edgar Timmerman, Ulster County Legion Commander. Diaz will represent Ulster County in the Third District Oratorical Contest on February 15 at Liberty Central School.

Judges for the competition were Miss Frances Monahan, English Department at Dutchess County Community College, Arnold Toback, assistant professor of Social Studies at Dutchess County Community College and Attorney John J. McCourt, Marlboro.

The Ulster County Legion Oratorical Contest competition was under the direction of John C. Miller, Lloyd Post 193, Highland, who has served in that capacity for 18 years.

Jack Ruby Cries After Quiz About Slaying of JFK

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby cried today about the assassination of President Kennedy and said he was "more remorseful than angry" when he killed accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Ruby broke into tears when newsmen asked him how he felt about the assassination. The questioning was permitted at the defense table just before Ruby's bond hearing was resumed.

Described Monday by defense witnesses as a man unaware of his actions when he shot Oswald, Ruby is charged with murder with malice. His lawyers are seeking his release on bond on grounds that he was temporarily insane and therefore could not tell right from wrong.

"'I can't understand how a great man like that could be lost," Ruby cried as newsmen asked him his feelings about the President's death. He bit hard on his lower lip.

At that point, defense attorneys Melvin Belli and Joe Tonahill asked that the questioning be dropped.

As to Oswald, Ruby said: "I never saw him or knew him in my life."

He was also asked about a trip to Cuba he made in 1959, approximately nine months after Prime Minister Fidel Castro took over the government. The visit was brought out in testimony Monday.

"It seeemed like the U.S. was in good harmony with Cuba then," Ruby said. "I was just vacationing down there for a few days."

The 52-year-old strip joint operator's trial is scheduled to begin Feb. 3 but the defense has said it will ask for a delay and a change of venue.

When Phillips Brooks, the great "low church" bishop of Massachusetts, made his visitation at the Church of the Advent, Boston, celebrated for its elaborate ritual, the rector considerately inquired if the bishop would like the usual service simplified.

Phillip Brooks — Oh, no. Turn everything on!

A young but well-trained acolyte was told to attend the bishop and before the towering figure paced, with impressive dignity, the small red-cassocked lad.

A lady present, who knew and loved her Phillips Brooks, but knew little of ritual, regarded the situation at first with anxious face, but soon became quite serene. On leaving the church, after service, she remarked:

Lady — In the beginning, I was dreadfully afraid the bishop would not know where to go or what to do, but I felt perfectly safe about him when I saw that little boy knew a great deal more about it all than the bishop did, and was taking good care of him.

Senate Takes Action

Confirmations Voted Of Rocky's Appointees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo of Rochester heads a list of more than 50 of Gov. Rockefeller's appointees who have been confirmed in their positions by the Senate.

Confirmation of Lomenzo and members of important state agencies was voted Monday night.

Lomenzo succeeded Mrs. Caroline K. Simon, who has been appointed a judge of the Court of Claims. His salary will be $28,875 a year.

Most of those confirmed were recess appointments, made since the 1963 Legislature adjourned. They included:

Bayard S. Forster of Garrison, director of the Office of Transportation, at $25,200, and a member of the New York-New Jersey Transportation Agency.

Frank C. Moore of Albany, member of the board of trustees of the State University. Moore, a former lieutenant governor of New York, is now chairman of the board. Members are reimbursed for expenses.

Vincent D. McDonnell to the State Board of Mediation, $24,150. McDonnell is chairman of the board.

T. Norman Hurd of Albany to the State Board of Equalization and Assessment. Hurd is state director of the budget.

Porter K. Bennett of Cortland, Arnold Johnson of Pittsford, L. Perry Williams of Boonville, Henry M. Maylon of East Aurora, Edward McHugh of Potsdam, Gerald M. Buyce of Pine Hill, Robert B. Stubbs of Ellicottville and Victor E. Hall of Watertown, members of the Passenger Tramway Advisory Council.

Fred J. Schreiber of Attica, Inez V. Reynolds of Medina, Mrs. Estelle C. Herdeg of Gowana, Homer J. Mye Jr., of North Tonawanda, John R. Foster of Dunkirk, Peter C. Keischgens of Derby, Mrs. Ruth H. Schuyler of Kenmore, members of the Board of Visitors, West Seneca State School.

Cy B. King of Williamsville and George Enos of Amherst, Buffalo and Fort Erie Public Bridge Authority.

John A. Swart of Amsterdam, board of trustees, Guy Park House and Grounds.

Joseph R. Shaw of Albany, member, Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission.

Mrs. Carroll A. Edsall of Ilion, board of commissioners, Herkimer Home.

Charles L. Dain Jr., and Robert W. Farnam of Oswego, Port of Oswego Authority.

John D. Remelt of West Henrietta, board of visitors, State Agricultural and Industrial School of Industry.

Jack E. Gellman of Niagara Falls, Niagara Frontier State Park Commission.

Irving Gerber of Lawrence, board of visitors, Pilgrim State Hospital.

Brainard E. Prescott of East Aurora, major general, State Reserve.

Bobby Continues Malaysian Talks

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met today with Malaysia's Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, continuing the search for a peaceful solution to the Malaysian crisis.

Arriving from Manila on the third leg of his special presidential mission, Kennedy said, "'We are beginning to make some progress."

More Talks Follow

His first meeting with Rahman lasted an hour and 40 minutes. Other talks were scheduled later in the day.

Kennedy is urging a summit conference of Rahman, Indonesian President Sukarno and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal, the three Asian principles in the dispute.

Sukarno reportedly has insisted that before such talks British and Malaysian troops must be withdrawn from the Indonesian-Malaysian frontier on Borneo, where an undeclared guerrilla war is in progress. Kennedy told newsmen, "'I am not aware of these demands."

After meeting with Macapagal in the Philippines, Kennedy said prospects for a summit are encouraging. The attorney general met last weekend in Tokyo with Sukarno and will confer with the Indonesian leader again Wednesday in Jakarta.

A few hours before Kennedy's arrival in the Malaysian capital, another peacemaker, Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk, appeared to have persuaded Rahman to meet the Philippine president in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, next month.

Initiative Try Seen

Rahman said such a meeting is "mostly likely" but deferred further comment until he completed his talks with Kennedy.

Sihanouk's invitation was seen as an attempt to seize the diplomatic initiative from the United States. Irked by what he regarded as U.S. antagonism, the Cambodian ruler recently halted all American aid to his country.

Sihanouk arrived here unexpectedly Monday.

Asked if he planned to meet the prince, Kennedy replied, "I have no plans to see him, but I am always glad to meet anybody."

Glenn Appears Big Winner in Political Battle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Registered Democratic voters will decide without a recommendation from the Ohio party organization between Lt. Col. John H. Glennn Jr. and incumbent U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young for Senate nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary election.

The Glenn camp, Young and State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman all say they are satisfied with the outcome of Monday's political hassle.

But the newcomer to politics, Glenn, appears to be the big winner.

The state's first preprimary political convention since adoption of the popular-primary system two generations ago broke up without endorsement for either Young or Glenn—and as a result, for nobody for any office at stake this year.

Decision Reserved On Student Transfer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has reserved decision on a parents' petition protesting the transfer of 118 pupils from a predominantly Negro school to a previously all-white school.

Judge William G. Easton said Monday the decision would be made after legal briefs were filed by attorneys representing the parents and the school board. The attorneys can act in a 22-day period.

The parents objected to the transfer on grounds that it was done to correct racial imbalance at School 30, previously all-white. The school board contended the transfer Jan. 13 was done to relieve an "overcrowding" problem at School 3, which is predominantly Negro.

Dutchess Worker Is Crushed by Vehicle

A Town of Poughkeepsie young highway worker was killed Monday when he was crushed between two road-clearing vehicles.

Clifford Farrier, 25, of 2 Creek Road, an employe of the Town of Poughkeepsie Highway Department, was a member of a crew working on a snow-loader.

The men had stopped and were clearing the loader's chute when the dump truck parked in front of the loader rolled back and crushed him. He was pronounced dead at St. Francis Hospital.

Judge Threatens Take-Over to Speed Hoffa Jury

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —A federal judge threatened today to take over personally the questioning of prospective jurors for Teamsters President James Hoffa's jury-tempering trial—in order to speed things up.

"Unless the questioning is accelerated," U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson said, he will take the right to examine prospective jurors away from the lawyers, and ask the questions himself.

Two Hours for One

His comment, made soon after the trial began its second day, seemed aimed primarily at defense attorneys—who took up the better part of two hours in examining the first prospect Monday.

Questioning of five men and two women who had been locked up overnight as prospective jurors resumed. Sixteen U.S. marshals had been delegated to watch them.

Only one of the eight, George H. Baber Jr. of Dayton, Tenn., had been questioned. Baber was seated tentatively at the close of the first day of what promises to be a long trial.

Judge Wilson implied he would not hesitate to hold Saturday sessions of court if the trial became too protracted. Baber's examination toook two hours, an indication it may take several more days to seat a jury.

Hofffa and the others are charged with attempting to influence illegally the jury in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville which ended with a deadlocked jury.

Other Defendants

The other defendants are Allen Dorfman, Chicago insurance broker; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntington, W. Va., businessman; Larry Campbell, Teamsters Union business agent at Detroit; Campbell's uncle, Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville; and Ewing King, former Teamster official at Nashville.

Much of Monday's session in Judge Wilson's tiny, old-fashioned courtroom, was used up in repeated motions by defense attorneys asking postponements, separate trials and dismissal of the 300 persons summoned for jury duty.

Wilson turned down each such request.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a fairly general retreat early this afternoon in active dealings.

A scattering of stocks bucked the downtrend.

Lossses of most key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

Steels, aluminums, rails, cigarettes, cigar manufacturers and nonferrous metals lost ground.

Big Three motors were steady to higher. Oils also made moderate gains.

The market was already regarded as vulnerable to some kind of correction as the weeek began.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 288.6 with industrials off .5, rails off .3 and utilities offf .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was offf .58 at 772.45.

The New York Stock Exchange halted trading in IBM at 12:01 p.m. (EST) to give the financial community time to digest the news that IBM directors had proposed a stock split of 25 per cent and a higher dividend. At the time,IBM was selling at 550, off 2.

The rescinding of price increases for aluminum ingot was followed by some further softness in aluminum stocks.

Johnson Sends

taxes are not cut — to jog the congressional champions of fiscal caution who have delayed action for more than a year on the $11-billion tax reduction bill.

Johnson proposed to cut 800 employes from the foreign aid program, a move certain to please the many aid critics in Congress, and to trim another 1,400 from the Agriculture Department, whose budget would be sliced by $1.3 billion to a total of $5.1 billion.

Lowest Foreign Aid

For new foreign aid funds Johnson asked $3.4 billion—the lowest request since the Marshall Plan got under way in 1948 and a whopping $1.5 billion below what President John F. Kennedy sought a year ago.

But much of the savings in money and manpower would be diverted into welfare, labor, education, job retraining, youth assistance, and other arms of the antipoverty offensive.

The much-publicized Johnson ax-work on federal employment wound up as a net cut of only 1,200 jobs, or a shaving of less than one-twentieth of 1 per cent. That would leave 2,511,200 on the civilian payroll when the fiscal year ends in mid-1965.

And the space budget is still climbing, though not at rocket velocity. Johnson firmly recommitted the United States to put an American on the moon in this decade, despite rising dissent in Congress against what some legislators call a costly moondoggle.

More Highlights

The budget had these further highlights:

— A request for money for 14,000 Peace Corps volunteers in 1965, compared with 10,400 this year. The stepup, Johnson said, results from the corps' highly successful operations and "'the gratifying flood of requests" for its services.

—Announcement that he will send Congress shortly "cotton and dairy proposals that will decrease by $230 million the estimated expenditures of the Commodity Credit Corporation," the Agriculture Department agency which administers farm price supports.

—A go-ahead for the starting of 44 new dam, harbor, power and other resources projects with an estimated total federal cost of $512 million. Over-all resource outlays in 1965 will total $2.7 billion, Johnson said.

—A strong appeal for federal aid to education at "the foundation of our educational system —the elementary and secondary schools." Johnson urged passage of pending bills to provide grants for teachers' pay and the building of classrooms, in addition to special programs wrapped into his poverty package.

— Notification that he will seek another increase in the federal debt limit. Unless Congress acts, the temporary ceiling of $315 billion falls to the permanent limit of $285 billion on June 30.

But the debt by then, Johnson said, will be $312 billion; and a year later, $317 billion. Failure to raise the ceiling would necessitate resorting to fiscal devices which "conflict with the economical operation of the government."

— A gradual paring-down of the Defense Department's payroll. About 10,000 civilians will have been dropped by next June 30, another 17,000 by the end of fiscal 1965, a year later.

—A repeat of President Kennedy's request for creation of a new Cabinet-rank department of urban affairs and housing under a new name, the "Department of Housing and Community Development." Congress turned down Kennedy's plan for the 11th department and has shown no recent sign of warming up to the idea.

— A call for higher salaries for high-level government officials. Government economy and efficiency, Johnson said, will come chiefly from the hard work of the top managers, "who now are plainly underpaid for what is expected of them."

Johnson assured congress that the planned military and nuclear cutbacks imply no "relaxing of our guard."

Budget in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's fiscal 1965 budget proposes:

Deficit—$4.0 billion, half this year's, fifth in a row.

Spending—$97.9 billion, third highest in history.

Income — $93 billion, up $4.6 billion despite planned tax cut.

Taxes—cut by $11.1 billion.

Debt—on next June 30, $311.8 billion; one year later, a record $317 billion.

Mrs. Johnson Has Busy Day in N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson climaxed a 16-hour day in New York City sitting at a candle-lit table at an after-theater champagne supper-dance and talking with stars of theater, politics and diplomacy.

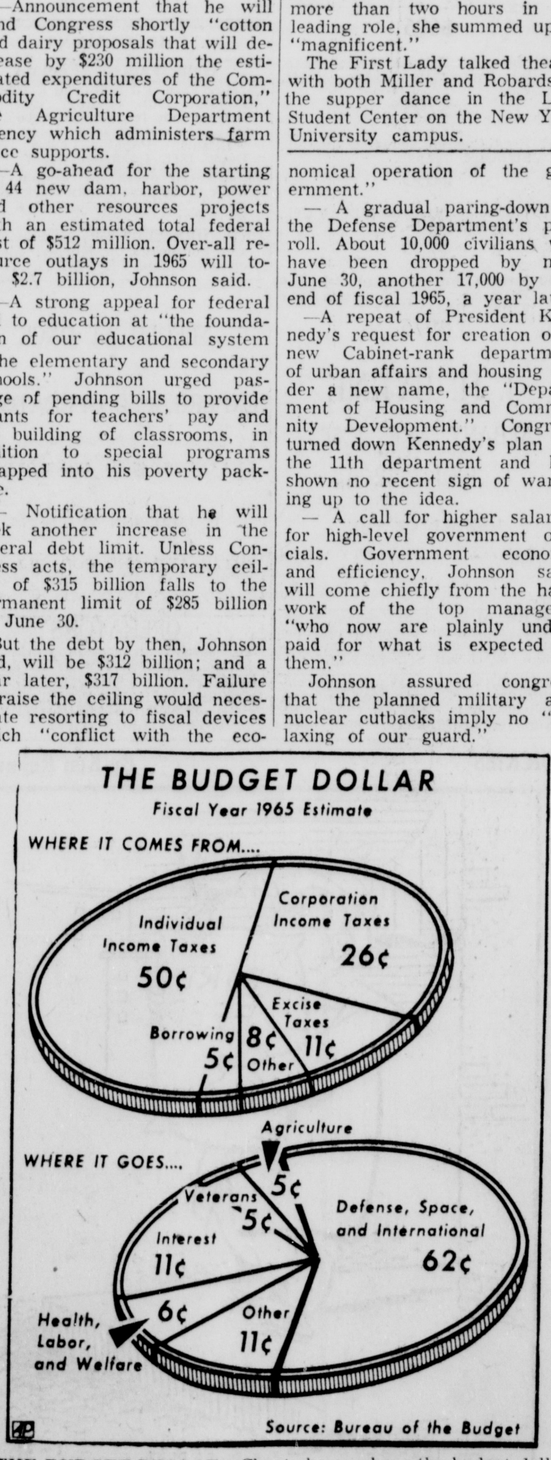

The First Lady flew into New York Monday mainly to see a benefit preview of Arthur Miller's play, "After the Fall." But she also got in visits to Museums and attended a private luncheon.

Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was her escort for the evening. Actresses Myrna Loy and Lauren Bacall were among those seated near her at the theater and party. Other celebrities with whom she chatted were Mayor Robert F. Wagner, opera impressario Rudolf Bing, fashion designer Ann Fogarty and Dr. Carlos Sosa-Rodriguez, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

The play, to have its premiere Thursday, was termed "splendid" by Mrs. Johnson.

The performance of actor John Robards Jr., on stage more than two hours in the leading role, she summed up as "magnificent."

the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

"Having been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce last Tuesday evening, I have not had the opportunity to meet with my officers and directors and map out a program of activity for the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce during the coming year.

Lauds Their Interest

"However, I do feel very fortunate in having on the Board of Directors some very capable men, who, by their own past performance, have demonstrated an active interest in the community in which we live and conduct business. In my opinion this makes them well qualified to fulfill their responsibilities as officers and directors in the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

"Twenty-one men—officers and directors — cannot reshape or mold total community thoughts and actions, and only with the full cooperation of our total membership and directors can we move forward together.

Must Be Team

"I hope that by increased membership interest and participation during the year 1964 we all can help make the Kingston area a better place in which to live and do business. However, the ultimate results can only be achieved by the Chamber membership business men, and residents of the area.

"The Chamber of Commerce is an organization dedicated toward the improvement of the environment in which we live and do business. Its prime purpose is to seek out the truth and to make recommendations based upon facts, not emotions, which will stimulate community responsibility and action that will be of benefit to our total community and not to a small group or singular enterprise in our community."

In other business at the banquet, Jack Botsford was awarded two free tickets to the 1964-65 World's Fair. The Chamber also cited the work of Mrs. Dorothy Groat, office secretary.

Banquet Committee members included James E. Norton, chairman, Paul H. Jordan Jr., G. Alan Johnson, Raymond Korzendorfer, Donald MacIsaac and George W. Schneider.

Fair at Flushing

Fairs because it has not been 10 years between the Fair and the Seattle World's Fair in Washington. Also, he said, Red China, Hungary and Cuba were not invited to participate.

However, he said, he felt that the Fair was of such great magnitude that its economic and cultural facets would make an extension imminent. "You couldn't possibly see all of the Fair in 14 days," Merritt said. He said that anticipated average cost to attend the Fair for an adult was $7.20 a day, exclusive of transportation and lodging.

Sure About Opening

Merritt said, "so much is undone" at the Flushing Meadows acreage, same site as the 1939-40 World's Fair, "one wonders whether it will be open on time —there are only 93 days—but I think we'll make it."

Merritt, who was appointed supervisor in charge of the Travelers Insurance Companies fair exhibit more than two years ago and has been serving in the Fair's Speakers Bureau for some time, has addressed hundreds of groups about the activities and plans for the forthcoming Fair. His assignments have taken him to many parts of the country. He was introduced by Donald McIsaac, banquet toastmaster.

The Rt. Rev. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, gave the invocation. Other speakers included James E. Norton, chairman of the Banquet Committee; Mayor John J. Schwenk; Albert Kurdt, Chamber manager, and newly-elected president, John F. Schuehler.

Office Gives Service

The report said the Chamber office is maintained also as an information headquarters with an average of 40 to 50 contacts a day or more than 10,000 each year by personal visits, phone calls and correspondence.

The office published a classified membership directory as a direct membership service used to answer inquiries for goods and services.

Establishment of a Speakers Bureau of 10-12 men, on a volunteer basis, to give talks before groups of all sizes, developed by the Job Expansion Committee.

Legislative activities. Recommendations are made subject to approval by the board of directors.

The report "earnestly requests more constructive criticisms and suggestions from more members," adding that "new emphasis must be placed" on projects which "will make the community, the area and the region a still better place to live and work by helping meet the requirements of a progressive community."

Charges Phone Tap

NEW YORK (AP)—Martin C. Epstein, ousted State Liquor Authority chairman, has accused District Attorney Frank Hogan of illegally "bugging" his hospital room and tapping his home and office telephones.

State Supreme Court Justice Mitchell D. Schweitzer will hear arguments today on that and other motions filed by Epstein's attorney, Maurice Edelbaum.

Annuity, Not Stocks, Best For Widow in Retirement

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am a 47-year-old widow. My problem is that at 62 I will have very small social security.

I own my home, have $6,000 invested in mutual funds, $5,500 in savings and loan, and $9,000 in Series E bonds, all over ten years old. I do worry about the future. What do you advise me to do?" V.G.

A) I am always extremely sorry that I cannot be of more effective help to someone in your lonely position.

I cannot advise you to buy stocks, since all stocks involve a certain amount of risk and you can afford none at all. Your mutual fund shares give you a measure of protection against inflation. Your Series E bonds are now accruing interest at the rate of 3¾ per cent compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity.

I advise you to conserve your capital. At age 62, take out an annuity contract with a good life insurance company, retaining some savings for a contingency. Your annuity income would be relatively high at that age.

Q) "Approximately a year ago, you gave in your column two insurance stocks, Lincoln National Life and Franklin Life. Would you recommend these same stocks or some other similar stocks for me to buy under a monthly investment plan for about a 20-year period?" S. N.

A) I still think very highly of life insurance stocks, if held over a period of years.

I continue to like both Lincoln National Life and Franklin Life. Because of its recent relatively poor action, however, I have for the present stopped recommending Franklin, although I think the shares should be retained.

In place of Franklin I suggest Connecticut General Life, which has been showing better technical action. Since these issues—like other life stocks—are unlisted, they may not be bought under the Big Board's Monthly Investment Plan. You would have to work out your own plan, buying one or two shares a month, as your means permitted.

New Era of Cooperation

Record Moonlet Set For Thursday Launch

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The world's scheduled for launching Thurslargest man-made moonlet is day, and if orbited it could open a new era of scientific cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

First Joint Experiment

U.S. space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the 135-foot diameter balloon, to be called Echo 2, for their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

The United States and Russia agreed last August to use Echo 2 as an experiment in communications via satellite, bouncing radio signals off its reflective surface and picking them up at ground stations. A spokesman said this would be the first time for the two powers to talk via satellite. No date for the transmissions has been set.

The signals, on a frequency of 162 megacycles, may carry voices, audible tones, telegraphic code or facsimile pictures.

The Russians are not participating in the launching of the satellite, but they may attempt to track it by military radar.

During the course of its expected lifetime, Echo 2 will be seen from all parts of Russia, a space agency spokesman said. The near-polar orbit is the same as that used by Samos photographic reconnaissance satellites, which keeps every square mile of Russian territory under surveillance.

Visible to Many

The shiny plastic-and-aluminum-foil sphere, the spokesman said, "is expected to be seen by more persons than any other man-made object in the history of the world."

Previous largest satellite was the 100-foot-diameter Echo 1, launched in 1960 and stilll in orbit.

Echo 2 is expected to be visible in this country for the first time late Thursday, when it crosses the Eastern states on its sixth trip around the globe about 10 hours after launch.

If the skies are clear, it will be seen as a pinpoint of light moving from south to north. The satellite has no internal illumination but can be seen when struck by rays from the sun below the horizon.

Western states should be able to see the moonlet about 12 hours after launch, on its seventh pass around the earth.

Launching is scheduled between 5:11 a.m. and 6:11 a.m. (8:11 a.m. and 9:14 a.m. Eastern Standard Time).

GOP Picks Kane For Judgeship, Up to Governor

Former Schoharie County District Attorney T. Paul Kane Monday night was picked by Republicans in the seven-county Third District as their choice to succeed the late Supreme Court Justice Kenneth S. MacAffer who died recently.

Their recommendations will be forwarded to Governor Rockefeller who is expected to make an appointment within the next few weeks. The Governor is not bound by the GOP recommendation, but it swings considerable weight in his decision making. Schoharie and Columbia, two of the smaller counties in the district, have been seeking a judgeship for several years.

The judicial conference includes Albany, Schoharie, Ulster, Columbia, Sullivan, Greene and Rensselaer Counties.

Kane, 43, served four terms as Schoharie County district attorney but declined the nomination in 1961. He graduated from Yale University in 1942 and Albany Law School in 1948. He served with the Navy from 1942 to 1946. Since 1948 has has practiced law in Cobleskill. He is married and has three children.

Mother Pleads Innocent

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A mother has pleaded innocent to a charge of second-degree manslaughter in connection with the malnutrition death of her daughter in 1962.

Mrs. Joseph Schwartzfigure, 40, of Buffalo, was remanded Monday after the arraignment to Erie County jail to await trial.

4H Council Is To Meet Tonight

The 4-H Council of Ulster County will meet tonight at the Hurley Reformed Church Hall at 7:30 o'clock. Topic for the meeting will be a panel discussion on Junior Leadership.

The 4-H Council is an organization of older 4-H Club members 14 years and older who conduct a program of education, recreation and community service. All 4-H members 14 or over are invited to attend and participate in their activities.

Those participating on the panel for tonight's program are Lynne Charlton, Hurley; Gloria Dieterich, New Paltz; Judy Lyke, Lomontville and Martha Nickerson, Kingston. They will relate and explain their responsibilities and duties as 4-H Junior Leaders. Council President, Denise Franklin of New Paltz will act as moderator. The group's advisor is Robert Weiss of Highland.

Senate Takes Action

Confirmations Voted Of Rocky's Appointees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo of Rochester heads a list of more than 50 of Gov. Rockefeller's appointees who have been confirmed in their positions by the Senate.

Confirmation of Lomenzo and members of important state agencies was voted Monday night.

Lomenzo succeeded Mrs. Caroline K. Simon, who has been appointed a judge of the Court of Claims. His salary will be $28,875 a year.

Most of those confirmed were recess appointments, made since the 1963 Legislature adjourned. They included:

Bayard S. Forster of Garrison, director of the Office of Transportation, at $25,200, and a member of the New York-New Jersey Transportation Agency.

Frank C. Moore of Albany, member of the board of trustees of the State University. Moore, a former lieutenant governor of New York, is now chairman of the board. Members are reimbursed for expenses.

Vincent D. McDonnell to the State Board of Mediation, $24,150. McDonnell is chairman of the board.

T. Norman Hurd of Albany to the State Board of Equalization and Assessment. Hurd is state director of the budget.

Porter K. Bennett of Cortland, Arnold Johnson of Pittsford, L. Perry Williams of Boonville, Henry M. Maylon of East Aurora, Edward McHugh of Potsdam, Gerald M. Buyce of Pine Hill, Robert B. Stubbs of Ellicottville and Victor E. Hall of Watertown, members of the Passenger Tramway Advisory Council.

Fred J. Schreiber of Attica, Inez V. Reynolds of Medina, Mrs. Estelle C. Herdeg of Gowana, Homer J. Mye Jr., of North Tonawanda, John R. Foster of Dunkirk, Peter C. Keischgens of Derby, Mrs. Ruth H. Schuyler of Kenmore, members of the Board of Visitors, West Seneca State School.

Cy B. King of Williamsville and George Enos of Amherst, Buffalo and Fort Erie Public Bridge Authority.

John A. Swart of Amsterdam, board of trustees, Guy Park House and Grounds.

Joseph R. Shaw of Albany, member, Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission.

Mrs. Carroll A. Edsall of Ilion, board of commissioners, Herkimer Home.

Brainard E. Prescott of East Aurora, major general, State Reserve.

Bobby Continues Malaysian Talks

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met today with Malaysia's Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, continuing the search for a peaceful solution to the Malaysian crisis.

Arriving from Manila on the third leg of his special presidential mission, Kennedy said, "We are beginning to make some progress."

More Talks Follow

His first meeting with Rahman lasted an hour and 40 minutes. Other talks were scheduled later in the day.

Kennedy is urging a summit conference of Rahman, Indonesian President Sukarno and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal, the three Asian principles in the dispute.

Sukarno reportedly has insisted that before such talks British and Malaysian troops must be withdrawn from the Indonesian-Malaysian frontier on Borneo, where an undeclared guerrilla war is in progress. Kennedy told newsmen, "I am not aware of these demands."

After meeting with Macapagal in the Philippines, Kennedy said prospects for a summit are encouraging. The attorney general met last weekend in Tokyo with Sukarno and will confer with the Indonesian leader again Wednesday in Jakarta.

A few hours before Kennedy's arrival in the Malaysian capital, another peacemaker, Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk, appeared to have persuaded Rahman to meet the Philippine president in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, next month.

Initiative Try Seen

Rahman said such a meeting is "mostly likely" but deferred further comment until he completed his talks with Kennedy.

Sihanouk's invitation was seen as an attempt to seize the diplomatic initiative from the United States. Irked by what he regarded as U.S. antagonism, the Cambodian ruler recently halted all American aid to his country.

Sihanouk arrived here unexpectedly Monday.

Asked if he planned to meet the prince, Kennedy replied, "I have no plans to see him, but I am always glad to meet anybody."

Glenn Appears Big Winner in Political Battle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Registered Democratic voters will decide without a recommendation from the Ohio party organization between Lt. Col. John H. Glennn Jr. and incumbent U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young for Senate nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary election.

The Glenn camp, Young and State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman all say they are satisfied with the outcome of Monday's political hassle.

But the newcomer to politics, Glenn, appears to be the big winner.

The state's first preprimary political convention since adoption of the popular-primary system two generations ago broke up without endorsement for either Young or Glenn—and as a result, for nobody for any office at stake this year.

Decision Reserved On Student Transfer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has reserved decision on a parents' petition protesting the transfer of 118 pupils from a predominantly Negro school to a previously all-white school.

Judge William G. Easton said Monday the decision would be made after legal briefs were filed by attorneys representing the parents and the school board. The attorneys can act in a 22-day period.

The parents objected to the transfer on grounds that it was done to correct racial imbalance at School 30, previously all-white. The school board contended the transfer Jan. 13 was done to relieve an "overcrowding" problem at School 3, which is predominantly Negro.

Dutchess Worker Is Crushed by Vehicle

A Town of Poughkeepsie young highway worker was killed Monday when he was crushed between two road-clearing vehicles.

Clifford Farrier, 25, of 2 Creek Road, an employe of the Town of Poughkeepsie Highway Department, was a member of a crew working on a snow-loader.

The men had stopped and were clearing the loader's chute when the dump truck parked in front of the loader rolled back and crushed him. He was pronounced dead at St. Francis Hospital.

Judge Threatens Take-Over to Speed Hoffa Jury

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —A federal judge threatened today to take over personally the questioning of prospective jurors for Teamsters President James Hoffa's jury-tempering trial—in order to speed things up.

"Unless the questioning is accelerated," U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson said, he will take the right to examine prospective jurors away from the lawyers, and ask the questions himself.

Two Hours for One

His comment, made soon after the trial began its second day, seemed aimed primarily at defense attorneys—who took up the better part of two hours in examining the first prospect Monday.

Questioning of five men and two women who had been locked up overnight as prospective jurors resumed. Sixteen U.S. marshals had been delegated to watch them.

Only one of the eight, George H. Baber Jr. of Dayton, Tenn., had been questioned. Baber was seated tentatively at the close of the first day of what promises to be a long trial.

Judge Wilson implied he would not hesitate to hold Saturday sessions of court if the trial became too protracted. Baber's examination toook two hours, an indication it may take several more days to seat a jury.

Hofffa and the others are charged with attempting to influence illegally the jury in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville which ended with a deadlocked jury.

Other Defendants

The other defendants are Allen Dorfman, Chicago insurance broker; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntington, W. Va., businessman; Larry Campbell, Teamsters Union business agent at Detroit; Campbell's uncle, Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville; and Ewing King, former Teamster official at Nashville.

Much of Monday's session in Judge Wilson's tiny, old-fashioned courtroom, was used up in repeated motions by defense attorneys asking postponements, separate trials and dismissal of the 300 persons summoned for jury duty.

Wilson turned down each such request.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a fairly general retreat early this afternoon in active dealings.

A scattering of stocks bucked the downtrend.

Lossses of most key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

Steels, aluminums, rails, cigarettes, cigar manufacturers and nonferrous metals lost ground.

Big Three motors were steady to higher. Oils also made moderate gains.

The market was already regarded as vulnerable to some kind of correction as the weeek began.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 288.6 with industrials off .5, rails off .3 and utilities offf .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was offf .58 at 772.45.

The New York Stock Exchange halted trading in IBM at 12:01 p.m. (EST) to give the financial community time to digest the news that IBM directors had proposed a stock split of 25 per cent and a higher dividend. At the time,IBM was selling at 550, off 2.

The rescinding of price increases for aluminum ingot was followed by some further softness in aluminum stocks.

Johnson Sends

taxes are not cut — to jog the congressional champions of fiscal caution who have delayed action for more than a year on the $11-billion tax reduction bill.

Johnson proposed to cut 800 employes from the foreign aid program, a move certain to please the many aid critics in Congress, and to trim another 1,400 from the Agriculture Department, whose budget would be sliced by $1.3 billion to a total of $5.1 billion.

Lowest Foreign Aid

For new foreign aid funds Johnson asked $3.4 billion—the lowest request since the Marshall Plan got under way in 1948 and a whopping $1.5 billion below what President John F. Kennedy sought a year ago.

But much of the savings in money and manpower would be diverted into welfare, labor, education, job retraining, youth assistance, and other arms of the antipoverty offensive.

The much-publicized Johnson ax-work on federal employment wound up as a net cut of only 1,200 jobs, or a shaving of less than one-twentieth of 1 per cent. That would leave 2,511,200 on the civilian payroll when the fiscal year ends in mid-1965.

And the space budget is still climbing, though not at rocket velocity. Johnson firmly recommitted the United States to put an American on the moon in this decade, despite rising dissent in Congress against what some legislators call a costly moondoggle.

More Highlights

The budget had these further highlights:

— A request for money for 14,000 Peace Corps volunteers in 1965, compared with 10,400 this year. The stepup, Johnson said, results from the corps' highly successful operations and "the gratifying flood of requests" for its services.

—Announcement that he will send Congress shortly "cotton and dairy proposals that will decrease by $230 million the estimated expenditures of the Commodity Credit Corporation," the Agriculture Department agency which administers farm price supports.

—A go-ahead for the starting of 44 new dam, harbor, power and other resources projects with an estimated total federal cost of $512 million. Over-all resource outlays in 1965 will total $2.7 billion, Johnson said.

—A strong appeal for federal aid to education at "the foundation of our educational system —the elementary and secondary schools." Johnson urged passage of pending bills to provide grants for teachers' pay and the building of classrooms, in addition to special programs wrapped into his poverty package.

— Notification that he will seek another increase in the federal debt limit. Unless Congress acts, the temporary ceiling of $315 billion falls to the permanent limit of $285 billion on June 30.

But the debt by then, Johnson said, will be $312 billion; and a year later, $317 billion. Failure to raise the ceiling would necessitate resorting to fiscal devices which "conflict with the economical operation of the government."

— A gradual paring-down of the Defense Department's payroll. About 10,000 civilians will have been dropped by next June 30, another 17,000 by the end of fiscal 1965, a year later.

—A repeat of President Kennedy's request for creation of a new Cabinet-rank department of urban affairs and housing under a new name, the "Department of Housing and Community Development." Congress turned down Kennedy's plan for the 11th department and has shown no recent sign of warming up to the idea.

— A call for higher salaries for high-level government officials. Government economy and efficiency, Johnson said, will come chiefly from the hard work of the top managers, "who now are plainly underpaid for what is expected of them."

Johnson assured congress that the planned military and nuclear cutbacks imply no "relaxing of our guard."

Budget in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's fiscal 1965 budget proposes:

Deficit—$4.0 billion, half this year's, fifth in a row.

Spending—$97.9 billion, third highest in history.

Income — $93 billion, up $4.6 billion despite planned tax cut.

Taxes—cut by $11.1 billion.

Debt—on next June 30, $311.8 billion; one year later, a record $317 billion.

Mrs. Johnson Has Busy Day in N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson climaxed a 16-hour day in New York City sitting at a candle-lit table at an after-theater champagne supper-dance and talking with stars of theater, politics and diplomacy.

The First Lady flew into New York Monday mainly to see a benefit preview of Arthur Miller's play, "After the Fall." But she also got in visits to Museums and attended a private luncheon.

Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was her escort for the evening. Actresses Myrna Loy and Lauren Bacall were among those seated near her at the theater and party. Other celebrities with whom she chatted were Mayor Robert F. Wagner, opera impressario Rudolf Bing, fashion designer Ann Fogarty and Dr. Carlos Sosa-Rodriguez, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

The play, to have its premiere Thursday, was termed "splendid" by Mrs. Johnson.

The performance of actor John Robards Jr., on stage more than two hours in the leading role, she summed up as "magnificent."

the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

"Having been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce last Tuesday evening, I have not had the opportunity to meet with my officers and directors and map out a program of activity for the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce during the coming year.

Lauds Their Interest

"However, I do feel very fortunate in having on the Board of Directors some very capable men, who, by their own past performance, have demonstrated an active interest in the community in which we live and conduct business. In my opinion this makes them well qualified to fulfill their responsibilities as officers and directors in the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

"Twenty-one men—officers and directors — cannot reshape or mold total community thoughts and actions, and only with the full cooperation of our total membership and directors can we move forward together.

Must Be Team

"I hope that by increased membership interest and participation during the year 1964 we all can help make the Kingston area a better place in which to live and do business. However, the ultimate results can only be achieved by the Chamber membership business men, and residents of the area.

"The Chamber of Commerce is an organization dedicated toward the improvement of the environment in which we live and do business. Its prime purpose is to seek out the truth and to make recommendations based upon facts, not emotions, which will stimulate community responsibility and action that will be of benefit to our total community and not to a small group or singular enterprise in our community."

In other business at the banquet, Jack Botsford was awarded two free tickets to the 1964-65 World's Fair. The Chamber also cited the work of Mrs. Dorothy Groat, office secretary.

Banquet Committee members included James E. Norton, chairman, Paul H. Jordan Jr., G. Alan Johnson, Raymond Korzendorfer, Donald MacIsaac and George W. Schneider.

Fair at Flushing

Fairs because it has not been 10 years between the Fair and the Seattle World's Fair in Washington. Also, he said, Red China, Hungary and Cuba were not invited to participate.

However, he said, he felt that the Fair was of such great magnitude that its economic and cultural facets would make an extension imminent. "You couldn't possibly see all of the Fair in 14 days," Merritt said. He said that anticipated average cost to attend the Fair for an adult was $7.20 a day, exclusive of transportation and lodging.

Sure About Opening

Merritt said, "so much is undone" at the Flushing Meadows acreage, same site as the 1939-40 World's Fair, "one wonders whether it will be open on time —there are only 93 days—but I think we'll make it."

Merritt, who was appointed supervisor in charge of the Travelers Insurance Companies fair exhibit more than two years ago and has been serving in the Fair's Speakers Bureau for some time, has addressed hundreds of groups about the activities and plans for the forthcoming Fair. His assignments have taken him to many parts of the country. He was introduced by Donald McIsaac, banquet toastmaster.

The Rt. Rev. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, gave the invocation. Other speakers included James E. Norton, chairman of the Banquet Committee; Mayor John J. Schwenk; Albert Kurdt, Chamber manager, and newly-elected president, John F. Schuehler.

eant held here for sixth year.

6. Convention and tourist promotion and programs such as the National Security Seminar—considered one of the most successful programs of its type ever held in the area.

Office Gives Service

The report said the Chamber office is maintained also as an information headquarters with an average of 40 to 50 contacts a day or more than 10,000 each year by personal visits, phone calls and correspondence.

The office published a classified membership directory as a direct membership service used to answer inquiries for goods and services.

Establishment of a Speakers Bureau of 10-12 men, on a volunteer basis, to give talks before groups of all sizes, developed by the Job Expansion Committee.

Legislative activities. Recommendations are made subject to approval by the board of directors.

The report "earnestly requests more constructive criticisms and suggestions from more members," adding that "new emphasis must be placed" on projects which "will make the community, the area and the region a still better place to live and work by helping meet the requirements of a progressive community."

Charges Phone Tap

NEW YORK (AP)—Martin C. Epstein, ousted State Liquor Authority chairman, has accused District Attorney Frank Hogan of illegally "bugging" his hospital room and tapping his home and office telephones.

State Supreme Court Justice Mitchell D. Schweitzer will hear arguments today on that and other motions filed by Epstein's attorney, Maurice Edelbaum.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investment Advisor and Analyst

ROGER E. SPEAR

Annuity, Not Stocks, Best For Widow in Retirement

Q) "I am a 47-year-old widow. My problem is that at 62 I will have very small social security.

I own my home, have $6,000 invested in mutual funds, $5,500 in savings and loan, and $9,000 in Series E bonds, all over ten years old. I do worry about the future. What do you advise me to do?" V.G.

A) I am always extremely sorry that I cannot be of more effective help to someone in your lonely position.

I cannot advise you to buy stocks, since all stocks involve a certain amount of risk and you can afford none at all. Your mutual fund shares give you a measure of protection against inflation. Your Series E bonds are now accruing interest at the rate of 3¾ per cent compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity.

I advise you to conserve your capital. At age 62, take out an annuity contract with a good life insurance company, retaining some savings for a contingency. Your annuity income would be relatively high at that age.

Q) "Approximately a year ago, you gave in your column two insurance stocks, Lincoln National Life and Franklin Life. Would you recommend these same stocks or some other similar stocks for me to buy under a monthly investment plan for about a 20-year period?" S. N.

A) I still think very highly of life insurance stocks, if held over a period of years.

I continue to like both Lincoln National Life and Franklin Life. Because of its recent relatively poor action, however, I have for the present stopped recommending Franklin, although I think the shares should be retained.

In place of Franklin I suggest Connecticut General Life, which has been showing better technical action. Since these issues—like other life stocks—are unlisted, they may not be bought under the Big Board's Monthly Investment Plan. You would have to work out your own plan, buying one or two shares a month, as your means permitted.

New Era of Cooperation

Record Moonlet Set For Thursday Launch

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The world's scheduled for launching Thurslargest man-made moonlet is day, and if orbited it could open a new era of scientific cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

First Joint Experiment

U.S. space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the 135-foot diameter balloon, to be called Echo 2, for their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

The United States and Russia agreed last August to use Echo 2 as an experiment in communications via satellite, bouncing radio signals off its reflective surface and picking them up at ground stations. A spokesman said this would be the first time for the two powers to talk via satellite. No date for the transmissions has been set.

The signals, on a frequency of 162 megacycles, may carry voices, audible tones, telegraphic code or facsimile pictures.

The Russians are not participating in the launching of the satellite, but they may attempt to track it by military radar.

During the course of its expected lifetime, Echo 2 will be seen from all parts of Russia, a space agency spokesman said. The near-polar orbit is the same as that used by Samos photographic reconnaissance satellites, which keeps every square mile of Russian territory under surveillance.

Visible to Many

The shiny plastic-and-aluminum-foil sphere, the spokesman said, "is expected to be seen by more persons than any other man-made object in the history of the world."

Previous largest satellite was the 100-foot-diameter Echo 1, launched in 1960 and stilll in orbit.

Echo 2 is expected to be visible in this country for the first time late Thursday, when it crosses the Eastern states on its sixth trip around the globe about 10 hours after launch.

If the skies are clear, it will be seen as a pinpoint of light moving from south to north. The satellite has no internal illumination but can be seen when struck by rays from the sun below the horizon.

Western states should be able to see the moonlet about 12 hours after launch, on its seventh pass around the earth.

Launching is scheduled between 5:11 a.m. and 6:11 a.m. (8:11 a.m. and 9:14 a.m. Eastern Standard Time).

GOP Picks Kane For Judgeship, Up to Governor

Former Schoharie County District Attorney T. Paul Kane Monday night was picked by Republicans in the seven-county Third District as their choice to succeed the late Supreme Court Justice Kenneth S. MacAffer who died recently.

Their recommendations will be forwarded to Governor Rockefeller who is expected to make an appointment within the next few weeks. The Governor is not bound by the GOP recommendation, but it swings considerable weight in his decision making. Schoharie and Columbia, two of the smaller counties in the district, have been seeking a judgeship for several years.

The judicial conference includes Albany, Schoharie, Ulster, Columbia, Sullivan, Greene and Rensselaer Counties.

Kane, 43, served four terms as Schoharie County district attorney but declined the nomination in 1961. He graduated from Yale University in 1942 and Albany Law School in 1948. He served with the Navy from 1942 to 1946. Since 1948 has has practiced law in Cobleskill. He is married and has three children.

Mother Pleads Innocent

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A mother has pleaded innocent to a charge of second-degree manslaughter in connection with the malnutrition death of her daughter in 1962.

Mrs. Joseph Schwartzfigure, 40, of Buffalo, was remanded Monday after the arraignment to Erie County jail to await trial.

4H Council Is To Meet Tonight

The 4-H Council of Ulster County will meet tonight at the Hurley Reformed Church Hall at 7:30 o'clock. Topic for the meeting will be a panel discussion on Junior Leadership.

The 4-H Council is an organization of older 4-H Club members 14 years and older who conduct a program of education, recreation and community service. All 4-H members 14 or over are invited to attend and participate in their activities.

Those participating on the panel for tonight's program are Lynne Charlton, Hurley; Gloria Dieterich, New Paltz; Judy Lyke, Lomontville and Martha Nickerson, Kingston. They will relate and explain their responsibilities and duties as 4-H Junior Leaders. Council President, Denise Franklin of New Paltz will act as moderator. The group's advisor is Robert Weiss of Highland.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Village Board Adopts New Rules For Police Force

New rules and regulations governing the operation of Saugerties Police Department were adopted at the Monday night meeting of Saugerties Village Board of Trustees.

Police Commissioner Robert Moser and Acting Police Chief Harold Mills have had the rules under study for quite some time.

Moser announced that the next civil service test for patrolman is scheduled for February 29 and the final date for filing applications is Friday. Applications may be filed with Ulster County Civil Service Commission, Uptown Post Office Box 172, Kingston.

Superintendent of Public Works William Voerg and his department were commended for their work in clearing the village streets of snow during and after last Monday's blizzard. High praise came from Nathan Aaron, past president of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Water Board report discussed at the meeting indicated that no action had been taken to change the location of a fire hydrant on Main Street in front of Clum's Goodyear Store. The hydrant is situated close to the curb and has been a hindrance to motorists parking in spaces each side of the hydrant.

Arrangements have been made for a meeting between Mayor William Ziegler and Frank Naccarato, water board president, to discuss the matter. No date was set for the session.

Moser presided in the absence of Mayor Ziegler who is in New York City attending a conference.

Mayor Ziegler Proclaims Jaycee Week Jan. 19-25

Mayor William Ziegler proclaimed Jan. 19-25 as "Junior Chamber of Commerce Week" in Saugerties and asked local organizations to cooperate in the observance.

He said the purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing, and emphasize that the Saugerties Jaycees have done an outstanding job in community improvement.

During Jaycee Week observance here, the U. S. Jaycees will be recognizing America's Ten Outstanding Young Men of 1963 in Santa Monica, Calif., with national Jaycee President Richard H. Headlee making the presentations.

The week celebrates the founding of the Junior Chamber in 1915, when Henry Giessenbier saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first chapter, according to local Jaycee president George Leombruno.

The movement spread so fast that in 1920, the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized with 24 cities represented. Saugerties Jaycees were formed in 1956.

Town Notes

JANICE GARISON, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiliam Garrison of Woodland Acres, Blue Mountain, who is recuperating following surgery, is resuming her studies while at Sunnyview Orthopaedic and Rehibilitation Center, Rosa Road and Belmont Avenue, Schenectady. She is expected to be there for several months, during which time much of her body will be covered with a plaster cast.

PETER M. WILLIAMS, town supervisor is convalescing at his home following a siege with a virus infection.

MRS. ANNA SWENSON, a resident of Ellen Russell Finger Home is now a patient at Dales Sanitarium.

MRS. JOHN ADAMS of Washington Avenue, is a patient at Albany Medical Center Hospital in Room K 312.

W.SaugertiesRebekahs Reset Meeting for Feb.

Due to the inclement weather, the Queen of the Catskill Mt. Rebekah Lodge 36 of West Saugerties postponed its meeting of January 16.

The meeting will be held on February 6. After the meeting the members will hold a rehearsal to prepare for Initiation Ceremonies in the very near future.

Ida Mower, Augusta Jorgensen and Estelle Garrison will serve on the refreshment committee.

Baptist Church Donates 4 Books To Local Library

First Baptist Church of Saugerties, in cooperation with Preaching Print, Inc. of Portland, Ore., has recently placed four new books in Saugerties Public Library on Washington Avenue.

For teachers and Bible students there is the book, "Illustrated Dictionary of Bible Manners and Customs" by A. Van Deursen. This is an informative dictionary of objects, manners, occupations and customs mentioned in the Bible—with each item clearly pictured to enhance the value of this guidebook.

For children there is "The Bible in Pictures for Little Eyes" by Kenneth N. Taylor. "Come and See," a book of children's Bible stories by Janie Lancaster McMinn and "The Great Surprise," children's stories of the Resurrection and the Holy Spirit by Mrs. McMinn.

Mrs. Janie Lancaster McMinn is known as the Bible Storyteller to thousands of boys and girls in Oregon who have heard her tell Bible stories on the radio, in school, in released time classes. For over a dozen years she has been teaching Bible stories to more than 1,200 children every week in the elementary schools of Hillsboro, Ore.

Besides these books a subscription to the "Moody Monthly" will be received by the local library. This monthly magazine is edited and published by the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Ill.

March Election to Be Village Party Topic

The Village Party of Saugerties will hold its first meeting of the new year Monday, Jan. 27 at 8 p. m. in Stonewall Hotel, Barclay Heights.

Plans for the March election campaign will be discussed. Three Village Party incumbent trustees of the Village Board whose terms expire this year include Robert Moser, Arthur D. York and Cornelius Cox.

Council of Churches Will Plan for Lent

Saugerties Area Council of Churches will meet Monday, Jan. 27 at 6 p. m. at Saugerties Methodist Church. Supper will be served prior to the meeting.

Plans will be discussed for special combined Lenten services and an outdoor Easter dawn service.

Idle Apaches Hold Dartball League Lead; Bees Drop 2

Katsbaan Apaches, unscheduled in Monday night's Saugerties Dartball League games held first place lead as the Legionnaires defeated Service Center Bees 2 to 1 and took a firmer grip on fourth place.

Golden Eagles tightened its position in third place by blanking Centerville 3 to 0. Other sweeps were recorded by Southside Mens Club over VFW, and Cementon Sportsmens Club over High Woods Sportsmen. Winning 2½ to 1 splits were West Camp over Centerville Vols and Malden-West Camp Vols over Quarryville.

League Secretary Barry Finger today requested that all make-up games be played and scores reported to him as quickly as possible. West Camp Palatines play at Southside Mens Club tonight and Katsbaan Apaches play at Centerville Vols Thursday night.

Games Next Week

Centerville at Katsbaan; Malden-West Camp Vols at Centerville Vols; Quarryville at Southside Mens Club; Cementon Sportsmen's Club at Golden Eagles; High Woods Sportsmen's Club at West Camp; VFW at American Legion, and Service Center Bees, idle.

Names In The News

NEW YORK (AP)—Fire routed motion picture producer Dore Schary and his wife, Miriam, from their 13-room apartment in Manhatttan early today.

Schary was given oxygen and treated for a sprain of the left arm.

He and Mrs. Schary returned home from a play shortly after midnight and had retired when Schary noted smoke coming from his wife's bedroom. He tried to put out the small fire with a pillow before calling the fire department.

Origin of the fire hasn't been determined. It was confined to the Schary apartment.

DENVER (AP)—Ed C. Johnson, 80, former U.S. senator and Democratic governor of Colorado, was released from a Denver hospital where he was treated for pneumonia and an intestinal disorder.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru can't accept an invitation from Soviet Premier Khrushchev to recuperate in the Soviet Union, a government spokesman says.

The spokesman said Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, had informed Khrushchev that the prime minister's doctors advised him against leaving India at this time. The spokesman added that Nehru is making progress toward recovery from his recent illness.

MADRID (AP)—Doctors attending Juan D. Peron, former president of Argentina, say he is doing well after an operation Monday for a prostate ailment. The 69-year-old ex-dictator lives in exile in Spain.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) —Television's Dobie Gillis is the father of a boy. Actor Dwayne Hickman's wife, Carol, gave birth Monday to their first child.

Faces Drunk Driving Charge; Out on Bail

Arthur L. Hanbey, 32, of Route 5, Kingston charged with driving while intoxicated after he was halted by city police early today, appeared in City Court where bail was set at $50 by City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman and reappearance set for Wednesday morning.

Police said a citizen reported that a car hit a snow removal sign near 373 Washington Avenue at 1:12 a. m. today. Patrolmen John Crispino and Ernest Bartroff responded to the call and followed a car answering the description of the offending vehicle.

Jaycees to Hear Napanoch Priest Wednesday Night

The Kingston Jaycees will hold their monthly meeting Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Matthew Killion, Catholic chaplain at the Eastern Correctional Institute in Napanoch.

Father Killion has undertaken the project of construction of a chapel at the institute. The cost of financing this will be achieved by the donation of trading stamps.

The Kingston Jaycees will assist Father Killion in the attainment of his goal, in the Kingston area. Kingston residents are urged to forward any excess trading stamps to the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, located at the Governor Clinton Hotel, in care of Father Killion.

The Kingston Jaycees have a full compliment of activities slated for the ensuing year. Some of the activities scheduled for the near future are Traffic Safety, Easter Egg Hunt, and Little League. All Jaycee activities are financed through membership dues and an annual money maker, this year's money maker is in the form of a Gourmet's Guide. The guide lists seven restaurants in the Kingston area. Upon presentation of the coupon, a guest is entitled to a meal of equal value at no additional cost. The Guide may be purchased from any Jaycee, or may be procured by writing to the Jaycees at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Presently, the Kingston Jaycees are celebrating "Jaycee Week" in conjunction with 3,900 national chapters representing some 300,000 members. The Kingston Chapter consisting of 60 members would like to extend an invitation to any young man between 21 and 36 to attend the monthly meeting.

Fog Covers England

Village Board Adopts New Rules For Police Force

New rules and regulations governing the operation of Saugerties Police Department were adopted at the Monday night meeting of Saugerties Village Board of Trustees.

Police Commissioner Robert Moser and Acting Police Chief Harold Mills have had the rules under study for quite some time.

Moser announced that the next civil service test for patrolman is scheduled for February 29 and the final date for filing applications is Friday. Applications may be filed with Ulster County Civil Service Commission, Uptown Post Office Box 172, Kingston.

Superintendent of Public Works William Voerg and his department were commended for their work in clearing the village streets of snow during and after last Monday's blizzard. High praise came from Nathan Aaron, past president of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Water Board report discussed at the meeting indicated that no action had been taken to change the location of a fire hydrant on Main Street in front of Clum's Goodyear Store. The hydrant is situated close to the curb and has been a hindrance to motorists parking in spaces each side of the hydrant.

Arrangements have been made for a meeting between Mayor William Ziegler and Frank Naccarato, water board president, to discuss the matter. No date was set for the session.

Moser presided in the absence of Mayor Ziegler who is in New York City attending a conference.

Mayor Ziegler Proclaims Jaycee Week Jan. 19-25

Mayor William Ziegler proclaimed Jan. 19-25 as "Junior Chamber of Commerce Week" in Saugerties and asked local organizations to cooperate in the observance.

He said the purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing, and emphasize that the Saugerties Jaycees have done an outstanding job in community improvement.

During Jaycee Week observance here, the U. S. Jaycees will be recognizing America's Ten Outstanding Young Men of 1963 in Santa Monica, Calif., with national Jaycee President Richard H. Headlee making the presentations.

The week celebrates the founding of the Junior Chamber in 1915, when Henry Giessenbier saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first chapter, according to local Jaycee president George Leombruno.

The movement spread so fast that in 1920, the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized with 24 cities represented. Saugerties Jaycees were formed in 1956.

Town Notes

JANICE GARISON, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiliam Garrison of Woodland Acres, Blue Mountain, who is recuperating following surgery, is resuming her studies while at Sunnyview Orthopaedic and Rehibilitation Center, Rosa Road and Belmont Avenue, Schenectady. She is expected to be there for several months, during which time much of her body will be covered with a plaster cast.

PETER M. WILLIAMS, town supervisor is convalescing at his home following a siege with a virus infection.

MRS. ANNA SWENSON, a resident of Ellen Russell Finger Home is now a patient at Dales Sanitarium.

MRS. JOHN ADAMS of Washington Avenue, is a patient at Albany Medical Center Hospital in Room K 312.

RAYMOND FULLER of Malden-on-Hudson, who was injured in a mishap January 9 when his car was struck by a train at the Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp's plant's private crossing at Churchland, is still at Benedictine Hospital.

MR. AND MRS. STEVE STYCOS of Main Street, he is a member of Saugerties Board of Education, are vacationing in Florida.

ALBERTINE CONNELLY has returned to her home on Route 3, Saugerties following discharge from Benedictine Hospital.

EDWARD O'HARA of Lafayette Street is vacationing in Florida.

W.Saugerties Rebekahs Reset Meeting for Feb.

Due to the inclement weather, the Queen of the Catskill Mt. Rebekah Lodge 36 of West Saugerties postponed its meeting of January 16.

The meeting will be held on February 6. After the meeting the members will hold a rehearsal to prepare for Initiation Ceremonies in the very near future.

Ida Mower, Augusta Jorgensen and Estelle Garrison will serve on the refreshment committee.

Baptist Church Donates 4 Books To Local Library

First Baptist Church of Saugerties, in cooperation with Preaching Print, Inc. of Portland, Ore., has recently placed four new books in Saugerties Public Library on Washington Avenue.

For teachers and Bible students there is the book, "Illustrated Dictionary of Bible Manners and Customs" by A. Van Deursen. This is an informative dictionary of objects, manners, occupations and customs mentioned in the Bible—with each item clearly pictured to enhance the value of this guidebook.

For children there is "The Bible in Pictures for Little Eyes" by Kenneth N. Taylor. "Come and See," a book of children's Bible stories by Janie Lancaster McMinn and "The Great Surprise," children's stories of the Resurrection and the Holy Spirit by Mrs. McMinn.

Mrs. Janie Lancaster McMinn is known as the Bible Storyteller to thousands of boys and girls in Oregon who have heard her tell Bible stories on the radio, in school, in released time classes. For over a dozen years she has been teaching Bible stories to more than 1,200 children every week in the elementary schools of Hillsboro, Ore.

Besides these books a subscription to the "Moody Monthly" will be received by the local library. This monthly magazine is edited and published by the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Ill.

March Election to Be Village Party Topic

The Village Party of Saugerties will hold its first meeting of the new year Monday, Jan. 27 at 8 p. m. in Stonewall Hotel, Barclay Heights.

Plans for the March election campaign will be discussed. Three Village Party incumbent trustees of the Village Board whose terms expire this year include Robert Moser, Arthur D. York and Cornelius Cox.

Council of Churches Will Plan for Lent

Saugerties Area Council of Churches will meet Monday, Jan. 27 at 6 p. m. at Saugerties Methodist Church. Supper will be served prior to the meeting.

Plans will be discussed for special combined Lenten services and an outdoor Easter dawn service.

Idle Apaches Hold Dartball League Lead; Bees Drop 2

Katsbaan Apaches, unscheduled in Monday night's Saugerties Dartball League games held first place lead as the Legionnaires defeated Service Center Bees 2 to 1 and took a firmer grip on fourth place.

Golden Eagles tightened its position in third place by blanking Centerville 3 to 0. Other sweeps were recorded by Southside Mens Club over VFW, and Cementon Sportsmens Club over High Woods Sportsmen. Winning 2½ to 1 splits were West Camp over Centerville Vols and Malden-West Camp Vols over Quarryville.

League Secretary Barry Finger today requested that all make-up games be played and scores reported to him as quickly as possible. West Camp Palatines play at Southside Mens Club tonight and Katsbaan Apaches play at Centerville Vols Thursday night.

Games Next Week

Centerville at Katsbaan; Malden-West Camp Vols at Centerville Vols; Quarryville at Southside Mens Club; Cementon Sportsmen's Club at Golden Eagles; High Woods Sportsmen's Club at West Camp; VFW at American Legion, and Service Center Bees, idle.

Names In The News

NEW YORK (AP)—Fire routed motion picture producer Dore Schary and his wife, Miriam, from their 13-room apartment in Manhatttan early today.

Schary was given oxygen and treated for a sprain of the left arm.

He and Mrs. Schary returned home from a play shortly after midnight and had retired when Schary noted smoke coming from his wife's bedroom. He tried to put out the small fire with a pillow before calling the fire department.

Origin of the fire hasn't been determined. It was confined to the Schary apartment.

DENVER (AP)—Ed C. Johnson, 80, former U.S. senator and Democratic governor of Colorado, was released from a Denver hospital where he was treated for pneumonia and an intestinal disorder.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru can't accept an invitation from Soviet Premier Khrushchev to recuperate in the Soviet Union, a government spokesman says.

The spokesman said Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, had informed Khrushchev that the prime minister's doctors advised him against leaving India at this time. The spokesman added that Nehru is making progress toward recovery from his recent illness.

MADRID (AP)—Doctors attending Juan D. Peron, former president of Argentina, say he is doing well after an operation Monday for a prostate ailment. The 69-year-old ex-dictator lives in exile in Spain.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) —Television's Dobie Gillis is the father of a boy. Actor Dwayne Hickman's wife, Carol, gave birth Monday to their first child.

Faces Drunk Driving Charge; Out on Bail

Arthur L. Hanbey, 32, of Route 5, Kingston charged with driving while intoxicated after he was halted by city police early today, appeared in City Court where bail was set at $50 by City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman and reappearance set for Wednesday morning.

Police said a citizen reported that a car hit a snow removal sign near 373 Washington Avenue at 1:12 a. m. today. Patrolmen John Crispino and Ernest Bartroff responded to the call and followed a car answering the description of the offending vehicle.

Jaycees to Hear Napanoch Priest Wednesday Night

The Kingston Jaycees will hold their monthly meeting Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Matthew Killion, Catholic chaplain at the Eastern Correctional Institute in Napanoch.

Father Killion has undertaken the project of construction of a chapel at the institute. The cost of financing this will be achieved by the donation of trading stamps.

The Kingston Jaycees will assist Father Killion in the attainment of his goal, in the Kingston area. Kingston residents are urged to forward any excess trading stamps to the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, located at the Governor Clinton Hotel, in care of Father Killion.

The Kingston Jaycees have a full compliment of activities slated for the ensuing year. Some of the activities scheduled for the near future are Traffic Safety, Easter Egg Hunt, and Little League. All Jaycee activities are financed through membership dues and an annual money maker, this year's money maker is in the form of a Gourmet's Guide. The guide lists seven restaurants in the Kingston area. Upon presentation of the coupon, a guest is entitled to a meal of equal value at no additional cost. The Guide may be purchased from any Jaycee, or may be procured by writing to the Jaycees at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Presently, the Kingston Jaycees are celebrating "Jaycee Week" in conjunction with 3,900 national chapters representing some 300,000 members. The Kingston Chapter consisting of 60 members would like to extend an invitation to any young man between 21 and 36 to attend the monthly meeting.

Central Merchants To Elect Tonight

The annual meeting of the Central Businessmen's Association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock to Tony's Pizzeria, 582 Broadway. All members are urged to be present.

A report on the activities of the past year will be reviewed and a program for the coming year will be presented.

The nominating committee of John Naccarato, Tony Saccoman and Carl Esposito will read their slate and officers will be elected for the coming year.

Inn Burglarized, $67 in Cash Taken

Wayside Inn at 8 Van Buren Street was forcibly entered during the early morning hours today and $10 taken from a juke box and $57 was reported missing from the cash register, city police reported.

Det. Leonard Ellsworth said entry was gained by forcing a back window in the kitchen of the establishment.

The intruders forced open the juke box and removed about $10 and $57 was taken from the cash register, he said. Entry was apparently made between 2 a. m. and when the establishment was opened at 8 o'clock this morning.

Predicts Housing Units to Total 3,175 for Region

A prediction that 3,175 housing units would be built in the three mid-Hudson Valley counties of Dutchess, Orange and Ulster in 1964 was made today by Sam Hankin, president of the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley. The 3,175 figure includes both single family homes and apartment units and was based on a recent survey made by Hankin among the builders comprising the Home Builders Association membership.

Hankin's prediction presages a boom year for housing construction. The forecast calls for a continued upsurge in the construction of apartment units with apartments, comprising approximately 16 per cent of the total housing units to be built. It is estimated that nearly 60 per cent of the new construction volume in 1964 will take place in Dutchess County. Dutchess County has been the leader in new home construction among the mid-Hudson Valley counties for the past several years.

415 for Ulster

On a county basis, Hankin predicted a total of 1,885 housing units to be built during 1964 in Dutchess County, 875 units to be built in Orange County and 415 housing units in Ulster County. The total of 3,175 housing units compares with an estimated 1963 volume figure of 2,785 units, a gain of 14 per cent.

His survey predicted that of the total of 3,175 housing units approximately 515 of these units would be apartments. Hankin forecasted that 415 of the apartment units will be built in Dutchess County, 80 in Orange County and 20 units in Ulster County.

The Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley is made up of home builders from Dutchess, Orange, Ulster and Sullivan Counties. Bankers, realtors and building supply dealers from the mid-Hudson Valley also belong to the association as associate members.

Bay Area, Nevada Targets

Gale Winds Still Batter West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Heavy snow and rain driven by gale winds continued to buffet Northern California and much of Nevada after chasing people from their homes, snarling traffic and causing injuries Monday.

The forecast today even mentioned the rare "possibility of snow in hills'" around the San Francisco Bay area tonight as temperatures were expected to skid in a wide area.

700 Return to Homes

In Orick, 45 miles north of Eureka, Calif., most of the town's 700 residents were back in their homes after being routed when Redwood Creek overflowed. Water was reported five feet deep in the logging community Monday.

In the southern part of Humboldt County, the Eel River broke its banks and flowed into farmland. Wind - felled trees, rain and snow temporarily blocked roads throughout Northern California and Nevada.

Winds were so strong Monday at the Golden Gate Bridge that motorists were asked to slow down and keep to the right-hand lane to avoid being pushed into on-coming vehicles by gusts up to 60 miles per hour.

Traffic Snarled

Traffic on the span and its approaches was snarled for hours as heavy rain and wind tore in to the city during the evening rush hours, stalling many cars.

Radio station KSCO near the ocean at Santa Cruz reported a 30-second gust of wind measured by its instruments at almost 99 m.p.h. Monday night, and a 15-minute average of 80 m.p.h.

Gusts about 50 m.p.h. battered San Francisco and Reno most of the day, damaging cars in the Nevada city. Several San Francisco pedestrians were injured when blown over by the wind, cut by wind-shattered glass or hit by rain-blinded vehicles.

Power was cut to thousands of homes in the San Francisco, Monterey and Sacramento areas for varying amounts of time.

Sacramento streeets were flooded as 1.64 inches of rain pelted the capital between 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. San Francisco was hit by 1.15 inches from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Hatfield Would Give Green Light To Chance Games

Columbia County Senator Ernest I. Hatfield has introduced a bill that would pave the way for veteran organizations and fire companies to hold games of chance on a local option basis. The bill is a companion bill to the one offered by Assemblyman Willis H. Stephens of Putnam County.

The issue of games of chance being allowed at fire company carnivals is a highly controversial one and in Ulster County flared up when state police cracked down on such games at carnivals. Firemen seek to raise funds for their volunteer work by means of carnivals at which games of chance are permitted.

Volunteer firemen contend their companies' main livelihood comes largely from revenues gained through such games of chance.

Loses $30,000 as Door Of Subway Rips Bag

NEW YORK (AP) — When Isidoro Aponpe boarded a subway train in Brooklyn Monday he said he was carrying $30,000 in a shopping bag.

Aponpe, 55, said he was taking the money—$25,000 won in Puerto Rico's legal lottery plus $5,000 savings—to buy a house and surprise his wife. The cash was in $5, $20, $50 and $100 bills.

As he got off the train at the Bowling Green station in Manhattan, Aponpe said, the door slammed on his arm and ripped the bag from his hand. He said he had to let go to avoid being dragged by the train.

A Transit Authority spokesman promised an investigation.

Sup and Woods enrolled at Mercy last September, the first male students in the college's program to create a co-educational student body.

Flying Grandma Victim

Death Won't Halt 1965 Ballon Race

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Barbara Keith, the flying grandmother who died at sea during the first Catalina Channel hot air balloon race, was named "the first lady of hot air ballooning" as plans were laid for next year's race.

Mrs. Keith, 42, from Hartford, Conn., was found in the ocean Monday, locked in the seat of the hot air balloon that had lifted her off Santa Catalina Island 48 hours earlier.

Developed Pneumonia

An autopsy showed she drowned. Chief Deputy Coroner Gene Massey also said she developed pneumonia before she died.

He estimated the balloon fell into the sea about 6:15 p.m. Saturday, and said the time of death was probably 2 a.m. Sunday, almost 8 hours later.

Members of the California Balloon Club, however, were undaunted.

In a prepared statement issued after a meeting Monday, they said: "We are all terribly grieved at the passing of a gallant and wonderful person, Barbara Keith.

"With the number of boats and aircraft in the area, it is inconceivable to all of us that Mrs. Keith's descent was not seen and she located.

"We believe the magnificent performance of Ed Zost in winning the race, landing safely and exactly where predicted while other balloonists came down just short of the mainland, indicates the challenge and competitiveness of the race.

Would Exemplify Spirit

"The balloonists are anxious to see the race continue, and the club is formulating plans for next year's race, hoping to exemplify the spirit typified by the first lady of hot air ballooning, Barbara Keith."

Mrs. Keith's body was located eight miles off Dana Point by the crew of a Coast Guard cutter. The recovery spot is about 25 miles due east of Santa Catalina Island, where nine balloonists took off Saturday afternoon.

Coast Guard spokesmen said Mrs. Keith's body, encased in an inflated lifejacket, was tied to the balloon's gas tanks by a 25-foot rope.

Another length of rope tied her body to a stuffed poodle she had laughingly described as her copilot.

Alf Evers Elected President Historic Society Woodstock

Alf Evers, one of the outstanding authorities on folklore and Hudson valley history, was elected president of the Historical Society of Woodstock at the annual meeting Saturday in Overlook Methodist Church Hall.

Other officers elected were: Harry J. Siemsen of Sawkill, official historian for the Town of Kingston, vice president; Dr. Emily Pratt, Bearsville, second vice president; Barbara Moncure, secretary; and Mrs. Jean Russell, treasurer and corresponding secretary.

Named to director's posts were Dr. Pratt, Miss Evelyn Stone and Earl Fichte. Miss Anita Smith, whose term as director expired, declined re-election because of an impending trip to Europe. Holdover directors are: Evers, Harold Lee Mannierre, Mrs. Dorothy Haeussler and Louise Zimm, now in California.

Succeeds Leaycraft

Evers succeeds Edgar C. Leaycraft, who resigned as president when he moved to Poughkeepsie in November. Evers has served several terms as president of the historical group.

First vice president Harry Siemsen gave the president's annual report at Saturday's meeting. He noted that the association was in good financial condition but was anxious to recruit a large membership. At present there are 50 annual members, 14 complimentary members; three family members and three supporting members. Several new members were accepted Saturday.

Evers reported to the society that the Town Board has agreed to allot space in the Reynolds building for the storage of society records. Not only will the room provide safe keeping for records but will also give opportunity to the public to inspect the records by appointment with the society.

A progress report was made on the historical booklet to be compiled by Evers and Miss Smith.

Christian Science Theme Is 'Truth'

Jesus' words, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," will be the theme at Christian Science services this Sunday. The Bible Lesson on "Truth" will include these related readings from the denomination's text book: "The eternal Truth destroys what mortals seem to have learned from error, and man's real existence as a child of God comes to light" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 288).

The Sunday services begin at 11 a. m. Sunday School, to which pupils up to the age of 20 are welcome, convenes also at 11 a. m. Wednesday evening service, which includes testimonies of Christian Science healing begins at 8 p. m.

Companies Meet At Lake Hill

The quarterly meeting of the four companies comprising the Woodstock Fire Department will be held at the Lake Hill firehouse on Monday evening, January 27, beginning at 8 p. m.

Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 of the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady area, will be the host company. The Ladies' Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 will serve refreshments.

The agenda for the meeting will include a final report on the departmental banquet to be held within the next two months, the results of a survey for a training area for all of the four fire companies, and other business destined to increase the efficiency of the fire companies in their endeavors to provide better community service.

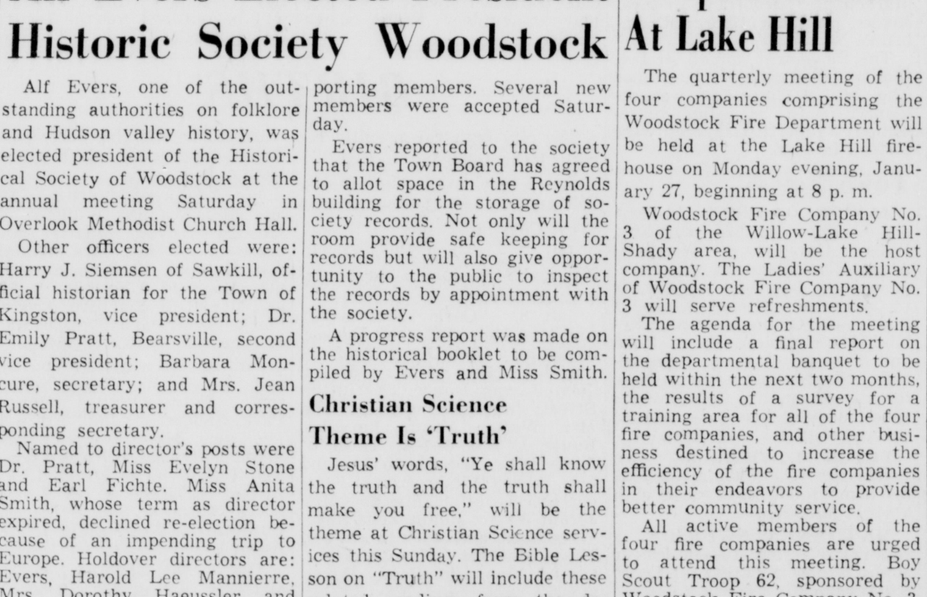

All active members of the four fire companies are urged to attend this meeting. Boy Scout Troop 62, sponsored by Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, will open the meeting. Motion pictures on fire fighting are also scheduled to be shown.

Saved From Avalanche

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — A snowslide swept Dennis Staley, 27, a distance of 600 feet and buried him under four feet of snow Monday.

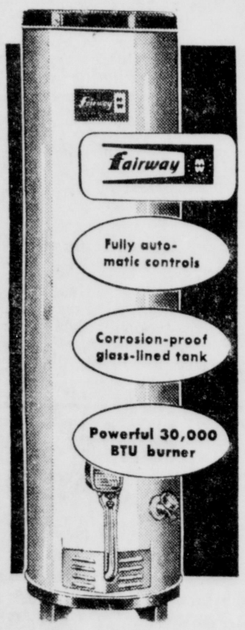

Four companions spotted the tip of his skis jutting out and rescued Staley. He suffered cuts and bruises. The others were missed by the avalanche.

The total of 3,175 housing units compares with an estimated 1963 volume figure of 2,785 units, a gain of 14 per cent.

His survey predicted that of the total of 3,175 housing units approximately 515 of these units would be apartments. Hankin forecasted that 415 of the apartment units will be built in Dutchess County, 80 in Orange County and 20 units in Ulster County.

The Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley is made up of home builders from Dutchess, Orange, Ulster and Sullivan Counties. Bankers, realtors and building supply dealers from the mid-Hudson Valley also belong to the association as associate members.

Christian Science Theme Is 'Truth'

Jesus' words, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," will be the theme at Christian Science services this Sunday. The Bible Lesson on "Truth" will include these related readings from the denomination's text book: "The eternal Truth destroys what mortals seem to have learned from error, and man's real existence as a child of God comes to light" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 288).

The Sunday services begin at 11 a. m. Sunday School, to which pupils up to the age of 20 are welcome, convenes also at 11 a. m. Wednesday evening service, which includes testimonies of Christian Science healing begins at 8 p. m.

Companies Meet At Lake Hill

The quarterly meeting of the four companies comprising the Woodstock Fire Department will be held at the Lake Hill firehouse on Monday evening, January 27, beginning at 8 p. m.

Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 of the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady area, will be the host company. The Ladies' Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 will serve refreshments.

The agenda for the meeting will include a final report on the departmental banquet to be held within the next two months, the results of a survey for a training area for all of the four fire companies, and other business destined to increase the efficiency of the fire companies in their endeavors to provide better community service.

All active members of the four fire companies are urged to attend this meeting. Boy Scout Troop 62, sponsored by Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, will open the meeting. Motion pictures on fire fighting are also scheduled to be shown.

Saved From Avalanche

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — A snowslide swept Dennis Staley, 27, a distance of 600 feet and buried him under four feet of snow Monday.

Four companions spotted the tip of his skis jutting out and rescued Staley. He suffered cuts and bruises. The others were missed by the avalanche.

Staley is a ski patrolman at a resort here.
